M'KELLAR DENOUNCES PRESIDENT

State To Use Shuler Pamphlet In Flint Killing Case

CONTROVERSY RAGES OVER LITTLE BOOK

District Attorney Hopes to Prove By Booklet That Murder Premediated

PLEADS TOMORROW

Funeral Services for Noted Financier Held Today By Los Angeles Masons

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—(UP)—While Frank D. Keaton, middle-aged real estate dealer, sat dully in jail today awaiting the course of justice to bring him to trial for the murder of Motley H. Flint, prominent Southern California banker, a heated controversy waged around one of his possessions, a small pamphlet.

The pamphlet, titled "Julian Thieves in Politics" and written by the dynamic Rev. R. P. "Fighting Bob" Shuler, was found in Keaton's pocket a few minutes after he fired three fatal shots at Flint in a superior courtroom Monday.

The booklet, although it disappeared briefly after it was discovered, was added to the evidence today and will be "used for its entire worth," the district attorney's office said.

It was indicated that the state, through "Julian Thieves in Politics" will attempt to prove that Flint's shooting was premeditated by Keaton.

Raves Wildly

The booklet named Flint with S. C. Lewis, Jacob Berman and other asserted wreckers of the $100,000,000 Julian Petroleum corporation and after he first was taken into custody Keaton, according to police officers, raved wildly about the Julian case.

Authorities subsequently found that while Keaton lost no money in the Julian crash that he blamed Flint for that company's collapse as well as for the $4600 Keaton lost in playing other stocks.

He was a frequent attendant at the various Julian trials which have clogged the courts since May, 1927, when Julian was ruled off the stock exchange.

The Rev. Mr. Shuler, self-styled "Fighting Bob," made a scathing reply to critics who attempted to attach some blame to him for Flint's death.

Broadcasting from the puplit of his Trinity Methodist Episcopal church last night the minister defended "Julian Thieves in Politics' 'and denied that it had incited Flint's slaying.

Shuler Replies

"I am told," the Rev. Mr. Shuler shouted, "that certain persons have attempted to infer that my booklet prompted the murder. I want to say here and now that I am willing to submit that pamphlet to any 12 men in the country for an opinion as to whether it contained any word that would turn a man to murder."

The thing that turned Keaton's mind to murder, the Rev. Mr. Shuler contended, was the fact that men were sent to prison for stealing bottles of milk while bankers and brokers who stole millions from Julian investors went free.

HOOVER LAUDED IN SPEECH AT LIONS PARLEY

Mabel Willebrandt Defends President and Policies In Office

DENVER, Colo., July 16.—(UP)—A militant defense of President Hoover's policies and his 16-month record in office was made today in a speech prepared for delivery before the annual convention of the International Association of Lions clubs by Mabel Walker Willebrandt.

The former assistant U. S. attorney general publicly discussed political issues for the first time since her stormy participation in the national campaign. She dealt with the entire field of subjects, including financial depression and prohibition.

"I know President Hoover," Mrs. Willebrandt declared. "His methods are unspectacular; his purposes are inflexible. As a result he is misunderstood.

"He can't 'perform;' he is too busy. He avoids a fight as long as possible but when it becomes the only alternative he gives 'em hell.

Boos For Hoover

"During the past winter the senate has taken the applause, and the president has had the boos. Yet with a perspective of the year the net gains all go to the president.

"His constructive achievements are bound to increase that confidence which is a big factor back of all business expansion, and exert a favorable influence on the prosperity curve.

"He has either won out or made substantial gains in almost every one of his original recommendations. This from a disorganized, and politically fearful or skeptical congress."

Mrs. Willebrandt listed administration accomplishments as being a $100,000,000 tax reduction, merchant marine expansion, aviation stabilization under the Watres bill, enactment of the tariff law, the unemployment census, acceleration of public buildings, midwest waterway appropriations, creation of the federal farm board, and restriction of "federal expenditures to the same net sum that Mr. Coolidge achieved under his admirable policy of economy."

Dry Reorganization

The crowning achievement, she declared, was the reorganization of prohibition enforcement under the attorney general.

"We have heard much of the argument that prohibition cannot be enforced," she continued. "I never have yielded to that view, although I confess my faith has been stretched thin on some occasions.

"It is enough to say that I believe in the sane leadership of the

Calvin Coolidge Says

By CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 16.—Because the rule of eternal vigilance requires us to strive to make our government better we should not conclude that it is not already good. If anyone will examine the course of federal legislation for the past decade surprisingly little will be found that is distinctly bad and most of this chiefly because of the expense involved. Oftentimes the house or the senate have come to a wrong decision which further deliberation has corrected before final enactment. Sometimes the veto power of the President has saved the situation. On occasion the power to investigate has been criticized. But even these explorations by revealing the truth or falsity of accusations have often been most salutary.

If too little thought has been given to co-operation with the service which those responsible for the conduct of business are trying ot render, scrupulous care has been exercised in efforts to promote the welfare of the great body of the people. The general level of ability and character of the holders of federal office is remarkably high. The people are in control of their own affairs. Self government is a success. The United States is worthy of the best we can give it.

RESIDENT HERE FOR 37 YEARS ANSWERS CALL

Charles H. Stanley Is Called By Death In Home Here This Morning

WELL-KNOWN in Santa Ana, having made his residence here for the past 37 years, Charles H. Stanley, 82, of 1135 West First street, died today from the effects of an illness suffered two weeks ago.

Stanley has been in good health up to the time of the attack which was caused by a blood clot in his foot.

Funeral services will be held later, as the relatives are being notified. The Rev. W. J. Hatter, of the Episcopal church, will be in charge of the funeral at the Winbigler Funeral Home, which will be followed by cremation in Los Angeles.

Stanley, his wife and daughter, Edith, lived on Fairview road south of Santa Ana for seven years and since 1900 have lived at the corner of First and Baker streets. He was retired and was quite active in the Episcopal church. Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Mary E. Stanley; two sons, Henry C., of Oakland, and Ernest J. Stanley, of Mexico; and two daughters, Mrs. Claude Smallwood, of Pleasanton, Calif., and Miss Edith Stanley, of Santa Ana.

Reach Agreement On Film Exchange

BERLIN, July 16.—(UP)—An agreement covering the importation of American films into Germany was announced today. The total of American entertainment films to be imported in 1930 was fixed at 210, of which a third shall be talking pictures. The government may authorize an additional 20 films in event of special circumstances.

The quota on education and cultural films was changed to 2 to 1, instead of the basis of even exchange, which was retained on all other classes of film.

CANDIDATE IS QUESTIONER IN SENATE PROBE

Ruth M'Cormick Seeks to Prove Did Not Solicit Thompson Support

CHICAGO, July 16.—(UP)—Ruth Hanna McCormick took the questioning of witnesses into her own hands at the senate campaign funds inquiry today and sought to prove that she did not solicit the support of Mayor William Hale Thompson when she won the Republican senatorial nomination in Illinois against Sen. Charles S. Deneen last April.

Since her return from Washington Congresswoman McCormick has been busy replying to charges that she won her big vote in Chicago by casting her lot with "Big Bill" Thompson and others of the city hall Republican organization. Some of her opponents even made veiled illusions to an alleged political alliance between Mrs. McCormick and "Scarface" Al Capone, the gang leader.

Today Mrs. McCormick had an opportunity to put her denial of these reports into the record of the senate campaign funds committee. Sen. Gerald P. Nye, conducting the committee's inquiry here, permitted Mrs. McCormick to cross-question B. W. Snow, chairman of the Cook county Republican central committee.

Snow had testified that his committee indorsed Mrs. McCormick's candidacy. To Mrs. McCormick's questions Snow replied:

"I took responsibility for marking the ballots for Mrs. McCormick. I did that not because of any particular interest in her candidacy but because personal contact with the voters and my political workers showed me there was a wave of sentiment running very high in her behalf. I felt we would benefit our local ticket by indorsing her."

Senator Nye read a letter from George Harding, county treasurer, and a power in the city hall organization, in which Harding said Mrs. McCormick had declined to contribute funds to his group saying she would rather lose the election than win and "be ousted as Ware and Frank L. Smith were."

Earlier in the morning session, devoted largely to the questioning of local political leaders, Col. R. R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune and brother of Mrs. McCormick's late husband, submitted $17,000 in cancelled checks representing his contributions to his sister-in-law's campaign. This money had been reported previously by Mrs. McCormick.

Foster Leaves Los Angeles Jail for East

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—(UP)—Frankie Foster, gangster wanted in Chicago under an indictment charging him with the murder of Edward J. Lingle, reporter, was taken from county jail here sometime during the night and presumably was enroute to the Illinois city today.

Authorities said yesterday that the start east probably would not be made until tonight or tomorrow but Foster was not in his cell this morning. Officials said they "suppose" he was on his way to Chicago and refused to tell when he left the jail or how he was being taken back.

The Chicago indictment against Foster was returned after he was captured here and after Chicago police identified him as the former owner of the gun used to murder Lingle in a survey early in June.

Eight Europeans Are Killed In Riots Tuesday and Many Are Injured

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 16.—(UP)—British and Egyptian troops, approximately 1000 strong, stood guard in the streets of Alexandria today ti preserve the order that was restored only after 14 were killed and 400 injured during riots throughou the city yesterday.

The rioting spread terror among Europeans, who were included among the dead and injured, and left the city to spend the night in darkness since most of the street lamps were broken by the mobs.

Apparently pre-conceived and well organized, the rioting broke out in the midst of a two hour period of silence in memory of some seven persons who were killed in comparatively small disorders at Mansurah last week. The Wafdists—Nationalist party—had requested

Mooney Case Key Witness Will Testify

Expected Governor Young to Hold Hearing As Soon As Man Arrives

BALTIMORE, Md., July 16.—(UP)—John MacDonald will leave today for California on a mission to free Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings whom he implicated in the 1916 San Francisco preparedness parade bombing by testimony he now swears was perjured.

MacDonald expected to depart this evening, accompanied by his two young attorneys, Charles Ruzicka and Hilary Gans, and probably by Edward H. Nockels, veteran secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, who obtained MacDonald's first affidavit in 1921, repudiating the Mooney-Billings testimony.

Arrives Tuesday

His departure today would put MacDonald back upon the scene of the explosion which killed 10 persons and injured 40 others shortly before the 14th anniversary of the disaster, which is Tuesday. He will step aboard the train, a broken man at 58, showing plainly the effects of ill-health and worry.

MacDonald and his lawyers plan to stop in New York for a few hours en route to the coast to confer with Frank P. Walsh, personal attorney for Mooney, who will leave New York by plane for California, going ahead of MacDonald.

The key witness and his lawyers, are expected to leave New York for Chicago at 11:10 tonight.

Herbert R. O'Connor, state's attorney for Baltimore, sent a telegram to Governor Young today advising him of MacDonald's departure. O'Connor wired:

Wires Governor

"I handled matter with MacDonald's attorneys relative his return to California, and guarantee by you of his transportation. MacDonald will leave today for California. Have notified MacDonald through his attorneys that complete investigation and review of entire cases to be conducted. Am also informed his attorneys accompanying him on trip today."

Ruzicka and Gans received a telegram today from Young saying that before MacDonald left for the coast, some "agreement" should be signed by him and forwarded to the governor. The message was not exactly clear to the lawyers. They expect to reply later today.

BANDIT KILLED IN THRILLING ROBBERY

N. R. Riblett, a bank policeman opened fire on the bandits and one dropped dead. He has not been identified. The officer was seriously wounded in the exchange of bullets. The two other bandits escaped with a satchel containing a large sum of money.

Zane Grey Sued For Plagiarism

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—(UP)—Zane Grey, noted author of western stories, was charged with plagiarism in a half million dollar damage suit filed in federal court here today.

The action, brought by Charles A. Maddux, pioneer westerner, contended that Grey's "Thundering Herd" was pirated from the novel "The Border and the Buffalo," written in 1907.

The rights to the "Border and the Buffalo" were assigned to Maddux by the widow of the author, John R. Cook, it was said.

Cook's story detailed the hunting of Buffalo in Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas in the days when those states were only sparsely settled, the complaint stated.

Much of Grey's novel, a best seller in 1925, was lifted from Cook's work, it was charged, although Grey interpolated a love story in "The Thundering Herd."

Lutherans May Exclude Legionnaires

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 16.—(UP)—A proposal to bar American Legion members from the Evangelical Lutheran church will be voted upon by the Wisconsin and Missouri synods of the church September 16, it was announced today.

Lutheran ministers are divided on the question of whether the Legion is an "oath-bound, secret, religious organization," incompatible with the laws of the church. One group headed by the Rev. A. Pieper, of Thiensville, believes it is such an order, and would refuse church membership to Legionnaires.

However, the view of the Rev. Charles Buenger, of Kanosha, and many other ministers, is that the Legion is not military, political or religious, but is a civilian, patriotic group, and therefore acceptable.

BUENOS AIRES PILOTS FORCED TO "BAIL OUT"

Projected Non-stop Flight Comes to Spectacular End In Georgia

BOSTWICK, Ga., July 16.—(UP)—The projected non-stop refueling flight of the Stinson-Detroiter monoplane "K" from New York to Buenos Aires came to a spectacular end here today when its three pilots leaped to safety in parachutes and the plane plunged 600 feet into sage brush.

The pilots, Randy Enslow, James Darringer and Garland P. Reed, were forced by rapidly dwindling fuel supply and inability even to see land because of heavy rain clouds, to leap for their lives after circling over this town for two hours.

G. A. Munn, of Bostwick, who saw the leap, said the three airmen landed in a sage brush field one mile northwest of here. The first to leap, twice was obscured from view by clouds because of the height from which the jump was made.

NAVAL COMMANDER TAKES DENVER POST

DENVER, Colo., July 16.—(UP)—L. E. Bratton, retired United States naval commander with a brilliant naval record, today took over the reins of law enforcement in Denver.

He succeeds Reuben W. Hershey, grand master of the grand lodge of Masons in Colorado, who was discharged as manager of safety and excise for insubordination by Mayor Benjamin F. Stapleton.

Hershey's ouster and Commander Bratton's selection was precipitated by a critical interview regarding the mayor which Hershey gave out during a recent grand jury investigation of vice and gambling conditions in Denver. The ousted official was reported at the time to be planning to run for mayor.

Chance Of Success In Grape Trouble

FRESNO, Calif., July 16.—(UP)—The California grape control board today was preparing its 1930 program, signifying that its members have hopes of contracting the 85 per cent of total acreage necessary for its operation.

William A. Boekel of San Francisco will fix the time and place for a meeting of the control board temporary directorate, where plans will be laid for an immediate start of the program, it was learned.

"If the drive should prove successful, we must be ready to take charge and start operations at once," it was announced at the control board office.

SAYS LONDON TREATY NOT PEACE PACT

NEARLY CAUSED WAR

Washington Arms Conference Also Attacked By Senator From Tennessee

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(UP)—Charges that negotiation of the London naval treaty almost brought on a war between France and Italy were made on the floor of the senate today by Senator McKellar, Dem., Tenn., in a plea for rejection of the pact.

McKellar denounced President Hoover's refusal to disclose all related documents to the senate.

"No public official," McKellar said, "has the right to transact the people's business in secret. That is why the treaty is a sham and why it is not a real peace treaty.

"Why, we almost brought on a war while we were making this treaty in London."

He said the secrecy surrounding the London negotiations had produced "bad blood."

McKellar opened his attack on the treaty with a denunciation of the Washington arms conference, which he emphasized was conducted during the administration of President Harding and under the leadership of Charles Evans Hughes.

Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, asked McKellar how he voted on the Washington arms conference treaty. McKellar said he did not vote. Shortridge then read from the record of 1922 to show that McKellar's colleague had announced when the vote was taken that McKellar was unavoidably absent, but, if present, would vote for the treaty.

"My colleague was in error," McKellar replied and insisted he had corrected the record although Shortridge showed that the record still showed McKellar would have voted for the treaty if present.

"Our own delegate at London," McKellar continued, "admitted the Washington conference treaty did not give us parity in capital ships when they asked for permission during the London conference to build one more 35,000 ton battleship.

HEAVY PEACH CROP MAY ROT ON TREES

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—(UP)—During 1930 California will probably witness its annual "price war," so disastrous to the peach industry during recent years.

But it may witness the spectacle of thousands of high grade peaches rotting in the sun and in the shade of overburdened trees.

The peach control agreement which is expected to avert the price slashing of the past was ratified here yesterday and will become effective during the coming season. The agreement has been in the process of negotiation for the past two months and its successful conclusion was announced by Preston McKinley, vice president of the Canners League of California, who as secretary of the committee will administer the curtailment.

Reduce Times Of Two Fast Trains

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—(UP)—Reductions in running time of two leading Southern Pacific trains were announced today.

Beginning July 27, the "Apache" westbound from Chicago to Los Angeles will cut its 68-hour time by 4 hours and 31 minutes. The eastbound "Californian" now running on a 75-hour schedule, will reduce its time to 68 1/2 hours.

The Apache will operate westbound through Phoenix instead of Maricopu and the Californian will make both trips through the Imperial valley of California, it was said.

State Park Appraisal Bodies To Make Report Today

TWO GROUPS IN MEETING ON VALUE OF LAND

With members of the Orange county special appraisal committee, appointed some time ago by the county board of supervisors to set a value on the strip of beach land between Newport Beach and Huntington Beach, in conference at the court house today with a representative of an appraisal company selected by the state park board to set a value on the land, which it is proposed shall be purchased jointly by the state and county as the site of a state park, a report is expected to be made today to members of the board of supervisors, according to members of the appraisal committee.

The matter of a state park on the beach has been agitated for some time and the state park board has approved the land in question as a suitable location. The park board is to purchase the tract jointly with the county, then take it over and operate it and maintain it, according to plans that have been announced.

Members of the committee and D. C. Pixley, F. E. McCarter, W. H. Warner, Donald Jones and Louis Briggs. The representative of the appraisal company is Thomas O. Lindholz, of Los Angeles. The Orange county committee and the appraisal company representatives were reported deadlocked at noon, and could not make any announcement of prices. It was stated that they expected to report to the board of supervisors some time today. The supervisors are in session as the board of equalization.

California Agency Leads In Business

California, again in June, won leadership over all the other agencies of the State Life Insurance company of Indiana, more than $1,500,000 new life business having been written in this state during the month.

As at June 30th, California already had produced a total of $10,400,000 new business for this year.

June made the seventh consecutive month and the thirteenth month out of the last 18 that the California agency, which is under the direction of Arthur J. Hill, California manager, had captured United States leadership.

The California agency is producing at better than a $20,000,000-a-year rate for 1930.

MOTLEY FLINT FUNERAL HELD THIS MORNING

The pastor, center in many a court fight here, also used his talk as an answer to City Prosecutor Lloyd Nix, who, talking over the radio, said the Rev. Mr. Shuler "had made careless, wild and reckless charges although he would not deliberately do harm to a living thing."

While the controversy went on about "Julian thieves in politics," authorities planned to attempt to force a speedy trial in the case.

Indictment Voted

And the indictment was voted within a few minutes after a coroner's jury decided that Keaton shot Flint with homicidal intent.

Keaton was taken before Superior Judge Marshall McComb who ordered him to appear Thursday to plead to the charge.

Keaton's depressed demeanor changed only once yesterday and that when Judge Frank C. Collier testified at the inquest. Judge Collier, in whose courtroom Flint was fatally shot just as he stepped from the witness stand, was describing the scene.

"The shots came apart—first one and then a pause followed by two more," the jurist stated. "Mr. Flint staggered and fell."

Keaton, his eyes dilated and his hands clenched, leaped to his feet. Then he slumped back into his seat, covering his face with his hands. He made no further move and when asked if he wanted to testify replied, "I have nothing to say."

Explains Depression

The financial depression, Mrs. Willebrandt said, resulted from a post-war period of recovery with a sharp upcurve, during which every aim was for "money, prospecity, the acquisition of things, such as motor cars, the evidence of wealth."

"America has been glutted with economic triumph. The higher the wave, the stronger the undertow. The break therefore had inevitably to come. The financial depression is levelling down the extremes of optimism, substituting the daring and recklessness of expansion by more careful and orderly development. This is an economic zero hour.

"At such a period, our country is fortunate indeed to have a president whose experience and type of leadership is steady and constructive.

THREE SUITS FILED AFTER CAR CRASHES

Three damage suits were filed in superior court yesterday as the result of automobile accidents, totaling $40,541.25.

W. V. Whitson, et al, were named as defendants in two of the actions which were filed by Gladys Umphfres and Ophelia Hudgens. Each of the two plaintiffs ask $10,000 for personal injuries and asks in addition special damages. In the Umphfres case special damages for medical attention are set at $25, while the other plaintiff asks $50. The accident took place in Santa Ana last month.

J. W. Smith was plaintiff in the other suit. He is suing Victor Whitaker jr., and his parents for a total of $20,466.25. Smith, who is 75 years of age, itemizes his claim as follows: personal injuries, $10,000; loss of wages, $9816.25 (this was based on a table of the expectancy of his life, which was set at a little over six years); expenses caused by accident, $208.75, damages to auto, $301.25; loss of use of his car, $140. The accident occurred last March.

permission for the period of silence, and had promised there would be no trouble.

As everything was going quietly, however, a group of mourners began hurling stones and bottles at the police who were watching them in Mohamed Ali square and the Rue Cherif Pasha. The police, surprised and out-numbered, retreated hastily before the advancing mob, and took refuge in the police station.

Almost simultaneously with that outbreak, which occurred at 11 a. m., Europeans and their shops in all parts of the city were attacked by other mobs, which were steadily increased in numbers.

An Italian boy was reported among the Europeans killed, while Major Fitzpatrick, an English police officer, was injured by a stone. Eight Europeans in all were reported killed.

Premier Sidky Pasha arrived here last night and conferred with the officers in command of Egyptian troops stationed in Mahamed Ali square. Seven hundred other Egyptian troops also were rushed from Cairo to aid in controlling the city.

When soothing Zemo is used

It's remarkable how quickly summer itching vanishes when Zemo touches the skin. Use it for rashes, bites, ivy-poisoning and itching, peeling toes. This far-famed antiseptic draws out heat and pain and quickly soothes away irritation. Use safe, healing Zemo freely to clear up ugly pimples and dandruff. It's invisible and odorless. Just the thing for sunburn and other summer skin irritations. Have Zemo handy always. Any druggist. 35c, 60c, $1.00.—Adv.

Alleged Thieves Held To Answer

M. J. Haskell and his wife, Ethel, were given preliminary examinations in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning on a charge of burglarizing the home of Merle Graham, near Brea. Both were held to answer to the superior court in bail of $1000.

The couple are asserted to have entered the home several days ago, stealing $200 worth of household goods, including a handsome radio.

MIDWAY CITY

Mr. and Mrs. John Benton Adams whose marriage was an event of last Saturday afternoon at the Santa Ana home of the bride's parents, are returning here on Saturday from Catalina Island where they are spending their honeymoon and are to occupy the Harry Yost home on Van Buren street, which they have leased. Mrs. Adams is a cousin of Mrs. Arthur Murdy of Monroe street, Midway City, and Mr. and Mrs. Murdy were attendants of the bride and groom at their wedding. Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Murdy will both teach the coming term in the Westminster school.

Roy Scott who is in the employ of M. J. P. Heil suffered injury to one hand, when a hay hook accidently caught one of his hands cutting a severe gash, when he was at work in the hay field Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Enos and daughter, Barbara Enos spent Monday in Los Angeles, where they visited Mr. Enos' mother.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Davies left Saturday for Los Angeles, where they were to stay overnight with Mr. Davies parents before leaving for a vacation trip which will take them into the northern part of the state.

Mrs. Fred French spent Sunday at Corona with relatives and was acompanied home upon her return by a young nephew who is spending a vacation in her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Armand Heil entertained at dinner on Sunday evening a large party of relatives who came in for the afternoon and evening. Included in the party were Mr. and Mrs. M. J. P. Heil and family of Midway City; Mr. and Mrs. David Holsclaw and son of Smeltzer; Mr. and Mrs. George Harding and family of Bolsa; Mrs. E. S. Heil of Santa Ana, and after dinner they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. John Baker of Santa Ana who motored out to take Mrs. Heil home.

RABBIT BREEDERS HOLD MEETING HERE

An interesting meeting was held by the Orange County Rabbit Breeders' association last night in the Farm bureau office, North Main street. J. T. Lynch, secretary of the California Marketing association, was the principal speaker. He chose as his subject, "Marketing of the Rabbit." Last night's meeting was presided over by Mrs. C. E. Dowles, the club secretary.

Lynch explained the purpose of his organization and the marked growth it has attained since its inception more than three years ago. The speaker said that he planned to send a buyer to this district every Wednesday and those breeders having rabbits to sell, could make the necessary arrangements by notifying Mrs. Dowless.

Following Lynch's ddress, there was a general business session followed by a luncheon.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

Two impulses you should avoid: doubting the content of other men's beliefs and questioning the validity of your own where it differs from theirs.

It may very well be that other people have experienced a consciousness of the nearness of their dear departed which you have never had. This does not mean, merely because your mind and heart and soul have not known a similar consciousness, that what you believe or have experienced lacks reality and certitude.

Live courageously in the conviction that your dear one is joyously going on into a richer experience which you shall some day share. Indeed, as you strive to do your best, you are in a measure sharing it even now.

GONZALES—At the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Gonzales, near Garden Grove Road, July 15, 1930, Antonio Gonzales Jr., aged 9 months. Funeral services and interment under the direction of Harrell & Brown were held today at 2 o'clock at Santa Ana cemetery.

VALENZUELA—In Delhi, Sunday, July 13, 1930, Manuel Valenzuela, age 27 years. Funeral services, under the direction of Harrell & Brown were held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Delhi Catholic church. Interment in Santa Ana cemetery.

RURUP—At his home, 2730 N. Flower street, July 16th, 1930, Ernst H. Rurup, aged 81 years. Mr. Rurup has been a resident of Santa Ana fro 27 years, a retired rancher, and was the father of C. L. Rurup, of Utica, Nebr.; Wm. Rurup, Harvard, Nebr.; Mrs. Clara Holan, Orange; H. C. Rurup, Orange; W. F. Rurup, Santa Ana; Mrs. C. W. Courtney and Mrs. Emma M. Hill of the home; Ernest G. Stanley of Mexico, and two daughters, Mrs. Claude Smallwood, of Pleasanton, Cal., and Miss Edith Stanley of Santa Ana. Announcement of services will later be made by the Winbigler Funeral home.

MONEY MOTIVE OF MURDER IN DELHI, BELIEF

That money instead of a woman was the motive for the murder at Delhi last Sunday afternoon of Manuel Valenzuella, who was stabbed to death by Pete Gonzales in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning at which time the defendant was held to answer to the superior court on a murder charge, without bail.

Sid Smithwick, assistant chief of police of Santa Ana, who quizzed Gonzales soon after the crime, testified that Gonzales told him that Valenzuella had borrowed money from him and had not paid it back, which led to the breach between the two men.

Gonzales did not take the witness stand. A number of new witnesses were heard but none of them saw the fight which ended in the murder of Valenzuella.

Attorney William Menton represented the district attorney's office in the case and Gonzales is being defended by Attorneys N. D. Meyer and Morris Cain.

Local Briefs

President Henry J. Brubaker, of the Illinoisans of all Southern California, makes this last call to the Suckers to rally for their big summer outing reunion, all day, Saturday, July 19th, in Bixby park, Long Beach.

He will open the county registers and headquarters early and will supply badges and hot coffee for all. The program of music and short addresses will follow the basket dinner hour but will not interfere with sociability. Hon. Frank F. Merriam will deliver the address of welcome. The Utica Jubilee quartet will supply the old southern songs and Negro melodies. Dr. Burton Y. Neal will be among the entertainers.

Mrs. J. Simon (Si) Flour today continued in her speedy recovery from burns suffered when a gas stove exploded Monday afternoon at her home west of Anaheim. The injuries are painful but not of a serious nature.

A meeting of the Inter-County Walnut department will be held in the association house, Friday, at Los Angeles. J. A. Smiley will represent Orange county. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans for the annual walnut institute which will be held sometime in the early fall, it was announced.

ROAD BUILDING AND HARBOR DEVELOPMENT MAJOR TOPICS AT MEETING OF COAST TODAY

The regular monthly meeting of the Orange County Coast association, was held at Traviaglini's cafe at San Clemente last night. President W. D. Miller introduced several candidates as such to the assembly.

Report of committee on dalyight saving by Sumner Crosby, chairman, showed six for and five against its adoption. Edward H. Brown, of the California Daylight Saving league, spoke in favor of the measure.

A comprehensive report from the highways committee, supplemented by a report from the committee on state highways by J. Rumm, of the state highways commission, was received.

Rumm stated that in the next 10 years $325,000,000 will be spent on state roads, for which the money is already in sight.

F. C. Ferry, of the marine committee, reported that the coast guard had received orders from Washington to watch for bilge pumping by boats that would polute the beaches.

A resolution was presented by Harry Lake on behalf of the county unity committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce relative to the calling of a bond election for the improvement of Newport Harbor for $1,000,000 or $1,500,000, said amount to be made available when it would be matched by the United States government. It also called for the engineer of the project to be selected by the government engineer of this district.

It was moved by S. H. Lucas that the report be received and referred to the committee on harbor development for study with orders to peresent a report at the next meeting. J. P. Greeley moved a substitute motion, that it be passed at the present time. In speaking on behalf of his motion, Lucas said no one was a bigger harbor booster than he, but he doubted the legal possibilities of handling this matter as called for in the resolution, and desired that that phase of the matter at least be given mature consideration before the adoption.

A delegate from Los Alamitos said he was opposed to connecting the harbor and the water conservation programs in a trade of any kind, and believed it would be well to have the additional month made necessary by the by-laws of the association in order that the members might be made more fully acquainted with the purports of the resolution.

Greeley moved the suspension of the rules to permit its immediate adoption, which was carried. The proponents of this resolution declared they wished to get the harbor development and state park measures out of the way before the water conservation program was again submitted to the voters.

H. L. Sherman declared he doubted the possibilities of carrying a bond issue on the ground suggested and that the days of log-rolling by the river and harbors committee in Washington were past. He also said in several instances where Newport harbor already had tried to obtain government aid, it had been found that it would be impossible to get government aid prior to the actual establishment of commercial trade. He also said it would be well for those present to consider this question in all its phases before passing a resolution as it might reflect on the intelligence of those voting for it.

In supporting the measure, it was declared by its proponents that to present it to the voters in this form would make its passage easier. Lew Wallace, in supporting the measure said he did not particularly agree upon that clause making it contingent upon government aid, but he believed it would assist in getting out a favorable vote for the measure. The measure was passed with not more than half of those present voting.

After the report by President Miller of his attendance at a nation-wide convention of representative men interested in the preservation of the beaches of the United States, which is being held at Long Beach, Lucas moved that the president be authorized to name a committee to represent the Orange County Coast association at the convention today, as that feature was one of the most vitally interesting of the various phases of the work of this association.

Lucas named the amount of available beach that is now open to the public in Orange county, and stated among other things that there is three-quarters of mile of public-owned beach at Dana Point to which the public now has no right of access, as the road of 50 years stading leading down to the beach has been fenced off and made accessable only to those who had been given a key to the padlocked gate. E. J. Lyle of the Dana Point organization declared this was a gross misrepresentation of facts, as a stairway had been provided which the public was being granted the privilege of using.

Lucas replied that he could not afford to let that statement stand, and that some two or three weeks ago he had driven to the historic spot where Dana had risked his life to rescue the hides and had found this gate closed and locked. While waiting there enjoying the view with his wife, a man had driven up in a car, opened the gate with his key and driven down to the beach. He further declared that from these facts the inference could be plainly drawn by anyone present.

George Thompson of Laguna said that he believed this question of public beaches should be taken up by the state, surveys made, and the proper amount of beach for public use acquired. That this way, in his opinion, is the only manner in which this question could be handled without infringing on legitimate private rights. Tom Talbert declared he was not in favor of having all the beach in the county open to the public, but that certain sections should be acquired for that purpose, but that he heartily subscribed to Thompson's ideas.

STREET WIDENING SUIT IS LAUNCHED

A condemnation suit was filed today by the city of Santa Ana in which 82 defendants were named. The proceeding is in connection with the proposed widening of West Seventeenth street between Main street and Flower street.

The city is seeking a strip 14 feet wide on the north side of the street and 15 feet wide on the south side of the street. The complaint covers 74 pages, listing the various parcels of land that is sought to be condemned by the city in order to increase the width of the thoroughfare, in addition to a number of exhibits, such as copies of proceedings of the city council in connection with the matter and a map showing the district.

The action was filed through City Attorney Charles Swanner.

Marriage License Notices Reversed

In the publication yesterday of names of those who had filed notices of intention to marry, two sets of names were mixed up, with the result that the wrong parties were linked in the notice as it ran, and two names were left out entirely.

COLLINS TELLS ABOUT CASE OF WILLIAM ROSS

Legal points of the W. W. Ross case were outlined by Sam Collins, candidate for district attorney, speaking before the Placentia Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Collins stated that, for some reason, the Ross case had received considerable attention from the public, but that it had been handled exactly as all other cases of grand theft, and that three cases of similar nature had been handled the same day as the case in question without attracting any undue attention.

Earl Abbey, candidate for county treasurer, also was present and in a few words stated his ambitions.

President A. S. Bradford was absent from the meeting and Secretary T. E. Pickerill acted as chairman.

The resignation of A. B. Miner, automobile dealer who is now located at Fullerton, was read and accepted.

Reports on the so-called "harmony" meeting of northern Orange county chamber of commerce representatives at the Elks club, Anaheim, were given by H. O. Easton, E. M. Everett and T. E. Pickerill, who read the resolution passed at the meeting, favoring a harbor bond issue of $1,500,000, providing the government raises an equal amount.

No action was taken by the local chamber on this resolution, which was laid over until another meeting. Plans for a chamber of commerce picnic also were laid over after discussion.

C. E. Lee reported on the "Ralph McFadden for Sheriff" club started at Anaheim, with James Tufree as chairman.

CHURCH TO ERECT $20,000 BUILDING

Hurd and Pickering will start work Friday on construction of the $20,000 educational building the First Christian church is to erect on the northeast corner of Sixth and Birch streets, it was announced today by C. B. Hurd, member of the firm of contractors to which the contract has been awarded.

The church building is to have two stories and is to have dimensions of 48 by 66 feet. The upper floor will be devoted to class rooms. The entire lower floor is to be devoted to an auditorium with seating capacity for a large number of persons. A large stage will offer facilities for presentation of plays and other activities of the church in the way of addresses and public gatherings.

Hurd also revealed that his firm has been awarded the contract for the construction of three 6-room residences on Wisteria avenue, for Ray Goodcell. The general contract price for the three dwellings is $12,000, with other items of construction adding to the total cost.

WEBB DECIDES STUDENTS NOT ABSENT VOTERS

Definite and authentic information concerning persons entitled to vote at the approaching primary and regular election next fall were received today by County Clerk J. M. Backs in nthe form of an opinion from Attorney General U. S. Webb.

The ruling which was made to determine the status of students under the law, declares that only three classes of persons are entitled to vote by absent voters' ballots. These are (1) those who are required by reason of their occupation to travel; (2) those who are engaged in the civil, congressional military or naval service of the United States or of the state;; and (3) those who, because of injury or disability, are absent from their precincts. Attorney General Webb interprets this as meaning that students are not qualified to vote under the absent voter law.

Persons who are qualified to vote the absent voter ballots are required to make application for same in the office of the county clerk between August 16 and 21, for the primary election. County Clerk Backs has all special forms for this purpose ready. Only 16 applications for absent voter ballots were filed with Backs at the general election two years ago.

ERNEST H. RURUP CALLED BY DEATH

Ernst H. Rurup, 81, retired rancher and a prominent citizen of Santa Ana, died today at his home, 2730 North Flower street. He had been a resident of this city for the past 27 years. Funeral arrangements have been withheld pending the arrival of two sons, C. L. Rurup, of Utica, Neb., and William Rurup, of Harvard, Neb.

In addition to these children, he is survived by W. F. Rurup, Santa Ana; Mrs. Clara Hoban and H. C. Rurup, both of Orange, the latter being a well known druggist, Mrs. C. W. Courtney and Emma M. Hill, at the home; Ernest G. Rurup, Oakland, and Mrs. Fleta H. Irwin, of Brea.

Funeral arrangements will be under the direction of Smith and Tuthill, Santa Ana.

FIRE IS AVERTED NEAR VILLA PARK

A serious grass fire in the vicinity of North Villa Park was narrowly averted yesterday by the prompt action of passersby. The blaze is thought to have been caused by a lighted cigarette or match thrown from a passing automobile.

Noting the smoldering hillside, a group of men, including Harold Brewer, John Regan, Dave Clough, Willard Smith and Joe Sherman hastened to the scene, and after a few minutes, succeeded in extinguishing the conflagration.

W. M. Cory, acting farm advisor, indicated this morning that extensive efforts would be made to impress upon citizens the need of extreme precaution if similar occurrences, entailing a possible loss of valuable property, were to be avoided.

A newcomer to Santa Ana recently received a six months suspended jail sentence for burning acreage in Orange park without a permit, according to Cary. Ignorance of the state laws in regard to this ordinance was responsible for leniency being shown.

BAND PROGRAM WILL FEATURE ITALIAN MUSIC

The unusually colorful program that is being planned for presentation in Birch park tomorrow night by Santa Ana Municipal band, will be offered in honor of "Italian Night," according to D. C. Cianfoni, director of the popular local organization. In addition to featured appearance on this program of Mme. Maria Caselotti, internationally celebrated coloratura soprano and opera singer of wide experience, who will be heard in the familiar aria, "Ah fors e' Lui" from "Traviata," as well as a varied group of songs in English, Italian and Spanish, numerous well known selections from Italian composers are scheduled to be offered by the band.

Especially will the works of Giuseppe Verdi, often spoken of as the "king of Italian composers" have a prominent place, selections from three of his operas, "Aida," "Traviata" and "Il Trovatore" to be played by the band.

Verdi is noted as the most representative Italian opera composer of his time, having been born in Roncold, Italy, in 1813. He displayed marked musical talent at an early age, being appointed organist in the village church when but 10 years old.

Winning a scholarship, Verdi studied composition a short time at the Conservatory of Milan. He produced his first successful opera, "Nabucco" in 1842. This was the beginning of a popularity which steadily increased throughout the half-century in which he was recognized as master and moulder of Italian musical thought, his influence opening a new era in the history of Italian opera.

In 1844, Verdi produced "Ernani," and upon the performance of his supremely successful "Rigoletto" at Venice in 1851, was acclaimed the greatest operatic composer of his day.

1853 saw production of Verdi's "Il Trovatore" in Rome, and "La Traviata" in Venice, followed by premiere rendition of "Aida" in Cairo, Egypt, in 1871. Though bearing resemblance to the old Italian school, these early works possess more vigor and fertility of melodic invention, together with keener dramatic insight, his creative genius characterized by unparalleled alertness and vitality.

"Falstaff" followed in 1873, noted for freshness, spontaneity, and eloquence of orchestral details.

Employing all resources of modern instrumentation in his orchestral works, Verdi sought for true dramatic expression as none of his predecessors had. Grieg places Verdi on a level with Wagner, calling him "the greatest dratmatist of his century."

Additional selections from other Italian composers will also be offered, including an instrumental sextette, a selection from Donizetti's "Lucia."

CRADLE OF BASEBALL

Holy Cross college in Massachusetts has the distinction of sending more baseball players to the major leagues in the past few years than any other eastern educational institution.

OPERA SINGER

Mme. Maria Caselotti, celebrated coloratura soprano and opera singer, will appear tomorrow night on the program of the Santa Ana Municipal band, which will play in Birch park.

RECEIVE NEWS OF RELATIVE'S DEATH

Coming as a shock to Miss Blanche Cartmill, 644 North Broadway, and Mrs. Van Eakin of Anaheim, was news of the death of their father, G. W. Cartmill, which occurred in West Virginia yesterday morning. The wire announcing Mr. Cartmill's end, came late yesterday, and although it had been preceded by one announcing his illness, it was not expected that death would claim him so soon. Neither of his daughters is planning to attend the funeral, which will take place at Point Pleasant, W. Va., where he is well known, having lived in that vicinity practically all of his life.

He had been living with his sister, Mrs. Frank Childers, at Winfield, W. Va., for several years, and it was there that he passed his last hours. Mr. Cartmill was well known in Santa Ana, as he visited here seven years ago with his daughters and other relatives, remaining for some time. He is survived by Miss Blanche Cartmill and Mrs. Van Eakin, and one other daughter, Mrs. Lewis Carlwell, of W. Va.

Orange County Is Unable To Qualify In Heat Marathon

While thermometers throughout the nation were engaged in a marathon contest for heat endurance records, the high marks ranging from 108 to 114 degrees, instruments in Santa Ana and Orange county displayed a cool indifference to the contest today.

Hill and Son's thermometer in Santa Ana was not even entered in the contest, in which participants must pass the 100 mark to qualify. The heat guage stepped up to 96 degrees at 11 a. m., but at noon again lost interest and was down to 90 degrees, where it hovered for the remainder of the day.

FIRST STREET AIRPORT WORK BEING RUSHED

With one building nearly completed and the spacious field partially levelled, construction work on the new Santa Ana airport, on West First street near Sullivan, is progressing today faster than anticipated. The new project, which is sponsored by the Santa Ana Airways, ltd., will give to this city one of the finest and most up to date ports on the Pacific slope.

The undertaking is under the direction of R. T. Dixon and Art C. Anderson. According to tentative plans, $15,000 to $20,000 will be expended at once, this to cover the cost of a stucco hangar, 60x112 feet; a complete drainage system to keep the field clear of water during the winter months; smaller buildings, planes and general equipment. Later expenditures will be made as new improvements are deemed necessary.

Negotiations are now pending for the delivery of one or two light cabin planes. No official decision has been made, according to Dixon although several conferences have been held with representatives of various leading manufacturers. These planes, in addition to being commercial assets, also will be used for instruction work by the company's flying school, which will be in charge of Anderson.

A feature of the field will be a giant fog light which should prove an invaluable beacon to fliers following night routes. There will be a huge 1700 foot runway, north and south, with the possibility of additional space according to the growth of the airport.

Orange Council May Hear Swing Talk About Dam

ORANGE, July 16.—Members of the Orange city council may attend a meeting sponsored by the city of San Bernardino at which Phil D. Swing will speak on the Boulder dam and the Metropolitan water district and which is to be held at San Bernardino July 28. No definite action in accepting an invitation extended by the Gate City was taken yesterday by the body who is to consider the matter this week.

Visiting councilmen will ride in a monster parade to be staged before the meeting. The city of Orange does not belong to the Metropolitan water district.

Of the 8332 horses which, according to racing statistics, ran on United States tracks last year, 2475 of them never finished in the money.

LOAN FIRM PAYS EXTRA DIVIDEND

A extra dividend of 12 cents a share plus the regular quarterly divident of 32 1-2 cents yesterday was paid preferred shareholders of State Guaranty corporation, sole stock owner of Pacific States Savings and Loan company.

At the same time the shareholders learned that the earnings of Pacific States savings for the six months ended June 30 were the largest for any corresponding period in the institution's history. These six months earnings were $351,661.75 after allowance for federal income tax, according to the quarterly letter which accompanied the dividend checks.

The letter, over the signature of Robert S. Odell, director of finance of State Guaranty corporation and president of Pacific States Savings, also stated that during the six months only $187,344.23 in loan underwriting fees was transferred to earnings while as of June 30 there remained of unallocated fees a balance of $1,600,215.77 available for future distribution.

Announcement of the record earnings follows the news recently that Pacific States Savings had become the largest building and loan association in the United States. The dividend letter further pointed out that the institution is continuing its growth and during the 10-day July reinvestment period opened 3,982 new accounts for savings for a total of $3,351,966 which exceeded the July reinvestment period of 1929, and brings resources up to more than 68 millions.

Report Two Cases Of Infant Malady

Two additional cases of infantile paralysis have been reported in Orange county it was announced this morning by Dr. H. K. Sutherland, county health officer. Audrienne Wright, 9, 432 Monterey street, Laguna Beach, and Walter Bittner, 6, of near Cypress, are the latest victims of the disease. This brings the total number of those afflicted since the epidemic made its appearance here in June, to 29. Of this number, only seven are now under quarantine, the rest having completely recovered. The condition of the others is not regarded as serious, it was indicated.

MEMBERSHIP QUOTA SOUGHT BY LEGION

Special notice has been received by officers of the Santa Ana post of th eAmerican Legion from the California state headquarters of the organization, calling attention to the fact that books are closed 30 days prior to the state convention, which opens at Sacramento on Aug. 18. All committee reports and membership dues must be mailed not later than Friday, July 18, acording to this report.

The Santa Ana post at present is just 25 members under its quota of 625 and special efforts are being made by membership committees to reach the quota before Friday. Committees are requested to turn in dues to Commander Otto Jacobs, Robert Walker or Adjutant Ed Kolbe.

HOLD MEXICAN AFTER ASSAULT IN EL MODENA

Dava Luna, El Modena Mexican, was arrested last night by Sheriff Sam Jernigan and Deputy A. L. Steward and is being held in the county jail on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

He is asserted to have stabbed Ben Abalos, also of El Modena, three times when the two fought at El Modena several nights ago. At the time, Abalos was arrested by sheriff's officers and lodged in the county hospital where he was held on a drunk charge. He was fined $50 on the charge yesterday.

Abolos could not "remember" who stabbed him when he was questioned by officers, but yesterday named his assailant and caused his arrest.

Luna is expected to be arraigned on the charge before Justice Kenneth Morrison this afternoon.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The U. S. has 400,000 colonists scattered throughout the world, according to Charles Hodges, associate professor of politics at New York university, Canada contains the largest number of these U. S. citizers—234,147, and the second largest number is located in Europe, 77,063.

MANY PRESENT AT ASSEMBLY MEETING HERE

Interest is increasing in the Evangelical assembly of Southern California which is being held in the assembly grounds in a grove west of Santa Ana, and a large attendance is marking the various sessions each day.

Services today opened with a morning watch at 6:30 o'clock under the leadership of the Rev. O. Steps, of San Bernardino. During the morning, after a Bible hour directed by Bishop L. H. Seager, of Le Mars, Iowa, class periods and study hours were observed for those interested in the course of religious education that is being offered.

At noon there was an assembly meditation period, directed by the Rev. F. A. Zeller, of Burbank.

The assembly address this afternoon was brought by Dr. H. J. Kiekhoefer, of Altadena. Later there were group conferences for the Women's Missionary society and the council of religious education.

The vesper service at 6:45 p. m. will be under the direction of the Rev. F. Schroeder, of Los Angeles, while Bishop Seager will have charge of the worship at 7:30 p. m.

Morning worship yesterday was based on II Kings, 5:20-27. Later in the morning Bishop Seager gave the first of a series of five talks on the book of Job. He pointed out that this book was classed as poetry, was written 4000 years ago and that the author probably was Moses. The Bishop asserted that the proper consideration of the text is that it is historical with poetical embellishments. The key word is "trials" or "testing" and the key verse is the ninth of the first chapter, "Does Job serve God for naught?" according to Bishop Seager.

The noon-day meditation yesterday was directed by Rev. Zeller, who spoke on the subject "Nobody Knows It All" based on First Corinthians, 13:9. He asserted that no one can know the entire truth and urged that people be charitable toward those who disagree with them, for "you might be the one that is wrong and the other fellow right," he declared.

The Women's Missionary society conference yesterday afternoon was led by Mrs. H. A. Boelter after an assembly address by Mrs. L. H. Seager, who spoke on "Why Should I be Interested in Foreign Missions?" She used two texts, John 10:11-16 and Matthew 28:16-20, and gave three reasons for being interested. First, we are Christians; second, we are women and women were last at the cross and first at the tomb; third, we belong to a missionary church.

The Rev. Mr. Schrader conducted the vesper service last night, while the evening worship period was under the direction of Bishop Seager. The Bishop's subject was "The Challenge of the Best" and he used three scriptural references, I Corinthians, 12:31, Phillipians, 3:13-14, and Matthew, 13:44-46.

BEGIN TRIAL OF SUIT ON CONTRACT

Trial of a suit that was filed originally on December 28, 1927, got under way today before Judge G. K. Scovel. It is the damage action of Kittie Vandemark against the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce.

The plaintiff in her original complaint asked damages totaling $38,741.28 for alleged breach of contract and damage to property that was purchased by the chamber of commerce and later abandoned. The mount of damages was changed in an amended complaint to $15,000.

It is alleged that the deal was made on July 31, 1922, involving a 15 acre tract at a purchase price of $45,000 but that the chamber abandoned the property, an orange grove, on Jan. 9, 1926, and had paid only $5000 on the purchase. It is charged that the defendant permitted the property to depreciate greatly in value during the time it occupied the premises. The action is being tried before a jury.

BURGLARS ENTER BUENA PARK HOME

Burglars stole some $200 worth of valuables from the home of J. W. Atherton, who resides a mile west of Grand avenue at Buena park, yesterday afternoon, according to a report made to the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Sam Jernigan and A. L. Stewart, deputy, made an investigation. The house was entered through the front door after the door had been broken by a man's shoulder, according to Sheriff Jernigan.

A shotgun, a rifle, a pocketbook containing a small amount of change, two tie pins, a flashlight, a suit of clothes, several ash trays, a watch chain and several rings were reported stolen by the thief.

SANTA ANA BOYS BACK FROM CAMP

The Santa Ana delegation of boys from Camp Osceola, the Y. M. C. A. camp located in the San Bernardino mountains near Barton flats, where they have been camping since July 1st, returned home last night, on motor busses. Of the 67 boys who went from Santa Ana, 66 returned, Walter Kring remaining for the next camp period.

The boys were lodged in 10 cabins while at the camp, and with three boys from Anaheim and the leaders, made a total of 80 at the camp. The leaders were Bill Gibbs, Bob Lenhardt, Halstead McCormack, R. H. McArthur, Ivan Scott, John Hay, Ed Riniker, Ed Gaebe, Franklin Burke and Eldon Murray. D. H. Tibbals, boys' work secretary at the Y, was in charge of the group.

The boys report that they had a wonderful time at camp and enjoyed a splendid program of training and recreation.

CANDIDATE FOR STATE POST IS CLUB SPEAKER

Members of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club and their guests were entertained by Frank Merriam, Long Beach, state candidate for lieutenant governor, at the luncheon meeting today at St. Ann's inn. Today's meeting was presided over jointly by Bob Fernandez, acting president, and J. P. Baumgartner, the latter presenting the speaker.

Merriam's address was confined to the state legislature, its part in the enforcement of present day laws, the benefits possible from the amendment of certain laws, concluding with a well stressed resume of the state automobile laws and the urgent need of immediate amendments.

"California, along with Pennsylvania and New York, has compiled, during the past six years, a fatality record that is in itself a blot on our fair state. In that time a total of 6910 deaths have been recorded. If these deaths had been laid to some disease, all the doctors and nurses in the country would be rushed here to stem the tide. Yet nothing is done about the current automobile laws that figure prominently in casting such a blemish on California," Merriam declared.

Preceding the speaking program, there was ensemble singing, featuring popular hits. Robert Brown, baritone, guest singer, also delighted with several selections. Despite the hot weather, a turnout of about 100 was evidenced.

MISSION GOLF LINKS PLANNED IN MINIATURE

Combining a picturesque setting and educational advantages with recreation, Charles Camm, proprietor of the Camm Blanket Manufacturing company on East First street, has secured a copyright on a plan for laying out golf courses that seems destined to be very successful and popular, it was learned today. The plan embraces laying out courses in the spirit of the old padres and early missions of California, providing an historical background that is especially attractive in California golf courses.

The plan provides a regular sightseeing trip along the course, which is to be laid out as a trail of the old Franciscan padres, with a miniature reproduction of a famous old mission at each green. The plan has been enthusiastically received by many of the leading golf clubs of the state, as in addition to the novelty of the idea it provides an excellent media of advertising California to out of the state players. Instead of being numbered, the various holes are to be named after the famous missions.

Another attractive feature of the plan is a special tee at each driving green, made to resemble a mission bell.

Negotiations are being carried on by Camm for installation of the mission feature at some of the leading courses in the state.

Night outdoor track and field meets are being planned by officials of the Southeastern A. A. U. on properly illuminated fields.

A LONG TRAMP

TORONTO, July 16.—Katherine Trevelyan has a long walk ahead of her, but she's going to see a lot of country first-hand. She recently set out on a walking tour of Canada, carrying a folding tent and other supplies on her back. In the first eight days she made 300 miles. She is walking the entire distance.

Pennsylvania Railroad's 1929 net income made a new high record, with $101,360,971, which is $18,943,595 more than 1928.

PRESENT MAP AT ADJOURNED CITY SESSION

ORANGE, July 16.—The four zoning districts which it is proposed shall be established in Orange with the adoption of a uniform building code, were outlined to members of the city council at an adjourned meeting of the body at the city hall yesterday.

A tentative map was presented to the council in which was shown the four districts which are to be established should the building code under consideration be adopted. The plan was not presented formally.

Show Districts

The districts as shown on the map drawn by City Engineer C. C. Bonebrake, call for the erection of class 1 buildings in the plaza. Beginning with the buildings which at present face the plaza square it is proposed to form a district of class 2 structures which would include the business portion of the city. The buildings in this district would be as good as the best buildings now standing in the city, it was said.

Buildings of the second class must be of brick or concrete construction and must be fireproof. The building restrictions would apply both to buildings which are remodeled as well as to new structures.

The business district as proposed, would live between Maple, Almond, Olive and Orange streets, and that portion of the city fronting on Chapman avenue and lying between Lemon and Olive, Orange and Grand streets.

Third District

The residential or third district, will include the rest of the city with the exception of the industrial district which will include the district along the Santa Fe tracks, extending about a block on each side of the railway from Palmyra to about 300 feet north of Walnut street, and two blocks between Maple and Sycamore, lying between Cypress and Lemon.

It is expected that action on the adoption of the building code and the establishments of the districts will be made at the meeting of the city council on August 5, with the first reading of an ordinance being prepared by City Attorney H. L. Dearing.

Fire Districts To Remain

Plans for the adoption of a satisfactory building code have been underway for sometime and were developed from the presentation of recommendations to the council compiled by a committee of Orange contractors. The zones as proposed will not interfere in any way with the present fire districts, it was said.

According to City Engineer Bonebrake no particular code of any one city has been followed in outlining a policy in building, plumbing and wiring requirements for the city, but what are considered the best features of codes considered which seem to fit the needs of Orange, have been selected for incorporation in the proposed code.

Officials of the Pacific Coast Building conference, D. H. Merrill secretary and J. E. Mackie, past secretary, assisted city officials in a survey of the city for the establishment of the districts.

Mayor W. E. Clement said that there was danger in too much restriction.

The original recommendations of the builders committee carried the 17 names of Ernest Gommel, H. O. Ehlen, H. L. Dearing, W. E. Stork, J. J. Hutchins, F. B. Dale, Walter Duker, N. U. DRAW PLAN FOR NEW CREAMERY NEAR HOSPITAL

ORANGE, July 16.—That an expenditure of $15,000 may be made in building a new creamery in this city, was a possibility revealed by G. O. Berry, Santa Ana real estate man, who appeared before the city council yesterday to see what arrangements could be made for sewer connections from the McDonald property near the county hospital. The property is located on the strip recently annexed to this city and the new concern is considering the establishment of the creamery at this point.

While not revealing the name of the company, Berry stated that the firm is already established in the county and that the creamery would be the distributing points for the cities of Santa Ana, Anaheim and Orange. The creamery is to be erected as a part of an expansion program of the firm

Plant Across River

The creamery, if present plans are followed, will be located across the Santa Ana river and members of the council yesterday expressed the opinion that sewer connections might be made through the county farm into the outfall sewer which lies west of the hospital. The city sewer does not extend across the river.

A committee was appointed to investigate the matter and to see what arrangements might be made for sewer connections. The committee includes the street committee, C. E. Watson and Ben Dierker, and the city engineer, C. C. Bonebrake.

Cost About $15,000

The creamery concern is planning to build either a concrete or stucco building at a cost of about $10,000 with landscaped grounds, and to put in equipment which will total about $5000, it was said.

The creamery company expects to install a machine for bottling and processing and the creamery will have a 10,000 quart capacity, it was stated.

The force of men now employed by the company will be supplemented by additional workers, all local men, it is expected.

MESA W. C. T. U. HEARS PRESIDENT

COSTA MESA, July 15.—Mrs. J. H. McClelland, vice president of the Santa Ana W. C. T. U., was the speaker at the July meeting of the local union, which was held in the social hall of the Community church late last week.

ADVERTISING IS LEGALIZED BY CITY COUNCIL

ORANGE, July 16.—Ordinance No. 316, which was up for second reading, was adopted by a unanimous vote at the meeting of the city council here yesterday. The ordinance is a revision of the license ordinance and is designed as a measure to assist local merchants in the distribution of advertising.

The ordinance was up for final reading at a previous meeting but was tabled pending a conference with merchants as to what was most wanted in the way of revision.

Suggest Permits

A suggestion was made by City Attorney H. L. Dearing that merchants taking advantage of the new provisions, make applications for permits in order to avoid confusion in the minds of residents of the city. No action was taken on the suggestion which was made in an informal discussion.

The ordinance is an amendment to ordinance 193 passed in 1922 which set a license fee of $20 per person per day for distribution of advertising material in the city of Orange. The amendment changed this to $20 per person per week, and added a proviso permitting Orange merchants to do this at $2 per person, with the council.

CULVERT PLANS TO ELIMINATE GLASSELL DIPS

ORANGE, July 16.—Plans for the culvert which is proposed to eliminate the dips along Glassell street was presented to the city council here yesterday by City Engineer C. C. Bonebrake. This plan will be included in the $75,000 storm drain project which is to be submitted to the council of August 5.

The culvert will run from La Veta avenue to Walnut street and the work at each intersection is estimated at about $700. Six intersections will be included in the culvert while Maple and Almond street intersections are not included.

The project of the storm drain which is considered a most important project has been under consideration for sometime and a proposition for a $50,000 drain was submitted to voters last year and was defeated.

FORGETFUL MAYOR

BRIARCLIFF, N. Y., July 16.—A mayor should be aware of all the laws of his city. But 48 hours after the board of trustees directed the police to tighten up on speeders, Mayor Henry Law received a summons for speeding 43 miles an hour. The mayor received a suspended sentence.

Lutheran Council Defer Action On Teacher Election

ORANGE, July 16.—Owing to the fact that a quorum was not present at the meeting of the voting members of the St. John's Lutheran church held at the Walker Memorial hall last night, selection of a new teacher for the parochial school was deferred until next Tuesday evening when members of the congregation will meet at the same time and place.

A number of applications for the position have been received and a selection is to be made from this list. It is planned that a map teacher will be the new member of the staff which is being added as the attendance of the school has been steadily increasing each year.

The new school was dedicated July 14, 1929, about a year ago. William Betterman is principal and occupied this position for the past 25 years. The school was built at a cost of $40,000.

700 MILES IN DORY

NEW YORK, July 16.—Entirely by dead reckoning and in a small dory, Eric Johnson, 21, and Florence Smith, young graduate of the University of Maine, recently arrived here after a 700-mile trip from Bermuda. The boat, a home-built affair, weathered a severe storm two days out of Bermuda. The girl handled the wheel during a spell of sea-sickness Johnson suffered.

ROTARY HEARS TALK ON CHILE BY COL. TUPPER

Chile is the most progressive and is making greater advances than any of the group of countries forming South America, according to Col. W. S. Tupper, lecturer, who spoke yesterday at the meeting of the Rotary club.

The progress being made by that country is due to the fact that the younger generations have been relieved of shackles in the form of Spanish traditions that handicapped their ancestor in progressive development of the nation—traditions, the speaker said, that still are strangling Spain.

Col. Tupper commented on the various products of the country, the habits of the people, the facilities for travel, hotel accommodations and various conditions that form a stable community.

Living costs, he asserted, are cheaper than in any of the South American countries, and are very low as compared with costs in the United States. He explained that this is due to the fact that services involved in the preparations of foods are furnished at a wage that Americans could not consider.

He recited an instance where he had fruit delivered to his room every morning for a period of 10 days, and received a bill for 85 cents.

Pointing out that thousands of old maids are being supported by relatives because they had failed to marry the old custom of parents making selections of husbands, the speaker said that the younger women of today are exerting their independence and are making their own choice. They also are entering business activities, an action that formerly was considered disgraceful.

Commenting on the point that nitrate and copper were the chief of Chile, Col Tupper said that three-fourths of the nitrate used in the world formerly was shipped from that country, but that exportations today were only one-fourth of the consumption, the result of production of artifical nitratesby the various countries.

Thomas Richards, a new Rotarian, presided for the first time over the club program. He introduced Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Edwards, of Hollywood, in a group of songs.

BOLSA

Normand Ross, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ross is confined at his home with a broken left leg as a result of falling a short distance while at play with the other children at his home. The break is in the larger leg bone about half way between the ankle and knee. Just 13 months ago, Normand broke his right leg.

Mrs. Sarah Gardner, who has been confined to the home of her son, Earl Gardner, for weeks while recuperating from severe burns is steadily improving and on Tuesday afternoon returned to her home. The burns have not completely healed but she is able to use the limb in a limited amount of walking.

Mrs. Glade Fuller, who underwent a major operation of serious nature Thursday of last week at the Santa Ana Valley hospital passed her first restful night Sunday night, and is now reported as improving satisfactorily.

The new dairy barn which Frank Walker is erecting on his ranch is about one-half completed. The barn is being built for the accommodation of 50 cows but Walker expects to put in but 25 when he opens the dairy. He is now buying up his herd and hopes to be in operation by August 1.

REBEKAHS AND ODDFELLOWS INSTALL HEADS

ANAHEIM, July 16.—Before an audience of 300 people officers of the Independent Order of the Odd Fellows Lodge No. 199 and of the Rebekah Lodge No. 268 were formally installed at a beautiful and impressive double installation held at the Odd Fellows hall last night.

The installation was put on by the installing team of the Ruby Rebekah lodge of Orange with Mrs. Fannie Barker, district deputy president, and Mrs. Mary Edwards, grand marshal acting jointly with District Deputy Grand Master Clayton L Allen and District Deputy Grand Marshal Charles A. Ahlstrom of Anaheim lodge.

The work was done in a most creditable manner and presented a beautiful picture. Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Barker were beautifully gowned in orchid satin and the team all in green satin with arm bouquets of gay blossoms with the male members of the group dressed in white trousers and dark coats created a lovely ensemble. The incoming officers were gowned in pastel shades and in white trousers and dark coats.

Officers elected were Mrs. Blanche Nelson and Charles Triplett, noble grands; Mrs. Mabel Clark and John O. Clark, vice grands; Mrs. Lola Compton and E. B. Johnson, recording secretaries; Mrs. Elsie Worth and Harold Bircher, financial secretaries, and Mrs. Lizzie Nyler and George Tanner, treasurers.

Subordinate officers appointed last night by the newly installed Noble Grand Charles Triplett were C. A. Meyers, warden; R. D. Richardson, conductor; Charles Ahlstrom, chaplain; L. E. Hall, right scene supporter; A. B. Scutt, left scene supporter; Clarence Rains, right supporter of vice grand, and E. F. McGivens, left supporter of vice grand. Appointed by Grand Matron Blanche Nelson of the Rebekahs were Dorothea Harvey, warden; Iphagenia Grow, conductress; Mabel Ives, chaplain; Estella L. Grey, musician; Ida Tipton, R. S. N. G.; Emma Huntoon, L. S. N. G.; Eva Scutt, indoor guardian; Dolly Johnson, outside guardian, and Alma Pressel and Adela Howard, altar supporters.

The two installing teams of Ruby Rebekah Lodge No. 52 of Orange and I. O. O. F. No. 199 of Anaheim are the official installing teams for district No. 50 and have already seated officers in many of the lodges of the district. I. O. O. F. district deputies will install at Orange and on July 28 there will be held a double installation ceremony at Brea.

Refreshments were served to the guests following the ceremonies of last night.

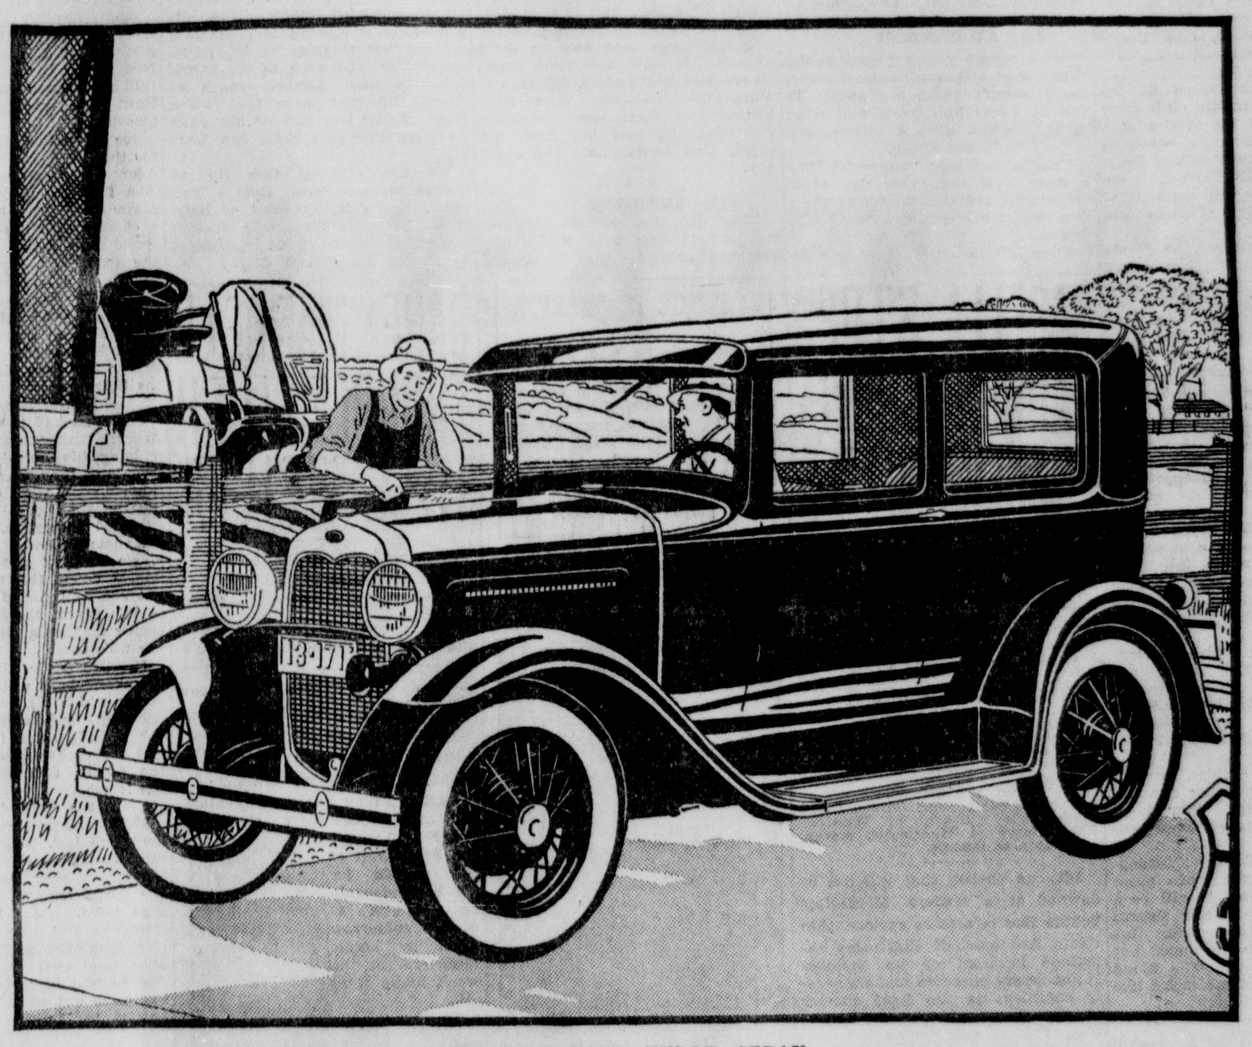
GOOD PERFORMANCE



THE NEW FORD TUDOR SEDAN

YOU are buying proved performance when you buy a Ford. You know it has been built for many thousands of miles of satisfactory, economical service.

Letters from users in every part of the world show the value of its sound design, good materials and accuracy in manufacturing. You sense a feeling of sincere pride in the oft-repeated phrase—"Let me tell you what my new Ford did."

Further tribute to the sturdiness, reliability and general all-round performance of the new Ford is shown in the repeated and growing purchases by government bureaus, by police departments, and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most cases, the new Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests covering speed and power, safety, comfort, ease of control, oil and gas consumption, low yearly depreciation, and low cost of up-keep.

They have found, as you will find, that the Ford embodies every feature you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

STARS TRIM ACORNS, 6-4

Macias, Moreno On Fight Card

OLD FAVORITES HEAD PROGRAM HERE THURSDAY

"Wild Man" Macias, Tony Moreno and Mickey Thomas, all Delhi favorites, return to the fistic swim after varying absences—in Moreno's case six months.

Macias heads the weekly program. He goes against Jack (Kid) Allen of Havana, welterweight champion of Cuba. The distance will be ten rounds, the weights 150 pounds.

Moreno battles Jess Gabucco, one of the few men ever to keep the popular little Placentian in the slag 10 seconds. They will go six rounds.

Here's Rest of Card

The rest of the card is Cliff Burrier vs. Frankie Hirsch, 133 pounds, four rounds, and Denny Stinson vs. "Bud" Austin, 160 pounds, four rounds.

Macias has not shown at the Orange County Athletic club since the night he was the victim of a tremendously unpopular decision after a bout with Frankie Bray. The referee, Bill Ferrier, gave Bray the decision although most of the bugs thought Macias had the edge.

This verdict shattered the Mexican star's brilliant winning streak which saw him knock out such good welters as "Bucky" O'Brien, Art Butler, Young Jack Sharkey, Waler Peterson, Young Joe Walcott (twice), Sid Gregory, Billy Clark and "Boilermaker" Jimmy Jones. During this run of success he lost to Bert Wagner on a foul, to Marty Mack and Joe Contreras on points and to Zenaydo Chavez by a knockout.

Allen Entitled to Respect

Macias may have his record further fractured tomorrow.

Jack Allen's bauble as champion of Cuba may not mean anything here but it is hard to laugh off a competitive record such as Promoter H. T. Foust has produced for the fellow. His past entitles him to respect.

Allen has beaten such American fighters as Leonard Allen and Johnny Spencer (since arriving in Southern California) and Alphonse Gonzales, Joe Schlocker, Tommy White, Clyde Hull and Duke Krammel.

Macias fought Allen in Las Vegas, Nev., a few weeks ago and got a draw with him. They figure to go postward here an even proposition.

Many fans think the Moreno-Gabucco scrap is the main event of the card. Certainly it will be a fight for blood and hardly figures to go the full six rounds. Gabucco stopped Moreno once, but the sturdy Indian with the blond hair and the wop name looks like the better man.

HOOKS and SLIDES

by William Braucher

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Frank Higgins, rah rah lad from Texas university, doesn't look half bad at third for the A's . . . one guy who needs a friend is Harry Sully, tour manager for Primo Carnera, when the Alp starts climbing into an upper berth in a Pullman . . . heavy, heavy hangs over Harry's head . . . after three chances, Sid Terrie may be convinced now that Pete Nebo is a fighter he can't lick . . . Pete is an Indian, by the way, though you certainly can't call him a vanishing American . . . the meight of unemployment would be a job as caddy on a Tom Thumb golf course . . . referees hold divided opinions over enforcement of the new no-foul rule in N'Yawk . . . some of 'em are going about asking just how you are going to tell a crowd there ain't no more fouls after the boys have just seen one occur.

AT RANDOM

In a recent game between the White Sox and St. Louis Browns, there weren't quite 500 people in the St. Louis ball park, and none of them could give a satisfactory reason for being there.

The Chicago man who went into a deep coma the other day after drinking a sleeping potion probably was just another stricken White Sox fan.

They call the method of wagering on horses in Ohio the "contribution system." Well, aren't they all "contribution systems"? Echo ansyers yes, when you bet them on the nose and they run second.

* * *

PHILANTHROPISTS?

The Minneapolis bookmakers who gave 7 to 5 on Bobby Jones certainly were one big-hearted bunch of well wishers.

Joe McCarthy refused to discuss the status of Rogers Hornsby the other day in Boston, but it is a pretty safe bet, I understand, that the Rajah will play no more baseball for the Chicago Cubs.

If the Cubs win the National league pennant, they will have a better infield than the American league winner, unless Washington happens to cop. As now composed the infield consists of Grimm, Blair, English and Beck.

While talking about infields, do not overlook the sprightly combination of Sisler, Maguire, Maranville and Chatham. Maguire batted .252 last year, but he's up there around .300 now and looks good. These two old people, Sisler and Maranville, however, have been hitting 'em from town to town. Chatham, the new boy from the coast, was hitting .333 the other day.

* * *

SMART TOO

They call the Boston Braves' manager "Lucky Bill" McKechnie. He won pennants for Pittsburgh and St. Louis. All first division teams in the National league, please take notice. The bean-gaglers are knocking right on the door, and viciously.

Young Stribling is going to have both hands plumb full when he enters the ring against Phalling Phil Scott. And he will not nail him to the canvass with a left hook in round one. Laugh if you care to, Phil Scott knows exactly how to catch a left hook with his elbow, and you can't knock out a man by hitting him on the elbow.

"HIT ME ON THE CHIN"

Wilbert Robinson quit baseball years and years ago and opened up a butcher shop in Baltimore, but John Joseph McGraw lured him back to the game to coach. The pob of managing the Brooklyn ball club was offered to Hughey Jennings in 1919, but Hughey couldn't get away from Detroit so he recommended Robbie. Now Mr. Robinson is giving Mr. McGraw nothing but trouble for his pains in bringing him back to the game.

We are offering this tip to George Simpson free. George, you know, has a bushy head of hair. When he races next, why doesn't he cut down the wind resistance by having its slicked down?

Friday's Schedule

Like an upstart that will not be downed or a modern Mississippi bubble that refuses to explode, that Santa Ana baseball club today remained in front of its National Night league pursuers and eminently confident as the final quarter of the championship race, beginning Friday, approaches

There was nothing surprising about last night's doings about the league wheel, unless you could call La Habra's 11 to 1 triumph over the Garden Grove Peppers an upset.

Certainly a closer and better game was expected from the Peppers who played listless ball afield and failed to disturb the serenity of Chico Sabella, La Habra's crack submariner, who just breezed through to victory after his mates banged out a seven-run lead in the first frame. Sabella fanned 13, hit a homer and a double to aid his own cause.

Robinson, ex-Long Beach relief pitcher, went the route for Garden Grove. He was ineffective.

PRICE IS STEEP

Although he has been in professional baseball less than three months, Harry Rosenberg, hard-hitting outfielder for the Missions, was recently sold to the New York Giants. "Rosy" brought $25,000 and a couple of other players and this before he had played 60 games.

PIPING 'EM OFF

O-o-o-oh! Br-r-r-r! What a ball game And WHAT-A-MAN, that fellow Wayne Nelson.

* * *

There may be another ball game just as tough. Friday night. The Olive Packers come to the Bowl and if you don't think they are tough and troublesome—think back on the Santa Ana-Olive games this term. Two wins for Olive; one, 4-3, pulled out of the fire in the ninth, for Santa Ana.

* * *

Leavitt Daley got credit for a trick assist in the second inning when Bob Dalton poked a "blooper" back of second base. Daley and Nelson both went after it, collided. The ball hit Daley's shoulder but Nelson made the catch—and got the putout on a play that read Daley to Nelson,

BARE MANDELL TROUBLE WITH TITLE WEIGHT

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I.N.S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 16.—Sometimes an innocent set of scales—inanimate and gulleless to the eye, but arrogant in its judgments and, as the death notice, final—can look the part of a gallows. Often the tape measure is a hangman's noose and the glass of water a nectar, brewed by the medici.

Anyhow, they say Sammy Mandell, the lightweight champion, either will make the class limit of 135 pounds for his championship fight with Al Singer tomorrow night by heroic measures or he won't make it at all.

Sammy Mandell

They say the spectre of forfeiture on the scales is mocking his thoughts and deriding his sleep. They say the closest decision ever rendered for or against him will be handed down at the official weighing-in at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Thus, he would seem to be undergoing the grim ordeal that so often has overtaken champions in the past. Gans, for example, left his life on the scales at Goldfield.

Mandell weighed 137½ pounds less than three days ago and this would have been quite as it should be except for one thing. The extra weight, they say, represents the "case" two pounds, meaning that there just isn't any more. After these are chivvied away, it seems, the only thing left for the man to take off will be his shoes before going to bed.

So Singer will probably go in at fairly long odds tomorrow night, it being apparent that New York has finally caught up with Chicago in the supposed developments of its own fight. Chicago, which thinks it knows all about Mandell, is picking Singer. Previously, New York, which knows all there is to know about Singer, had been picking Mandell. That made the one in the middle a sure winner and sustained, in toto, the credo that a prophet is not without hope, except in his own country.

At that, it may be that they got smart just in time to be wrong. This Singer is only a fair fighter, even when good. He isn't the man that Mandell was two years ago, and probably never will be. He hasn't Samuel's ring sense, which is something that can be acquired, and I suspect that he hasn't Samuel's courage, which is something that can't.

But, of course, he still could beat a fighter who can't fight any more and, since this is the guise in which a lot of people now profess to see Mandell, perhaps the matter is ordained.

NELSON BLASTS HOMER, DOUBLE IN HERO ROLE

Sages of the sport say there isn't much to baseball except throwing a ball—and hitting it.

Santa Ana realized today as never before the importance of the hitting half of such philosophy.

"Walloping Wayne" Nelson gave a personally-conducted lesson in the art down in the Bowl last night when he bludgeoned the Stars to a 6 to 4 victory over Long Beach, keeping Santa Ana two games in front of its hottest National league adversaries.

Painting a masterpiece of how—and when—to hit a ball, the silent Swede hit a home run with two aboard in the fourth inning and then doubled with two on in the eighth, scoring later himself.

Field Day For Nelson

Single-handed he defeated a team great enough to win the 1929 championship of the league and be a front flight contender this.

It has been a long time since the Bowl has known such inspired clouting.

Joe Cornelius was on the knoll for the Stars, Bobby Dalton for the Acorns. Herb Salveson, the Santa Ana field general, wanted to save his ace for Olive but couldn't take a chance with the visitors blasting torrid line drives to all parts of the park and always threatening to win. Cornelius allowed only eight hits but has been hit no harder all year. Brilliant support saved him on several occasions, as it did Dalton who also was hit harder than the eight hits granted the Stars might indicate.

Kohler Bags Homer

Maness followed with a sharp single into left and Ballard with a double down the third base line, but Joe Bell fouled out to Hunter in this clinch, the Santa Ana third sacker making a nice catch against the wire fence.

Merrill's triple with two away in the Stars' half, a line drive to left center which Ballard held to three bases by a spectacular stop and underhand flip as he fell, was wasted and the clubs traveled along with the Acorns still ahead, 1-0, until the fourth.

Acorn Rally Nets Run

Maness opened this heat with a double to left. Ballard popped another double to the same field, but Maness, fearing Bell would catch the Texas leaguer, got no farther than third. Joe Bell popped to Cornelius and was safe when the pitcher muffed it, filling the bases with none out. Cornelius looked like he was in for a load of grief but came out of it nicely. Mann hoisted to Daley and Landreth forced Maness at the plate, Hunter to Wilcox, the latter's return to Hunter just missing a double play. Dalton beat out a high hopper to Hill, however, and Ballard scored. Davis popped out.

Enjoying the sensation of their 2-0 advantage over the league-leaders, the Acorns hardly were prepared for what followed with such startling abruptness.

Daley was first up in the last half of the "fatal fourth" and worked Dalton for a walk. Merrill beat out an infield hit to Elliott. Nelson promptly emptied the hassocks with a terrific drive down the right field foul line—a home run in any man's league. Joe Bell, the Acorn patrolman in that sector, chased the well-kissed marble to the very top of the right field bank but didn't have a Chinaman's chance of shutting off the fleet and hard-hitting Swede.

Nelson Breaks Lose Again

It was ding dong baseball from this point until the last of the eighth both pitchers settling down, staying ahead of the hitters.

But fury—and Nelson — broke loose again in the eighth.

Daley started it with a single to left. Merrill, trying to sacrifice, beat out a bunt and Daley went clear to third when Kohler's late

GALLANT FOX NOT TO RUN IN ARLINGTON CUP

NEW YORK, July 16.—Gallant Fox, champion three-year-old, will be given a let-up in his strenuous racing campaign and will not start in the Arlington cup at Chicago Saturday, Trainer James Fitzsimmons said today.

Gallant Fox is in first class condition, Fitzsimmons told the United Press, deprecating reports that the horse had grown sulky and was staling off.

"He has had a long campaign," Fitzsimmons explained "and every horse has to have a rest at times. He has been in steady training rince last March.

"We probably will ship him from Chicago to Saratoga Saturday. His first race there probably will be in the Travers, Aug. 16, which will get him a month's let-up."

WESTMINSTER WINS FROM WHITTIER, 5-4

Westminster cleared another large obstacle in its paths toward the Orange County "B" league baseball championship when it nosed out Whittier, 5 to 4, at Whittier last night.

Starkey's single, Penhall's triple and DeBusk's sacrifice in the seventh gave the Aviators their tying and winning tallies. They made their others in the fourth when Bill Gardner hit a homer with Clemmens and Davis on base.

Whittier got a run in the second and three in the fifth.

West minster, tied with Santa Ana for first place in the "B" circuit, plays Olive at Westminster tomorrow night. The score:

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

I am going to give the Orange County Athletic club's promoter and matchmaker, Henry Trignometry Foust, a chance to do some broadcasting today.

Herr Foust is entitled to the space, first, because he is a good guy and, second, because he occupies an important place in the local sports whirl and his words carry weight.

He has lots of things—dope, gossip and facts—to get off his chest. I quote him on salient and important features of his broadcast:

"First I desire to comment on statements that the Orange County Athletic club is to link itself with an American Legion post.

"As far as I know there is nothing to them, and owning the arena I guess I ought to know.

"Nobody has ever approached me relative to such a hook-up.

"I am ready to sell the club whenever financially responsible parties meet my terms.

"Boxing, like business in general, is in a depressed condition but it has held up surprisingly well in Orange county, better comparatively than anywhere else.

"I think the situation will be better in the fall.

"One of the best fights I ever saw in my life was the rematch at San Bernardino last night between Milford Berglund and Johnny DeCorsey, middleweights. Fans here will remember that DeCorsey unexpectedly knocked out Berglund at Delhi a few weeks ago.

"In the rematch the boys slugged toe to toe for eight rounds, Berglund getting the decision. DeCorsey dropped the Swede for a short count in the fourth, however.

"It was terribly hot in San Bernardino yesterday, the thermometer reading 108.

"DeCorsey lost 9½ pounds. He weighed 152 when he got to town the day before the fight, 142½ immediately after the bout.

"Both boys were completely exhausted at the finish.

"I hope I never have to promote another bout in such weather.

"Joe Reese looked like a champion beating Salior Jimmy Roberts in the semi-mindup. It was close, at that, both boys scoring knockdowns.

NELSON BLASTS HOMER, DOUBLE AS STARS WIN

throw hit Merrill in the back. The latter took a base unmolested and scored back of Daley when Nelson doubled past second. "Walloping Wayne" raced to third on Youel's safe bunt and home after Bell's fly to short right, being safe when Maness dropped Davis' throw-in. Youel got to third in the confusion, which grew worse when Bill Hunter poled a long fly to deep left.

Mann's Catch Is Classic

Thinking no earthly mortal had a chance to corral such a drive which was far over Mann's head, Youel started for home. But Mann overhauled the ball, made a spectacular catch—one of the greatest ever seen in the Bowl—and Youel had to scamper back to his retreat. He was called out an instant later for allegedly leaving the base while Dalton had the ball in the pitcher's box.

Just to make the game even more wild-west, the Acorns put on a dying flourish in the ninth. The brief rally was as sudden and unexpected as Santa Ana's in the fourth. With one out, the Stars leading, 6-2, and the fans pouring out of the park, Dalton got a life on Daley's error. He took second on Davis' sacrifice fly to Merrill. Elliott then blasted a long fly which fell just inside the left field line. Randolph Bell made a quick recovery and his relay via Hill retired Elliott, trying for a homer, but Wilcox dropped the ball and Elliott's run counted and made the score, 6-4.

Cornelius then fanned Kohler to end the agony.

* * *

The Acorns are hustling and fighting to win ball games these days. Now it is easy to understand why they have remained in the race despite injuries and other handicaps. Mann and Ballard are flyhawks and Balaird and Maness are two of the best stickers in night baseball. The addition of Davis has pepped up the infield too.

* * *

"Rosy" Merrill continues to get his base knocks. He hit three for four last night—one a triple that would have been a homer but for a spectacular play by Ballard, one a slow infield bouncer, one a bunt.

* * *

John Lutz is back home. The tall first baseman, with Orange earlier in the campaign, has signed a Star contract and will be with the team as general handy-andy the rest of the season. He can play the outfield as well as the first bag—and he can hit. The Stars have been in need of a reserve outfielder since Orv Schuchardt left the ranks.

* * *

Stoner and Watson, graduated from the Orange County "B" league, umpired their first game in the Bowl. They had plenty of tough ones to call but got away nicely, particularly Stoner, who toiled behind the plate.

* * *

One of the largest crowds of the season was in the stands. Long Beach, beginning to follow the Acorns again, sent a small but noisy delegation. The warm weather undoubtedly helped swell the attendance too.

* * *

Odie Maness is just one of those good natural hitters. When they get him out it is worth a celebration in the enemy dugout. Yet he is punishing National league pitching for a season average of only .284, according to Dick Zehms, titian-locked night ball operative for the Long Beach Press-Telegram.

* * *

Poor Bill Hunter didn't even get a sacrifice out of one of the hardest hit balls of the season. Hunter's terrific drive which Mann pulled down over his shoulder at the base of the left field bank in the eighth inning was converted into a "double play" when Youel, who was on third and neglected to score after the catch, was called out for leaving third base too soon.

* * *

* * *

KENNEDY OUTPOINTS BAER; CHAVEZ LOSES

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—The memory of many solid body blows remained today with Max Bear, rising young German heavyweight, who unexpectedly lost a 10-round decision last night to Les Kennedy of Long Beach.

Kennedy, greatly underestimated, took seven rounds in decisive fashion. The second and fourth were called even and the sixth was given to Max.

"I intend to ask for Bob White, Jack McDonald and Steve Nyland here. They have 'gotten over' with our crowds better than the other third men.

"I think the Jack Allen-"Wild Man" Macias bout here tomorrow should be one of the best in our history.

"Allen's pugilistic past was subjected to a searching investigation before we agreed to use him.

"We had so much bad luck with 'big time' headliners for a time that we announced several months ago we would personally scrutinize the record of all new fighters appearing at our arena.

"What was found out about Allen surprised us all that Macias was abue to hold Allen to a draw when they fought at Las Vegas, Nev., a few weeks ago."

CRESS WINS FIFTH VICTORY ON COURTS

Johnny Cress, former city tennis champion, scored his fifth successive victory in the Santa Ana playground round-robin tournament when he took a straight sets match from Eddie West, 614, 6-1, on the high school courts yesterday. Earl Waycott, standing third in the play, won from W. Maxwell Burke, 6-1, 7-5.

Other results:

Class D—Lecil Slaback defeated Harry Motley, 6-3, 6-4; Lecil Slaback defeated John Davis, 6-1, 6-4.

Merle Ewell, tournament director, announced that mixed doubles will start a week from today. He said entries could be made at Hawleys sporting goods store.

TENNIS QUEEN DUE AT HOME SATURDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—(INS) — Frederick S. Moody, broker-husband of Helen Wills Moody, world's tennis champion, admitted today he was busy "tidying up" their apartment at 1130 Sacramento street. Queen Helen was to leave New York today and arrive home Saturday or Sunday.

"She's bringing home a lot of furniture and doo-dads from Paris," Moody said, "and I can't let her see the place looking like this. She wouldn't tell me just when she was arriving but I expect her Saturday or Sunday. We had a nice talk over long distance telephone—and I had a wire from her before that. We haven't seen each other for more than three months."

LITTLE STORIES OF FAST SUCCESSES
[NO. 6] MARILYN MILLER

From her grandmother's cellar . . . to Ziegfeld's Roof . . . in just the twinkle of a toe. She really was the "Sally"—of the alley called Broadway.

How explain the miracle of Marilyn's success? . . . Nature simply blessed her with a charm all her own.

And that's the only answer to another young star's rise. OLD GOLD made its bow just 4 years ago. In a month it was popular. In a year a headliner. Today it's America's fastest growing cigarette. Nature again! Sun-drenched heart-leaves from better tobaccos. A new taste-thrill for jaded palates. A new throat-ease and freedom from coughs.

●● It was characteristic of De Soto engineers that even while the famous De Soto Six was enjoying unprecedented popularity—in fact, setting a sales record for a first-year car—they were working to improve it. And it was characteristic of De Soto manufacturing genius that factory efficiency kept pace with engineering advances. As a result, the finer De Soto Six—a better car at a lower price—is so able in performance, so attractive in appearance and so economical in operation and maintenance that it not only outstrips everything in its price class today, but anticipates the future.

New Book On Orange County History Appears Today

IS TRIUMPH OF CREATIVE WORK AND PRINTING

Representing an artistic achievement, both in respect to printing and content, a new book on Orange county history, containing much hitherto unpublished material, made its appearance in Santa Ana today.

"Caminos Viejos," meaning Old Roads, is the title of the volume written by Postmaster T. E. Stephenson, and published in the Santa Ana High school print shop under the direction of T. E. Williams, head of the printing department of the high school and junior college.

Beautifully bound in leather and containing numerous attractive wood cuts and photographs, the book is a triumph of the printer's art and the author's creative ability, and represents the culmination of a long cherished desire on the part of Stephenson and Williams.

To the public it gives an authentic and interesting account of important events connected with the county's history.

The purpose of the book is explained in forewords by the printer and the writer:

"The printer, for some time, has planned that the printing department of the Santa Ana schools, of which department he is head, should get out an especially fine bit of printing from the publisher's point of view. The writer, for some years, has felt that efforts should be put forth to put into permanent form all available material concerning the history of the county. The desire of the printer and the hope of the writer are jointly responsible for this volume."

Since Stephenson and Williams did not care to make a commercial venture of the project, it was decided to limit the sales edition to 250 copies, with the hope that the proceeds would leave something above actual cost of publication so that the student loan fund of the Santa Ana Junior college might profit thereby.

Stephenson pointed out today that the book is not intended to be a comprehensive history of Orange county. A number of subjects that could well be grouped under the heading, "Caminos Viejos," meaning Old Roads, were selected. Six chapters in all are presented. The first of these is 'On Portola's Trail," and it has to do with the first journey of white men through what is now Orange county. The route followed by the old Spanish explorer, Don Gaspar Portola, through Christianitos canyon, where the first Christian baptisms in California occurred, through El Toro, across the Santa Ana valley and over the hills at Whittier, is traced carefully by Stephenson, following in detail the diaries of Father Crespi, of the engineer, Miguel Costanso, and of Portola.

A second chapter is declared by those interested in the history of the county to be the first attempt, at least for publication, to trace the arrival of the first settlers in Orange county. According to 'Caminos Viejos," the first abode built in Orange county, aside from those under mission control, was built by Don Pablo Grijalva, a famous soldier and explorer of the earliest mission days, on the point of a hill between El Modena and Villa Park. Grijalva was the father-in-law of Don Jose Antonio Forba and the uncle of Don Pablo Peralta, to whom the first land grant in the county was made. The book traces the story of the Forbas down from Don Jose's time to the division of the Rancho San-Iiaho De Santa Ana in the '60s.

"The March to Conquest" is the title of the third chapter. In it full credit, for the first time in written history, is given to the highly valuable service rendered the American army under Commodore Stockton and General Kearney, in 1847, by Don Juan Forster, the first of the well known family of that name to come to this county. Stephenson credits Forster with having saved the Americans from ambush and possible annihilation.

The story of Juan Flores, the bandit, who led a crew of bloodthirsty desperadoes in 1857, is told

ORIGINAL TREE SITTER

Folks, meet the boy who started the tree sitting craze. Ten-year-old Jimmie Clemons, below, who won renown and also $13.67 prize money contributed by friends and neighbors in Racine, Wis., when he stuck it out for 34 hours and 13 minutes in his backyard. The Chicago endurance flyers gave him the idea. Above is Jimmie in his leafy perch and, left, Jimmie's "refueling crew" hoisting soda pop and sandwiches to him by means of the family clothesline, which was borrowed for the purpose.

SCIENTISTS EXPLAINS REASONS FOR TREE SITTING MARATHONS AS CRAZE SWEEPS MIDDLE WEST

CHICAGO, July 16.—(UP)—Why boys—and girls, too—climb trees and just sit there instead of playing baseball or going swimming these summer days was explained today by Prof. H. C. Coffman, psychologist at Northwestern university, as a desire to emulate the famous Hunter brothers and Shipwreck Kelly.

The lure of fame that drove John and Kenneth Hunter to fly their monoplane for 553 hours and Kelly to perch atop flagpoles, also induced scores of boys and girls to leave their swimming holes and dolls to sit for hours and even days in the boughs of midwestern trees for a mythical title that has no national sanction and certainly none in parental circles.

"Three factors," Prof. Coffman said, "are responsible. First intensity, then recency, and third imitation."

"The first is caused by the large number of 'marathons,'" Prof. Coffman said. "The Hunter brothers broke the airplane record. A dance marathon has been going on more than 2000 hours and shows no sign of stopping. Alvin Kelly has been atop an Atlantic City flagpole for 25 days. The interest naturally incites the boys.

"Second, these 'marathons' have come almost at once, which inspires boys to endurance feats, and sitting in trees is about as high in the air as they can get.

It was less than two weeks ago that Jimmy Clemons of Racine, Wis., began the tree sitting craze when he started in fun to sit for a few hours, was encouraged by his playmates and remained up a day and a half to become the original tree sitting champion.

Today the endurance fad had spread from Michigan to Texas. In Chicago, a boy was riding a bicycle round and round a block with the promise he would continue "until the bicycle wears out." Three small children started a swinging contest here but gave it up after a few hours.

The claim of Jack Richards, 14, Kansas City, that he had been tree sitting longer than anybody else was not disputed, but in scores of trees there were boys and girls who were not many hours behind him.

Jack passed the 140 hour mark today and received the world's tribute when news reel cameramen visited him.

At Dallas, Texas, a five-year-old tree sitter, A. Ross "Sonny" Frank jr., climbed today into a three-foot Chinaberry tree, sat awhile, then fell out. His mother said she was sorry he came down, because while he was in the tree she knew where to find him. He was not injured in the forced landing.

David Hogan of Minneapolis, had settled his ground troubles today and withdrew his announcement that he would come down Saturday. Up more than 100 hours, David was told he must come down at the end of a week for a bath. His playmates settled the question with David's mother by sending him a bucket of water and promising to do so regularly.

PLAN WEATHER BUREAU CONFAB IN SANTA ANA

If present indications are interpreted rightly, Santa Ana soon may boast its own authorized weather bureau, providing several details that have blocked the project thus far, are successfully ironed out. This much was assured today by George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, who announced that a meeting of the committee in charge of the enterprise will be held Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

At this session, it was indicated, the need of such a bureau will be stressed and, inasmuch as it previously was announced that students of the Santa Ana Junior college would offer their services in conjunction with the operation of the station, the overhead or cost of maintenance would be reduced to a minimum, it is said.

The only weather bureau now in existence in Orange county is that located at Orange. This station has served more or less as a frost bureau and is not equipped to detect important weather changes. Up until the present time, the various Farm centers have relied chiefly upon the daily reports emitting from the bureau at Los Angeles. Even to the most inexperienced farmer, it is quite evident that this method is unstable and certainly most unsatisfactory, it was pointed out.

The station proposed by the local Chamber of Commerce would be government tested and, due to its location, would be prepared to furnish the farmers with up to the minute weather notices.

SANITARIUM GIVEN PRAISE BY STATE

The county board of supervisors received a letter from the state health department yesterday commending very highly the work of the tuberculosis sanitarium in the county and congratulating the county on the work that is being accomplished at this health center.

The letter called particular attention to some cases that were resulting in the saving of life and to the splendid co-operation of the county hospital. The state department of health urged that the members of the board visit the sanitarium and become better acquainted with the fine work that is being accomplished.

FIND OBSTACLE TO PUBLISHING SCHOOL BUDGET

An obstacle in the path of the resolution ordered at the session of the board of supervisors last week providing for publication of a statement of school expenses and budgets for all school districts in the country, developed at the afternoon session of the board yesterday when a conflict in interpretation of the law was disclosed between county officials. As a result the board will not adopt the resolution naming the newspapers in which the statements are to run until the matter has been settled.

The law, which was contained in the new school code adopted by the last legislature, provides that "on or before August 1, each year the governing board of each school district must prepare and keep on file a statement of all receipts and expenditures for the preceding year and an estimate of expenses for the ensuing year. The law also provides that a statement shall be published by the board of supervisors for all districts that have not issued and circulated the statement in pamphlet form.

The conflict of opinion was between County Auditor W. C. Jerome and Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton and concerned the manner of securing the data necessary for the statement and what should be included. Menton took the position that the board could have the county superintendent of schools prepare the statement and Jerome must make the statement in order to comply with the law and that he would refuse to pass the warrants for payment of the publication unless the governing boards made statements. The law was characterized by Jerome as impractical and practically unworkable.

Members of the board of supervisors made several suggestions for reaching a solution of the difficulty, including adoption of the resolution, but making the publication of the statements subject to the approval of the district attorney and the auditor. Another solution suggested was that the board would have no authority in the matter until furnished with the statements by the school district governing bodies, which did not issue the statement in pamphlet form, and that it then would be the duty of the supervisors to order the publication.

Decision on the matter was delayed until next week, an in the meantime additional information is to be secured on the subject from the state superintendent of public instruction and the atorney general.

The matter came up before the board last week on a recommendation from the Orange county association of weekly newspaper publishers, who called attention of the law to the board and requested that steps be taken authorizing the publication of such statements in Orange county. Frank Rospaw, of Placentia, and George Scherck, of San Clemente, appeared before the board at that time in connection with the proposal.

She Revamps Mother Goose Into Modern Nonsense

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT

Since it is nonsense to admit to feeling warm or all hot and bothered—what better way could one ask of keeping cool than to write nonsense verse?

But how to go about writing nonsense verse when you're hot to begin with and the news room is sizzling with the rush of a busy day?

Huh! That's easy. Just start in with Mother Goose. That's nonsensical enough for anyone. And don't forget that "A little nonsense now and then, is relished by the hottest men."

Let me see. "Old Mother Goose, when she wanted to wander—" Eureka! or words to that effect, I have it!

"Arthur Mometer wanter to wander,
So he started to climb away up yonder.
He climbed to the highest spot in the town
Then Arthur Mometer dropped back down."

Or maybe you recall the immortal Jack.

Little Jack Horner
Sat in a corner
In the blast from a rotating fan.
He stuck in his thumb
When he heard the thing hum,
And now he is minus a han'.

Then you remember "The man in our town who was so very wise."

Well, there was another who wasn't quite so knowing.

There was a man in our town
(Each city boasts a few)
Who voiced the old greeting
"Is it hot enough for you?"
And when the ambulance was called
To pick up his remains
They couldn't find a trace of him
But perspiration stains.

Hippity hippity hop.
The mercury ran to the top.
The thermometer stopped
So the mercury dropped,
Hippity, hippity hop.

Crooked men are known to all of us, but probably none is better known than he who "ran a crooked mile." But what would he do in hot weather? Here's the answer. You'll note he is no longer crooked—he's changed.

There was a sunny man
And he walekd a sunny mile.
He found a sunny nickel
Against a sunny stile.
He sought the corner drug store
Where the warm sun never shone,
And spent that lonely nickel
For a cooling ice cream cone.

Of all our Mother Goose heroines, Little Miss Muffet is the nicest of all. But in hot weather,

Little Miss Muffet
Sat on a tuffet
Eating a pineapple ice.
Because of the heat
She didn't want meat.
But the other, I'm certain, was nice.

And finally, with a regretful glance towards the west, where the evening star will soon be shining, we would suggest—

Trickle, trickle, little sweat,
Making me gosh-awful wet.
Dewing forehead, nose and chin.
Holy smoke! The state I'm in!

PATHE SEEKING LOCATION HERE FOR WAR FILM

Another motion picture company soon may utilize the Irvine ranch near Corona Del Mar for a mammoth war production if suitable arrangements can be completed, it was indicated today by Archie Gersdorf, publicity director for Pathe Films, inc. According to tentative plans, the Pathe company will produce a picture comparable to "All Quiet on the Western Front," Universal's greatest achievement, and "Hell's Angel's," Howard Hughes' sterling epic of aerial warfare.

It was indicated that overtures had been made James Irvine jr., but to date no definite information has been vouchsafed by this source. Attempts to secure Irvine's confirmation were to no avail inasmuch as he is out of the city and will not return until early next week, according to attaches at the ranch.

Gersdorf, while not inclined to commit himself directly, hinted that the proposal had been pending for quite some time. He admitted that Pathe had been planning a war drama for many months but, due to the lack of a suitable locale, had foregone arrangements until company scouts had suggested the Irvine ranch.

These same scouts witnessed the actual shots of "All Quiet on the Western Front" and later the finished product on the screen. In view of Universal's outstanding success, it was suggested that no better site within a radius of 300 miles could be obtained. The same trenches, dugouts, stretches of carefully planned wasteland, and other "props," with the aid of a bit of camouflage easily could be reclaimed at very little expense, it was pointed out.

Guests From Denver Are Complimented By Their Hosts

A charming affair of Monday evening was the dinner party given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pique of this city, honoring Mr. Pique's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Sprigg, and family, who have been visiting here for the past few weeks, and returned to their home in Denver, Colo., via San Francisco, yesterday morning.

Only members of the family circle were present to bid adieu to the travelers and the evening hours passed all too quickly, for following the delectable dinner menu, there were many last minute topics to discuss. Mr. and Mrs. Sprigg have been the house guests of another brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Reyer, of North Broadway. During their stay here they have enjoyed various side trips, including picnics at the beach resorts and at Irvine park.

Those present Monday evening other than the honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. Sprigg, Miss Dorothy and Allan, jr., were Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Reyer, and daughter, Betty, Miss Hope McCan, and Mr. and Mrs. Pique and daughters, Olive and Charleen.

Visitors Are Honored At Bridge Club Meeting

When Mrs. E. L. McKamy entertained members of El Marten bridge club in her home, 1312 South Ross street, yesterday, she set one special guest table for bridge, in honor of her sister, Mrs. J. E. Yocam, who with her husband and small son, Joseph Edward Yocum jr., is visiting here from Wink, Texas.

Bridge was preceded by a delightful luncheon served at a long table set with rose glassware. Rose nut cups, tied with fluffy tulle bows in pastel tints, and a profusion of summer flowers in charming variety, completed the appointments, while place cards were tiny baskets of flowers in conventional design.

First prize for bridge was awarded Mrs. John Newhart, while Mrs. Tibbets Hilburn received second. They received the customary prizes which the club offers, while a special guest prize of a fluffy boudoir doll, attired in rainbow colors, was awarded Mrs. H. M. Spears.

Members present in addition to the hostess, Mrs. E. L. McKamy, were Mesdames Blaine Huntoon, C. P. Tompkins, John Newhart, Herman Jobst, and Ben Herr, all of Anaheim; Mrs. Tibbets Hillburn, of Long Beach; Mrs. Reginald Barker of Tustin; and the guests, Mrs. J. E. Yocam, of Wink, Texas; Mrs. Roy Lyons of Panorama Heights; Mrs. E. C. Kendrick of Anaheim, and Mrs. H. M. Spears of Santa Ana.

Happy Celebration of Silver Wedding Is Surprise Event

In these modern times, a silver wedding anniversary is truly an event, but when it is observed with an elaborate surprise party, as was that of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mead, Monday evening, it becomes a most memorable occasion. And the Misses Lolita and Nan Mead, together with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mead jr., who planned the affair, were today rejoicing that their little scheme for the success of the evening was so cleverly worked out.

The fact that Mr. and Mrs. Mead have been vacationing in Laguna Beach for a few days, simplified matters somewhat for the young hosts, and while their parents were away they made elaborate plans for the entertainment. They honored them with a charming family dinner earlier in the evening, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mead jr., in Orange, and then starting out, supposedly for a drive, they stopped at the family home on North Main street, where many friends were waiting to spend a merry evening. During the dinner in Orange, friends of the Misses Nan and Lolita Mead from Los Angeles had taken the opportunity to ply their artistic skill in the Mead home, and had created a most charming effect in silver and green, with a huge silver bell as the central figure. This group included Miss Virginia Cheap, Mrs. Frank Richmond, Gordon Richmond, and Walter McMenamy.

Bridge was played during the evening, and when scores were added it was found that Mrs. Carlson held high score for women, for which she was awarded a lovely hand-painted china bowl, and Miss E. J. Quinn held second, receiving a fancy powder jar. Men's honors were held by Charles V. Davis, who was given a beautiful card case, and second honors were held by Robert Tuthill, who was presented with a deck of cards in modernistic design. However, none of the prize-winners shared as completely in the evenings' prizes as did Mr. and Mrs. Mead themselves, for they were presented with lovely array of gifts for their anniversary.

A delightful feature of the refreshment course was the entrance of Mr. Mead sr., bearing a delicious white wedding cake, appropriately decorated, while Mrs. Albert Cheap played the wedding march. The wedding bell motif was further carried out at this time in the dainty ices, molded in charming fashion, and covered with nuts.

This hour was made especially enjoyable by lovely ballads of long ago which were sung by Mrs. Albert Cheap.

Enjoying the evening with the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Mead, and the hosts, the Misses Nan and Lolita Mead and Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Mead jr., were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tuthill, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Duckett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Metzgar, and Mr. and Mrs. Mac O. Robbins, of this city; and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cheap, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Devin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Siedler, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rodden, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Best, Miss E. J. Quinn, Mrs. Jennie Walters, Gordon Richmond and Walter McMenamy, all of Los Angeles.

Delta Alpha Teacher Gives Steak Bake At Irvine Park

Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Steward were hosts last evening at the annual steak bake of the Delta Alpha Sunday school class, of which he is the teacher. Members of the class and guests, to the number of 45 met at Irvine park at 6:30 o'clock, taking with them a variety of delicious food to supplement the juicy steaks which Mr. and Mrs. Steward were preparing.

Guests present were Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Warmer and son Charles, A. H. Theal, Mrs. A. N. Steward, who is soon to sail with her husband and family to resume their work in China; C. W. Olson and three children, Miss Margaret Bowen, Miss Daisy Williams, Mrs. Hilma Simmons and daughter Marjorie, of Kansas City; Mrs. Birdella Mankey of Detroit, Michigan, and Jesse Marroquin.

Class members present were Esther Henrickson, Ivy Olson, Alma Steward, Pearl Kimball, Grace Grigsby, Alta McGinniss, Melissa Burt, Laura and Elizabeth Sherman, Maude and Alta Thomas, Olive and Bertha Briney, Mary McCluskey, Irma DeBarr, Mabel Blodgett, Minnie Wild, Gertrude Richardson, Alice Davidson, Beulah Stone, Gertrude Ladd, Ida Reed, Cora Craig, Etta Hale, Clara Paddock, Charlotte Carhart, Harriet Doolittle and Clara Barnes.

Two Brides-elect Are Made Incentive for Enjoyable Party

The charming mid-summer brides-elect, Miss Virginia Lowell, so soon to become Mrs. DeRoy Dickson, and Miss Lorene Porter, who will wed Donald Nash of Hanford in early August, were complimented in happy fashion recently when Miss Veda Mitchell and her house-guest, Mrs. Frances Reid of Burlingame, presided at a little reunion of sorority sisters in Alpha Gamma Delta, of Oregon State university.

Miss Reid, a very attractive girl indeed, is enjoying a visit with Miss Mitchell in her home at 438 South Sycamore street, but no event of her stay has had more enjoyable features than the bridge tea and shower in which she was co-hostess rather than guest.

For the occasion, the Mitchell home was gay with colorful blossome, sheafs of gladioluses, delicate hued mydrangeas and stately dahlias all doing their share towards enhancing the hospitable charm of the home. The two young hostesses, Miss Mitchell in a graceful costume of black lace with all accessories to harmonize, and Miss Reid in airy chiffon in corn-color, were assisted in greeting their guests, by the former's mother, Mrs. Charles F. Mitchell.

Bridge appointments stressed the prevailing pink, bauve, yellow note of the blossoms, and the same color theme was apparent in the tea menu served later at card tables denuded of their useful covers and blossoming out in gay colored linens. Individual ice cream cakes masqueraded as small baskets overflowing with posies, the handle of each tied with a coquettish yellow bow. Nuts and coffee completed the dainty menu served by Miss Eleanor Mitchell and her young cousin, Miss Margaret Turner, assisted by Mrs. Mitchell.

Following this pleasant interlude, the first prize of an amber crystal compote, was presented Miss Jane Harwood, with second prize of a hand-tinted vase awarded Miss Dorothy Ervast; a draw prize of a boudoir clock as a miniature replica of a grandfather clock, going to Miss Mary Peters, and a beaded hot dish mat consoling Miss Pauline Porter.

The climax of the afternoon was reached when the hostesses disappeared for a moment, to return, each bearing a gleaming, new clothes basket, tied with frivolous yellow bows. The baskets were their gifts to the brides-elect, and their contents had been selected by the guests. For Miss Porter, all the packages held kitchen ware in green and ivory, while duplicate pieces in ivory and blue, were showered on Miss Lowell.

Alpha Gamma Delta members and friends reveling in their opportunity to talk over the delights of college companionships, and to compliment two such popular members in advance of their nuptials, were the Misses Charlene Lowell, Pauline Porter, Lois Winslow, Betty Hoy and Helen Westering of this city; Jane Harwood of San Dimas; Katherine and Martha Adams of Anaheim; Mary Peters of Oakland; Jeanne Malmin of Huntington Park; Cecelia Kreite of Alhambra; Dorothy Ervast of San Diego; Mrs. Norol Evans of Orange; Mrs. Russell Wilson, Mrs. James Dickson, Mrs. Nelle D. Winslow, Mrs. Charles F. Mitchell and Mrs. Joe Lowell, mother of Miss Virginia Lowell, all of this city, and Mrs. F. T. Porter, mother of Miss Lorene Porter, of Los Angeles, but still claimed by Santa Ana, her home for so many years.

Indeed when the wedding of Miss Porter and Mr. Nash takes place on August 9, it will be in the Santa Ana Christian church where the bride's father, the Rev. F. T. Porter was pastor for so many years.

Miss Lowell's wedding to Mr. Dickson will be an event of the coming Saturday, and will be a garden ceremony at the beautiful home of her parents on Lowell street.

Attendance at Wedding Has Sequel of Gay Birthday Party

Returning to their home on Newhope Road after having attended an important wedding in Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hein learned that the former's birthday anniversary of recent date, was being celebrated in unexpected fashion by a little group of close friends.

The guests had assembled in their absence, and when Mr. Hein unlocked the door and entered his home, it was to be surprised with merry birthday greetings. An enjoyable evening followed, for the thoughtful group had arranged for a program of cards. The refreshment hour brought another surprise for Mrs. Margaret Eliott had baked a beautiful birthday cake iced in pink and bearing an appropriate greeting. It was served with almond and fruit jello prepared by Miss Dollie Johnson.

The host was presented with a handsome sweater selected by the guests who included Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Elliott, Miss Magdalina Wells, Miss Dollie Johnson and Messrs. Edwin Schleuter, Harold Bircher and Clarence Rains, all of Anaheim.

The wedding which Mr. and Mrs. Hein had previously attended was that of Miss Ruth Steele of Garden Grove, and Charles Cavanaugh of Long Beach, which was solemnized in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Glendale. Mrs. Hein, who has a very sweet soprano voice, had been soloist at the nuptials.

Relatives Gather at Irvine Park

Many were the pleasures which Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Coon planned for their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Merl Coon and son Clifford, who spent all of last week with them in their home at 807 Orange avenue., but none was more enjoyable than that of Friday, when a number of relatives gathered for a picnic luncheon at Irvine park.

The delectable menu was spread on the tables beneath the oak trees, whose shade provided a grateful retreat from the heat so noticeable elsewhere.

Those present other than the house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Merl Coon, and son Clifford were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kutch and son Robert, of Salem, Ore., Mrs. Helen Kutch and Mr. and Mrs. Rolph Kutch and daughter Honore, of Huntington Park, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Paphol and children Wilma and Wilbur, of Portland, Oregon, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Coon, and daughter Maurine.

You and your Friends

Willis Kirkpatrick of 709 South Main street, who is in Monterey attending the Citizens' Military Training camp in progress there, has just been appointed publicity agent for Company E at Camp John B. Pryor, according to word received by his friends in this city.

The Misses Alberta and Edna Steiner of Albuquerque, N. M., are house-guests of their aunt, Mrs. Thomas R. Overton, 616 West Third street. They were to be joined today by their mother, Mrs. E. E. Eteiner, a sister of Mrs. Overton, who will be accompanied by her three young sons, Junior, Lynch and Jerry, and will remain with Mrs. Overton during Mr. Overton's absence in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Griggs and family, 421 South Flower street, have returned from a three weeks' trip through northern California and in Oregon. While in the neighbor state they had the pleasure of visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Johnson who formerly made their home at 1208 South Ross street, this city. The Johnsons are now owners and proprietors of the "Sunset on the Rogue" automobile camp and store near Medford, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Mercereau and daughters, the Misses Elena and Margaret Mercereau, 1506 West Fifth street, were Southern Pacific passengers today for Seattle. From that point they will sail on the Aleutian for Seward and a vacation outing in Alaska, arranged by the Westgate Steamship office.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Selvidge and their little grandson, of this city, left recently for Montana, where they will visit with their daughter. They plan to be gone for over a month, and will also visit, among other interesting points, the Grand Canyon.

Miss Wilma Brannon, 216 East Twelfth street, has returned from a week's vacation spent in Hollywood and Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Lars Hanson and daughter Alice, E. E. Richardson, Miss Mary Reid, and Rollie Vinzant, recently returned from a pleasant vacation speet at Big Bear.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cardeo, 721 South Ross street, aid their children, Dorothy Alice, Lester jr., and Billie, are spending the week in their cottage at Forest Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Chaney, of 1003 Orange avenue, will leave Wilmington Friday, on the S. S. Alexander, for Alaska. They will be accompanied as far as San Francisco by their little son, Homer jr., who will be met there by his aunt, Mrs. Russell Hill, and will remain with her in her home at San Jose while his parents continue their journey. They plan to be gone for about three weeks, and are anticipating a most interesting visit in Seattle, when Mr. Chaney will attend a bankers' convention.

The Misses Nan and Lolita Mead, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Mead of North Main street, will leave by boat the 27th of this month for Seattle, Wash. They plan to remain there for about a month, visiting with their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Mead.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cherry, 419 West Walnut street, have as house guests, Mr. and Mrs. James Damran of Huntington Park.

Mrs. W. A. Eaden of Bellingham, Wash., is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Kearns, 1208 Orange avenue.

Mrs. Kenneth Stowe, 916 West First street, is reported as being slightly improved, following an illness of a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. August Blecker, 1055 West Chestnut avenue, spent yesterday in Balboa Island with relatives.

Miss Blanche Cartmill, 644 North Broadway, is spending the week in Los Angeles, where she is attending the 42nd annual convention of Christian churches of Southern California. Meetings are held at the Wilshire Boulevard Christian church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Taylor jr., and son, Billie, 2323 Bush street, are expected to return from Big Bear today, where they have been spending the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alexander of 1414 1-/2 North Main street, have as a most interesting house guest, Mr. Alexander's father, Dr. James Alexander of Boston, Mass. He has just recently returned from a trip to Yokohama and several social affairs are being planned in his honor.

Mrs. Florence Watson, 1707 West First street, had as a house guest the past week, Mrs. L. M. Derby of San Francisco.

S. C. Cherrys Were Hosts to 500 Club

Members of that merry little group, the Colorado-Nebraska club, were happily entertainned last night, when they met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cherry, 419 West Walnut street, for an evening of 500. In harmony with the summer weather, were the brilliant red African daisies which the hostess had arranged artistically throughout the rooms.

When the card games were over and the business of checking the tallies had been completed, prizes were awarded to Mrs. G. N. Coon, holder of women's high score, and to Jasper Kearns, winning honors for the men. A most delectable refreshments course was served at a late hour.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Damran of Huntington Park, who are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cherry, and Mrs. W. A. Eaden, of Washington, who is a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Kearns.

Members present were Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Coons, and Miss Maurine Coons, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Kearns, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cowles, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Watkins, Miss Hazel Anderson, the Misses Blanche and Helen Westering, William Mitchell, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. S C. Cherry.

Automobile Travelers Return From Tour Of North

Eighteen days of care-free "gypsying" were terminated for four prominent Santa Ana women when they returned Monday from an automobile tour which took them into Victoria, B. C. The four were Mrs. Irwin F. Landis, 613 West First street, and Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, 2219 North Broadway, who alternated at the driver's wheel of their big car; Mrs. James E. Leibig, 820 Spurgeon street, and Mrs. Roy Hall, 420 South Birch street, who declared that they occupied the lowly positions of "scullery maids."

For the travelers disdained hotels on their route, seeking instead the most picturesque automobile camps they could find, and all returned singing the praises of the modern camp, declaring it to be superior in their estimation to the average city hotel.

On their journey northward, the travelers visited the Big Basin, and enjoyed the famous Sky Line drive to San Francisco, taking practically every important side tour that offered. They found the Mount Hood loop of special interest and charm, and after reaching the Columbia river district, enjoyed particularly the return down the opposite side of the river from that on which they sped northward. Toll bridges were their delight, especially the new Long View bridge.

Summer Guests Enjoy Park Party

A happy event was spent last night when an intimate group of friends met at Irvine park, to join in a steak bake. Following the delicious supper, the group enjoyed dancing in the newly completed pavilion.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McKamy and daughter, Jean; and their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Yocam and son Joseph Edward jr., of Wink, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Houston Kier and sons, Houston jr and Ervin, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Huntoon, Dr. and Mrs. C. P. Tompkins and children, Norma Jean and Bernice, and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wilson and their house-guests, all of Anaheim.

ROAD SAFETY

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 16.—Motorists driving defective cars in Tennessee are to be stopped by policemen and warned to have the defects remedied or else have the car removed from the roads within 48 hours after notification. This ruling followed a "save-a-life" campaign conducted all over the state. During the campaign cars were given free inspection service.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Hermosa Chapter, O.E.S., will not meet in the Oddfellows hall on Tuesday, July 22, as previously announced, but will meet once more in the Masonic temple on Monday, July 21. The change in plans is necessitated by confusion arising from the change in meeting nights from Mondays to Tuesdays, and the chapter will not meet on the new schedule until the first Tuesday in August. There will be initiation and special guests and all members are urged to attend.

The Daughters of Union Veterans will hold a social Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the home of Miss Minnie Cowan, 214 South Sycamore street. All members are cordially invited to attend.

The Thistle Club of the Native Daughters of the Golden West will have an all-day meeting tomorrow in the home of Mrs. Raymond Ross, 2421 Oakmont avenue, with a pot-luck luncheon served at noon. Members are planning to finish the quilt they have been working on for the past few months.

Public installation of new officers of the Native Daughters of the Golden West will be held Monday, July 28, in the Knights of Columbus hall at 8:30 p. m. Native Daughters and Sons will join in a barbeque at Hewes Park, Sunday, July 27. Details will be given out later.

What you do in popping corn is always done in roasting HILLS BROS COFFEE

A little at a time in the popper and every kernel of corn is popped evenly. By roasting Hills Bros. Coffee a few pounds at a time every berry is roasted evenly. This patented, continuous process—Controlled Roasting—gives Hills Bros. Coffee a flavor no other coffee has.

Orange Rind Pectin

Here is a recipe for making pectin to use in quantities demanded through the canning season—no small item of expense if you buy the commercial pectin.

ORANGE RIND PECTIN

With a sharp knife remove every particle of the yellow part of the orange rind, use only the white inner part. After peeling the rind off the oranges and thus prepaxing it, run it through the food chopper, press firmly into a cup to measure, and to each cupful add the juice of one lemon and let stand one hour.

Add 2 cups of water for each cup of peel, bring to the boiling point and boil exactly five minutes. Let stand over night and again add water—this time 4 cups of water for each cup of peel.

Bring to the boiling point and boil ten minutes, strain through a jelly bag, reheat to sterilize, and bottle. Use it in the proportions you would use of unsweetened apple juice—from one-fourth to one-third of the total amount of juice used in making the jelly.

It is easily made and very inexpensive. Grapefruit and lemon peel can be used if you are not using many oranges. Prepare as directed for the orange peel and proceed with the recipe as directed.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Deviled Crab

2 cups fresh or canned crab meat
1 teaspoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup top milk
Seasonings of cayenne, paprika, salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 egg yolks
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons cooking sherry
2-3 cup buttered crumbs
6 slices lemon for garnish

Scallop shells are ideal for baking this dish. They can be bought in the dish department of any good store. If a large single dish is used it must be on the order of a glass pie plate to cook the mixture quickly and have an expanse of brown crumb top as well.

* * *

Blend together butter and flour with the dry seasonings, and the rich top milk and cook to a smooth sauce, then add the worcestershire sauce, lemon juice, sherry (optional), slightly beaten egg yolks and flaked crab.

Cook gently three minutes, place in the shells or dish, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven ten minutes to brown nicely. Scallop the edges of the lemon slices, dust thickly with paprika and a dusting of minced parsley and serve one slice for each portion. There are six of them.

* * *

The calories total 1250 and are rather husky ones for all the low calorie value of crab meat. This, with a nice salad, provides an ideal supper menu.

WALKER OFFERING DOUBLE FEATURE

The double feature program at Walker's state offers, mystery thrills, romance and adventure.

Stirring action, vivid backgrounds and thrills vie for supremacy in "Prince of Diamonds," Columbia's all-talking attraction.

An authentic replica of an original Viking ship was utilized in the filming of "The Viking," Technicolor's epic production of Viking days done entirely in color and released by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

A seaworthy craft, the Gokstad sailed the high seas a thousand years ago, and now in "The Viking," manned by Vikings of the period, the Gokstad lives again in a thrilling tale of Norse days.

ANAHEIM

To Attend Convention

Attending the two-day conference of the Southern District California Federation of Women's clubs at San Clemente Wednesday and Thursday of this week will be Mrs. E. E. Smith, district chairman of International Relations and Mrs. Harry Sears, district chairman of literature, also Mrs. Joe Walters, who will represent Mrs. J. W. Harpster, president of the Anaheim Ebell club, Mrs. Harpster is touring Europe. Mrs. H. H. Benjamin, who is also a district chairman, is in the east at this time and will not be able to attend. All club women are welcome to the conference which will convene at the Hotel San Clemente. Of outstanding interest will be addresses given by Miss Josephine Seaman of La Jolla, vice president of the California Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. H. E. DeNyse of Riverside, past president of Southern district. Mrs. Harry Stroh, state program chairman, will also tell of plans for the coming season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rymer and daughter Ruth have returned to their home at 307 East Alberta street after two weeks spent at Newport.

W. K. Suiter, who has been associated with the Anaheim Laundry for the past 13 years, has retired from that position to devote his entire attention to his ranch. Carl Ingraham is also severing his connecion with the laundry to accept a position as distributor for a large coffee house in San Bernardino.

Friends of the two gentlemen arranged a farewell party for them which was a pleasant social event held at the home of the parents of Oliver Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Carel Morecraft at 314 North Janss street. The evening was spent in cards. Mr. Suiter was presented with a wrist watch and Mr. Ingraham with a fountain pen. Both were given flowers.

FILM DENUDES WAR OF SUPPOSED GLORY

Declared to be more sensational than "The Birth of a Nation," it is the kind of picture that will disgust you with war. Its plot is terrible, but in its clever way it depicts war as it really is and the flying of flags, the honor and glory of war, which always are brought out so forcibly in pictures, is markedly absent from this film.

When Enrich Maria Remarque wrote the story, 10 years after the war, the sting of war was all gone, yet critics immediately declared that it was the best book on the war. The sales in this country were unusually heavy. When picture companies bid for the story, it was declared that the film could not be made.

Others said that the horror of the book could not be placed on the screen, but Universal has done it and in such a manner that some of the scenes will live forever in the memories of those who see the show.

"All Quiet on the Western Front" will rock the audience as no picture ever has. It will thrill and at the same time it will make you realize that the war was not what you thought it was. The German side of the picture is shown.

TELEPHONE TYPIST

LONDON, July 16.—Post office authorities are considering a contrivance to be attached to a telephone which will enable a caller, if unable to get his party, to type a message which will be reproduced on the phone at the other end. It is called a "teleprinter," and is a machine not unlike a miniature typewriter. Words typed by the calling party will be printed at the other end automatically.

The state of New York has so much business on the stock market that it had to issue a new tax stamp with a face value of $1000.

The story of a great singer, to whom love comes late, and her gallant fight to overcome it, the story is based on the great stage play of years ago that Doris Keane made famous. With Garbo in the chief role, the picture is irresistible.

The plot concerns Cavallini, famous Italian opera singer, and a woman with a past who falls in love with a young clergyman. He immediately falls in love with her and asks her to be his wife. Then she tells him of her past.

The picture is romance from start to finish. It shows Garbo in an entirely different role than she has ever played before. Instead of the sophisticated woman of "Flesh and the Devil" and other pictures, she is the woman battling for the only love that has ever come to her and realizing at the same time, that it has come too late.

The picture is well done and will make Garbo even better liked than her former pictures have. The film is showing in Santa Ana even before Los Angeles theaters play it.

PALACE FOR MINER

LONDON, July 16.—James Brown feels more at home in a mine than he does in a palace, but he must keep up the Holyrood palace because he has been made Lord High Commissioner of Scotland by King George. Brown is a humble miner, and has worked all his life at mining coal. He still makes his home in the house where he lived when he went down into the mines every morning.

BERLIN MYSTERY SEEN AT TEMPLE

"Berlin After Dark," a mystery melodrama of the highest order, is the feature picture offering starting tonight for a three day run at Shelley's Third and Bush street house.

"Berlin After Dark" is just what the title implies and more—for studio sets were not good enough for the gripping plot that is enacted—the director insisted upon filming the story in it's entirety right in the German capital.

Also at Shelley's an 18 karat genuine diamond ring will be given away at 8:30 p. m., this being gift night.

A LAUGH FOR EVERYBODY

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

The Tinymites all felt real proud and thankful that they were allowed to sleep within the Persian home. 'Twas quite a treat, they thought. Said Coppy, "We will sleep real sound until the morning comes around. I'm going to close my eyes and by the sandman I'll be caught."

The Travel Man then shouted, "Oh, there's one thing you don't seem to know. Before you enter Persian homes, you should take off your shoes. That you forgot will start no row because you all can do it now." Then Scouty said "We didn't know about it. That is news."

Off came their shoes, and then to bed went every little sleepy head. The Travel Man sat up a while and then he turned in, too. The night slipped by. At break of day the bunch were up and on their way. "We'll eat some breakfast," Clowny said. "And then, what will we do?"

"Ah! I have a surprise in store," the Travel Man said. "What is more, I'm going to get some donkeys and we'll take a nice long ride. Before this cheerful day is done I know you'll have a heap of fun. And then they found a restaurant where Persian food was tried.

Right after breakfast they went out and found some donkeys. Mid a shout of merriment they hopped aboard and rode right out of town. "We'll find another place nearby," the Travel Man exclaimed, "and I feel sure you'll all be tickled when you start to look around."

They traveled on two hours or so and then the Travel Man said, "What! Now look ahead. What do you see?" "A big wall," someone cried. Then he explained just what it was and all the bunch were thrilled because they suddenly found out a great big city was inside.

Missing Letter Links

RULES:

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the eltters cannot be changed.

SIGN FRONTAGE FOR WIDENING OF N. SPADRA

FULLERTON, July 18.—First action toward the widening of North Spadra road, between Chapman avenue and the Pacific Electric bridge was taken last night by the Fullerton city council at its regular meeting in the city hall, following the presentation of a petition by Robert Seamans with a majority of the frontage signed up in favor of the widening.

C. M. Thorpe, city engineer, was authorized to meet with Supervisor William Schumacher and County Highway Engineer Nat Neff relative to securing state aid in widening the state highway.

Share Expenses

With the majority of frontage in favor of the move, one quarter of the expense will be handled by the property owners, the remainder must be provided by the city, county and state.

Total frontage along the street approximates 3,165.5 feet and 1852.79 feet have been signed for the project, or 62 per cent.

If outside aid can be secured, the city council will proceed at once with the forming of an assessment district and start work on the project, it was declared, culminating several years of effort in widening the "bottleneck" to the 56 feet to conform with the remainder of the state highway outside the city limits and in the business district.

May Widen More

Additional widening of the highway from the Pacific Electric bridge north to the city limits, a distance of one and one-half miles, is contemplated if state aid is available, the council declared, and urged City Engineer Thorpe to confer with Schumacher and Neff on the proposition.

Considerable discussion was had by the council relative to the the granting of a permit to the United Cleaners and Dyers to remodel their dry cleaning establishment in accordance with a new state law. Property owners adjoining the plant, headed by S. E. Reed, declared the place a public nuisance and are petitioning the council to have the establishment removed to an industrial section of the town. The council will study the request further with City Attorney Albert Launer before making a decision on the permit.

Invited to Meeting

The council was invited to attend the regular meeting of the Metropolitan Water District association which is to be held at Riverside July 24 at 8 p. m., at the American Legion hall. Several council men plan to attend the event.

Councilmen also signified their intention of attending a celebration meeting at San Bernardino July 28 when Phil D. Swing will talk on the actual starting of the Boulder dam construction.

Granting of two permits for service stations ended the action of the evening by the council.

Toastmasters Give Entertainment For Anaheim Kiwanis

ANAHEIM, July 16. — Three members of the Toastmasters' club presented the program at the Kiwanis club when they met for their weekly luncheon-meeting at the Elks' clubhouse yesterday. George Howard, former member of the group, introduced the speakers who were William Payne, George Hedstrom and Dr. John Waters.

"The Air Transport" was discussed by Mr. Payne, Mr. Hedstrom, president of the club, spoke on "The Atom," tracing the development of knowledge of this unit to the invention of the radio, the X-ray and other modern devices. "The Radio Aamateur" was the subject chosen by Dr. Waters for discussion.

The Kiwanis club will hold a steak bake for members and their families at Irvine park on the evening of July 29.

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES FOR CHARLES WEIDE

LA HABRA, July 16.—Funeral services were held Monday morning at the Methodist church for Charles T. Weide, 70, who passed away Friday afternoon following injuries sustained in a fall down 20 flights of stairs at the Lincoln school Friday morning.

The exact cause of the accident which caused death to the aged caretaker at the school is unknown but it is believed that he tripped and fell in such a manner as to cause skull injuries from which he never gained consciousness until the time of his death several hours later.

Workmen at the school were attracted to the limp body at the foot of the stairs by his moans and the blood stained stairway showed mute evidence of the tragedy.

The deceased was one of the most esteemed men of the community and an active worker in the Methodist church at La Habra. His survivors are his wife and seven children, I. E. and Rolland of La Habra, Mrs. Charles Opperman of Kansas, O. S. Weide of Glendale, Mrs. John Heath of Santa Ana, and Maxon Weide of Santa Barbara. The latter is confneid to the Fullerton hospital following a serious operation.

The Rev. Sheridan Phillips, former pastor of the Methodist church, conducted the services with the assistance of the Rev. Hilgenfeld of Anaheim.

PARK CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BACKS HARBOR

BUENA PARK, July 16.—The Buena Park Chamber of Commerce last night endorsed the resolution adopted at the "Good Will Dinner" in Anaheim July 11, favoring the promotion of unity of purpose and co-operation between the various elements within Orange county in reference to the development of Newport harbor as the most important factor in the prosperity of the county, second only to flood control and water conservation.

This resolution was submitted to the Associated Chambers of Commerce, county press, and other interested agencies to assist in bringing the project to an issue at the earliest possible time, and the Buena Park Chamber of Commerce is one of the first organizations to endorse the project.

Make Resolution

The resolution suggests that a harbor commission be appointed as required by law, and employ an engineer, recommended by the federal government, who shall make the necessary surveys and estimates to bring the plans for this project up to date. Upon the submission of the report of this harbor commission, one-half of the required amount should be provided by a county bond issue, with the distinct understanding that said bonds should not be sold until a like amount for the same purpose has been appropriated by the federal government; the whole amount to be expended under the direction and control of government engineers, the county co-operating, as may be necessary, to comply with legal requirements.

Jack Golden gave a report on the meeting held in Anaheim, and the endorsement of the resolution was unanimously made by the local organization, following discussion.

Raymer Talks

George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, announced that a tentative date of July 16 had been set for the organization meeting of the Orange County Branch of the Greater Manchester Avenue association but this has been postponed indefinitely. This meeting will be held in the Buena Park Chamber of Commerce headquarters in the new civic building on West Ninth street, and will be attended by representatives from the Los Angeles association, and all of the interested cities and communities in Orange county. Nat Neff, county highway engineer, will also be present with a map showing the proposed right-of-way.

Stress Manchester Road

Manchester Avenue has been recognized by the entire county as the most important road development, and as Buena Park is the key to the program, this community was selected for the organization meeting.

Jack Golden announced that the signature of A. Lucas has been secured for the right-of-way for Scales avenue, and as only one more signature is necessary to secure the opening of the road from Orangethorpe avenue south to the present street, and this property owner is now willing to sign, the road is practically assured for this year.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 16.—A story which dates back to the dons in this locality has just come to light. Mrs. Valdanera Aguilar, now in her seventy-eighth year, has just had made a dress, the material for which was given to her fifty-seven years ago, by Senora Avila, wife of Don Juan Avila, "El Rice" of Capistrano.

The goods, which had laid in a camphor chest for more than a half century, were purchased by Senora Avila from a drifting peddler-merchant, who had a small store in San Juan Capistrano. The gift was made to Mrs. Aguilar, then a young woman, in appreciation of her kindness in providing hot soup at noon for one of the Avila children, while the child was attending the Mission school.

Active Old Lady

Mrs. Aguilar, a spry old lady with sparkling black eyes and a ready smile, lives in the home which has belonged to her family since the days when the mission was being built. According to her story it was one of two adobe buildings occupied by Indians when the work of building the mission was begun, and was given to one of her ancestors to live in. The house is near the east boundary of the mission property, is of adobe, long and low in its lines, with walls four feet in thickness, and tiny slit-like windows, hung with heavy wooden shutters. Its mistress relates that many times she and members of her family have barred the heavy door and closed the shutters, and hidden themselves beneath the bedding, sacks or clothing, in terror of the bandit band that periodically raided the town.

Mrs. Aguilar is the mother of three sons, Don Juan, famous guide in the mission, Frank, who is associated with the adobe plant in San Juan, and Blas, foreman of the Las Flores ranch. One daughter died years ago, and she has raised her nephew, Emilo Ruiz, who makes his home in the Aguilar household.

Reveal Wedding of La Habra Woman In Whittier Rites

Friends of Mrs. Mary Widick, daughter of J. C. Hamilton, will be interested in the announcement of her marriage to Oscar L. Mossberg of Hollywood. The wedding took place Monday evening at the home of the Rev. John McFarland at Whittier, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church there.

Mrs. Mossberg for a number of years has been associated with her father in the operation of a grocery store on Central avenue. Her husband is a well known former La Habra business man and was former proprietor of the La Habra Market. He is now in business in Hollywood and they will make their home there.

Midget To Preach At Mesa Meeting

COSTA MESA, Juy 16.—Nan Beal, midget, student of the Angeles Temple Bible school, of Los Angeles, will be the speaker at the Costa Mesa Foursquare church Thursday evening, as announced by the Rev. D. W. Beverly, pastor.

The building used by the Foursquare church has had a 12x28 foot addition put on the rear which will provide extra space for Sunday school class rooms, also a prayer room. The interior of the church room has been remodeled, the past week.

GEORGE RAYMER SPEAKS BEFORE KIWANIS GROUP

Facts and figures presented by George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, before the Buena Park Kiwanis club, Tuesday evening, revealed the vast amount of money being spent on Southern California projects, and the wonderful development in Orange county, and the Southland.

Raymer quoted California products shipped east amounted to $800,000,000; Boulder dam, $10,000,000; government harbor, $8,000,000; Long Beach harbor, $8,000,000; Los Angeles water program, $38,000,000; state roads, $4,000,000, and Santa Ana industrial development, $5,500,000. The building and loan associations are loaning $500,000,000 on buildings in Southern California, and Orange county banks are prosperous.

Raymer spoke of the Manchester avenue development as the biggest thing for Orange county, and stated that this boulevard when completed would be the widest and longest piece of pavement in the world.

He also announced the opening of the first Santa Ana unit on July 26, with impressive ceremonies. This unit extends from Main street in Santa Ana to the state highway ta the Orange County hospital.

The Kiwanis meeting was scheduled for Irvine park, but conflicting dates interfered and the meeting was held in the Buena Park Woman's clubhouse.

CITY COUNCIL INVESTIGATES BUILDING FEES

LA HABRA, July 16.—Investigation in the matter of charging for building permits for buildings at the local schools will be made by members of the city council in session last night, who insisted that the buildings be given proper inspection in regard to building codes following inquiries by John Sanks, city engineer, as to whether the school building fees can be rightly charged.

Sanks stated that work on both the Washington and Lincoln schools had been started without his knowledge or inspection with the architect acting as sole inspector.

The matter of settling a fixed amount for contractors of the city was expected to have been arranged last night but on suggestion of the contractors who desired more time to get together on the matter no fixed rate was set but a license fee of $25 per year was generally decided upon.

ROBERT DANDY DIES FROM LONG ILLNESS

ANAHEIM, July 16.—Robert M. Dandy, 56, a resident of Anaheim for the past eight years, died yesterday morning at the family home, 758 North Claudina street, following a long illness.

Mr. Dandy, who was a retired farmer, was a native of Oxford, Ontario, Canada, came to California over 12 years ago after many years spent as an agriculturist in Manitoba, Canada. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Anaheim and of the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Emma Dandy; two daughters, Kathleen and Myrtle; one son, Donald; three brothers, Samuel, William and Edwin of Pierson, Manitoba and three sisters, Miss Mary Dandy and Mrs. Louisa Basted, both of Pierson, and Mrs. Angelina Bromley of St. Catherines, Ontario.

The body is in the care of the Backs, Terry and Campbell mortuary pending completion of funeral arrangements upon receipt of word from northern relatives.

Rev. L. T. Barkman Resigns Pastorate At Baptist Church

ANAHEIM, July 16.—The Rev. L. T. Barkman has severed his connection with the Calvary Baptist church here after having served as pastor of the congregation for the past two years. He plans to enter into evangelistic work.

Rev. Barkman's resignation is to take effect the first of August but with his annual month's vacation coming at this time he has already moved from Anaheim, establishing a home at 728 Lime street, Long Beach.

It is expected that action towards securing a new pastor will be postponed until after the vacation season. In the meantime supply pastors will fill the pulpit. The visiting pastor last Sunday was the Rev. Gish of San Diego.

Rev. Barkman came to Calvary Baptist church from the First Baptist church at Hermosa Beach where he served for nearly three years. He served three months as supply pastor of the local church before being extended a permanent call in January, 1929.

MIDGET GOLF COURSE OPENS AT CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE, July 16.—Miniature golf enthusiasts of the Spanish village and the south coast will start putting over the San Clemente eighteen hole course on Sunday, according to Ralph Young, who will be in charge of the model links here. Electric lights for evening play will be strung tomorrow. Nine holes are almost ready for play now, says Young and he hopes to have the 10 ready for San Clemente players and Spanish Village visitors on Sunday.

The course was erected by village workmen and was designed by Hal Warner. The holes embody the principal features of the most interesting holes in Southern California courses and many links were studied before the San Clemente course was outlined, planned and then built.

The course is located on El Camino Real to the south of Fred Amundson's drug store. It is so located that any highway tourist can stop and get in a round when on his way to San Diego or Los Angeles.

Young plans to stage a south coast tourney among the cities of Oceanside, San Juan Capistrano, Laguna Beach and Newport-Balboa.

FIVE COUNTIES REPRESENTED IN BEACH MEET

SAN CLEMENTE, July 16.—More than 200 members of the Southern District of the California Federation of Women's Clubs opened a two-day convention in San Clemente this morning at the social club when a business meeting was held at 10:30 o'clock. Women from Riverside, Orange, San Diego, Imperial and San Bernardino counties were in attendance.

A business session was to be held each morning and afternoon of the two day session. Tonight an informal dinner will be held at A. Travaglini's Cafe in San Clemente after which a social meeting will be held at the club. After tomorrow's afternoon meeting the convention will break up.

Assists Each Club

The purpose of the summer session, according to Miss Benita G. Eadie, coresponding secretary, is to assist each club in outlining its program for the year. Round table discussions will be held and assistance given all clubs which need or ask for help in compiling their year book.

The following officers were present, all members of the Southern District Executive Board: Mrs. Marcus W. Robbins, president, Highland; Mrs. George W. Beattie, vice-president, San Diego; recording secretary, Mrs. George O. Roberts, San Diego; corresponding secretary, Miss Benita G. Eadie, San Diego; treasurer, Mrs. Elmo Hough, Corona; auditor, Mrs. Albert Launer, Fullerton; parliamentarian, Miss Katherine J. Smith, La Jolla; historian, Mrs. Lillian Pray Palmer, San Diego; trustee, Mrs. H. E. De Nyse, Riverside; county federation president, Mrs. D. A. Ansvlyn, Brawley; Mrs. Ross P. Garbutt, Orange; Mrs. Edward C. Talbot, Perris; Mrs. Ada Hildreth, Julian.

The women have headquarters at Hotel San Clemente. Many plan to stay over on Wednesday night to enjoy golf, swimming and riding on Thursday.

A UNION JUNIOR COLLEGE

Plans for a county Junior College are once again beginning to look hopeful. The Fullerton school board will meet with the Santa Ana school board next Tuesday to discuss the matter. There is nothing to be gained from accentuating differences. There is a real possibility of accomplishing a great deal through cooperation. Several other communities have not looked with favor upon Fullerton's project and there are only two lines to be taken in the matter: either to forego a union Junior College with the shame upon the heads of some people who would in such a case have permitted community jealousy to dominate, or to cooperate in the project.

It has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that transporting children to a central school is more beneficial to their education than the former small schools where one teacher, because she had to be versed in so many studies, was not the master of one or two that the teacher is who can devote herself to the one or two subjects.

It follows, too, that a county Junior College which commands all the resources available in the county and from the state for such an institution is going to have a faculty and equipment finer than would two colleges which were forced to divide the resources. The state money provided for the college is based upon the attendance, hence the larger the attendance the larger the fund.

The distance of travel for Junior College people would not be a serious matter were the college located at a central point. Of course, no one would consider it fair to locate the college at the southern tip of the county, for example. A centrally located institution, with bus or electric service to the various communities, could be made into an institution of which every community could be proud for everyone would have a share in it and it would be the finest demonstration of cooperation imaginable. There are times when the county needs just such a monument to cooperation and the recognition of mutual welfare.

Few realize the number of people who are attracted to the county at the present time because of the opportunity to give their children at least two years of college study at the least possible cost. A bigger and better county Junior College would not only present an opportunity for two years of college training, but it would, in only a short time present a rare opportunity which would be compared favorably with many of the colleges of the country.

There is another important angle to the Junior College which is coming to be considered more seriously. Many boys and girls are finishing their high school courses at a very early age—too early, many parents consider, to be sent away from home to a college or university. Here the Junior College solves the problem. They can be kept at home for another year or two while they "get their bearings." To this increasingly large group of people the Junior College is growing in importance. They want it to be as extensive in the courses it offers and as valuable in the members of the faculty and useful in its equipment as is possible. And a great deal is possible, with all pulling together in a county of the size, and with the wealth of Orange county.

It is only fair to warn orators who plan to regale Admiral Byrd with warm toasts of welcome in the future that he has just been presented with a sword by the state of Virginia.

GOVERNMENT EXPENSES STILL GOING UP

The cost of government continues to go up. The recent report of the United States treasury department reveals some interesting statistics. The total receipts of the national government for the fiscal year ending June 30 were $4,178,000,000. All this, with the exception of $184,000,000 was spent. Among the largest items were, for the Veterans' Bureau, $558,000,000; the war department, $454,000,000, and the navy department, $374,000,000. Next came the treasury department with an expenditure of $193,000,000, and the department of agriculture, with $178,000,000. The state department, which has to do with all international relations spent the small sum of $14,000,000, and the department of commerce which has to do with the promotion of international and domestic trade and industry spent $60,000,000. This latter includes the taking of the census.

If we add to the cost of the Veterans Bureau and the upkeep of the army and navy the sum of $1,405,000,000 for interest and reduction of the public debt, most of which was incurred during the war, we can see the enormous cost of maintaining our national defense. It seems absurd that in a world where every one wants peace, the cost of national defense should run into such enormous figures; while the necessary expenses for the normal times of peace should be so comparatively small.

What comforts, what large opportunities might be given our people, were a small proportion of this money spent for past wars and for present defense turned into the building of roads, the higher education, and better than all, the reduction of taxes. Will the leaders of government ever be able to lead the people of their respective states, or agree among themselves, to make unnecessary these vast expenditures for national defense? That is the statesman's task today. Would that a school of statesmen might arise to change the whole attitude of nations toward each other.

THE NEED OF WELL-BORN CHILDREN

The executive secretary of the American Eugenic Society recently said that his organization is not interested in birth control as such. It is more interested in well-born children. He wants ministers and college professors to have more children, and the poor and the defective to have less.

This is a hopeless expectation. Since Adam Smith, the first political economist, pointed out that the birth rate of the poor and the ignorant always goes up, and the birth rate of the prosperous and the cultured always goes down, it has been noted that this has been an all but unchangeable law. It is only the poor and the ignorant who will have large families, because the matter of their support and training never enters into the calculation of these classes. On the other hand, the cultured and the prosperous are much more concerned for their children. They deliberately refuse to multiply children to whom they cannot give the advantages they themselves enjoy.

To have well-born children, children who will be able to master the forces of society and who possess creative ability, is very desirable. No doubt ministers' children and professors' children are very apt to be such. But in view of the fact that these classes are not apt to increase the population abnormally, because they are not willing to assume the risks and the grave responsibilities, it is the duty of society to restrict by all legitimate means the propagation of children who will not only be a burden to themselves, but also liabilities to society. We fear that the executive secretary of the American Eugenics Society has the wrong end of the proposition. Ministers and professors will look after themselves. The poor and the ignorant need light and leading.

AFGHANISTAN'S NEW FLAG

Afghanistan has adopted a new flag. King Nadir Shah has designed it. The former flag which was black was decided to be incongruous with the gayety of the people.

The new flag has three perpendicular stripes of black, red and white, with the crescent of a mosque in the center. The black stripe is retained as a symbol of the ages in which Afghanistan was held in the grip of darkness. The bright red band denotes the revolution into which the country was plunged after having emerged from the darkness and the white stands for peace and prosperity. The design in the center is intended to announce to the world that Afghanistan has achieved its present peace through the grace of God and will remain under the shadow of Islam forever. Thus the flag is symbolic of the whole history of the country.

This step which has been taken in Afghanistan and which doesn't mean much to us here, probably represents a contest over there between the conservatives who undoubtedly wanted to retain the old flag, even if it was black, and the progressives, or radicals, as some of the natives probably called them, who wanted a new flag. We are glad the progressives won because the black flag, being suggestive of the flag of pirates was inclined to prejudice one against Afghanistan from the start, providing the difficult spelling of the name of the little country hadn't already done so.

He Told Exact Truth So None Believed Him

San Francisco Chronicle

General Von Bernhardi, who has just died in Berlin, proved that John Hay, America's great Secretary of State, was right when he said that telling the truth was a statesman's best smoke screen, because nobody would believe him.

General von Bernhardi published in 1912 his books, "The Next War" and "How Germany Makes War." In these he predicted the World war and said that unless Germany took Paris in the first thirty days she would lose the war. He gave 1916 as the year the war would start, a miscalculation of two years, due to unforeseen circumstances that hastened the conflict.

In these books General von Bernhardi discussed in detail the strategy to be followed, the passing through Belgium to strike at France, holding Russia back on the Eastern front and the contingency of England entering the war. It was an amazingly frank discussion from a practical military viewpoint. And the fact that a chief of staff could publish such disclosures without any official reproof was generally taken as indication that the purpose of the disclosures was to mislead.

Events proved the accuracy of the General's predictions. The German campaign followed his plan with fidelity until the unexpected resistance upset it. And the world learned that if it had believed General von Bernhardi it could have had a more accurate knowledge of German strategy than the intelligence services obtained at great cost and danger. It was because he told the truth so frankly that people doubted him.

The Mail and Roads

Oakland Tribune

Motorists who go into the back country may thank the postoffice department for the fact many roads are improved. Directly or indirectly the mails keep those routes in good condition, for communities know that so soon as the roads are neglected the rural delivery system will be withdrawn.

There was a time when carriers on rural routes drove or rode horses and averaged 26.26 miles a day. Now they are chauffeurs and average 30.43 miles a day. Today more than 43,000 of these carriers travel an aggregate of 1,300,000 miles a day to bring the letters and papers to the men and women of the farms.

Because of this service the postoffice department exerts a continuing influence for good roads and the result has been better rural delivery at a lower cost to the mile.

The State's Gain

No wonder California's population gains impress the nation. Leading all states and with a percentage of increase more than twice that of the second, California chalks up a figure of 64.6 per cent against 31.3 per cent of Michigan. We now have a lead of more than a million over Massachusetts, which used to outrank us and there is an 800,000 margin in our favor over Michigan. An increase of 64.6 per cent in ten years, while it causes wondering exclamations from other commonwealths, offers fool for local thought. The state must be prepared for another such gain in the present decade.

TRAVEL

I've seen ten thousand battleships
Manoeuver on the main,
A million motors making trips
Across the western plains
And Jimmie Walker shake the hands—
Apparelled in a smile—
But mostly Erin's Isle.

Vast herds of buffaloes I've seen
Upon Montana's hills;
But though they beautify the scene
They bring me few fresh thrills.
Mount Everest, which skyward climbs,
Is much to be admired;
But yet, when viewed five hundred times
It makes one rather tired.

Though fond of seeing daring men,
My gaze grows fixed and stony
Each time that I regard again
The map of Al Capone.
And though that Vassar daisy chain
Is quite a pretty notion,
I find it leaves my weary brain
Without the least emotion.

I've seen a hundred kings and queens,
And presidents with gavels.
I've visited a thousand scenes
In movie news reel travels.
And now no longer I shall roam;
Of every thrill divested,
I mean henceforth to stay at home
Until completely rested.

"The Economics of Original Sin"

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Many men look upon business depression as a disease which must run its course. Such men hold that nothing can be done to prevent slumps, or to speed recovery, or—quoting Mr. Hoover—"to relieve the hardship which wreaks itself especially upon workers, farmers, and smaller business people."

Addicts of this doctrine, says the BUSINESS WEEK, hold that business depressions are inevitable and salutary. They look upon such afflictions much as certain sects in the Far East look upon the eye diseases of children. All such calamities come from on high. Any attempt of man to interfere with divine law is perilous and immoral.

This is the view taken by those Doctors of Despair—now at large in this country—whom the BUSINESS WEEK calls Statistical Sadists. These queer fellows gloat over sad statistics. They chant their eternal song, "Wait and See." They worship "the twin saints Action and Reaction—the Amos and Andy of Economic Law." And their favorite exercise is the Long Run.

Let it run. The longer the better.

If any one suggests to these Doctors of Despair that the run might be shortened—that increased capital expenditures, public and private, under the aggressive leadership of tne Federal Government, might create jobs and cut short the sentence of suffering—they throw up their hands in horror. "They point to the tables of the Economic Law and the moral lessons to be drawn from the investigations of Adam (Smith) in the Economic Eden of eighteenth century England."

A business depression, in their view, is the punishment for original sin. To try to escape the prolonged process of penance, is to try to cheat the Gods. It is an attempt to defy natural laws by a kind of bootstrap levitation.

After listening to such preaching, it was cheering to everyone except the Statistical Sadists to hear President Hoover say to the United States Chamber of Commerce: "I do not accept that fatalistic view." Indeed, if he HAD accepted it, tens of thousands of men who are now at work would be looking for jobs.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

TOWARD STOPPING UNEMPLOYMENT

For the last two days I have been pleading that we recognize the complexity of the problem of unemployment and begin attacking it, not by general political pronunciamentos, but by detailed dealing with the varied sources of unemployment.

From time to time during the next few weeks, I want to bring to the readers of this newspaper interpretations of the best thinking that has been done by responsible students of the problems of employment management and unemployment prevention.

Today I want to summarize the suggestions made by Stuart Chase in the article in the July Harper's to which I referred yesterday. He suggests six steps towards reducing unemployment which deserve national consideration.

1. The mobilization of public opinion for a nation-wide attack on the existing unemployment, a vast advertising campaign, reminiscent of Liberty Loan drives, using billboard posters, full page spreads, four-minute speakers, radio talks, news reels, editorials, and the whole round of the techniques of mass appeal that we Americans know so well how to use.

2. The shortening of working hours to offset the unemployment caused by the installation of machines that do the work it has taken several men to do before. Instead of having fewer men working the former number of hours, we might have the former number of men working fewer hours. And this would stimulate rather than sap the income of industry, for it would keep several million workers as part of the buying public and would give them leisure in which to develop tastes they would satisfy by purchases.

3. The regularization of industry, by which is meant the determination by industry, wherever possible, of the annual production of distribution that is practicable, and its intelligent scheduling for each of the twelve months, or, in general, such advance planning that the work-program of the nation will not be caught napping or face periods of virtual suspension.

4. The long-time planning of private and public construction programs. When things are booming, every construction project that can be postponed should be saved for slack seasons and slow periods. And we might take advantage of the dull times to put through extensive public projects that we shall have to execute sooner or later anyway.

5. The better collection and control of unemployment and labor-need statistics by a nation-wide chain of publicity administered labor exchanges. Until we know accurately, on a nation-wide scale, just how many and where the workers are who need jobs, and just how many and where the jobs are that need workers, our thinking will be muddy and our workers will be misled.

6. The raising of the age-limit at which we now permit children to enter industry. A change of a year or two would mean bread and life and hope to multiplied thousands of jobless adults.

In this formal list Mr. Chase did not include the dismissal wage or unemployment compensation or insurance, although he makes reference to them elsewhere, but these will become less and less necessary as we bring genuine statesmanship to bear upon such suggestions as are in the formal list.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

A DRINK OF WATER

In the warm days children need more water. They drink a lot of it in all weather but they must have more in summer time. Try to see that they get plenty. Especially the baby. Don't be afraid to give him some cool water in his bottle between times. If he is fretful remove all clothing possible, keep him from a direct breeze, and let him have another drink of water.

The children like fruit drinks. Water gets rather uninteresting when you drink glassful after glassful. Lemonade and Orangeade made with cold water that makes frost gather on the pitcher delights the thirsty crowd. And it is good for them.

When the children have picnics they like to take bottled drinks with them. There is charm in drinking from a bottle and lots of fun. Why not? Put in a lot of good pop and make a party of a party when the occasion comes. Only make certain that it is good. Study the label on the bottle. It is not wise to permit children to take drinks at open stands but good bottled beverages are fine on high occasions like birthday treats and picnics.

Teach children with all the emphasis possible that they must never drink from wayside springs. Teach them the danger that lies in drinking water from a source that is impure. They will tell you how clean and sparkling and cool the water is but you will have to tell them that unless they have been assured by some person in whom father and mother have confidence that the water is really pure, they must not drink it.

When children go on a hike or to a woods for lunch, give them water in thermos bottles. Or let them have bottled water. Sweet drinks will not serve the purpose so no matter how much of it they carry along make certain that they carry pure water also. If they get thirsty by the way nobody can keep them from taking a drink of water. This responsibility must be borne by the adults in charge of the children for the danger is too great for any child to face alone. Children do not understand the gravity of the matter. We do.

When arranging to water the thirsty remember the dog and the cat and the bird and every animal within your gates. Summer time is thirsty time for man and beast. Set out pans of clean cool water for all animals that pass your way. Wash the dish and refill it every time the dishes are washed. That makes a routined time and saves forgetting. Animals are so grateful for a cool drink.

Water, much water is needed in the warm weather. If a baby is fretful try a sip of cool water; try sponging him off and powdering him. If a little boy or girl is cross offer him a drink. Take him to the wash basin and cool him in the water. Water, you know, is the essence of life. And it is free.

RAMANOFF EXECUTIONS

On July 16, 1918, the Czar of Russia and his family and their attendants were officially murdered in a house at Ekaterinburg, where they were held prisoners following the Revolution.

The first thought of executing the Romanoffs came when it was rumored that the monarchist groups were plotting to release them. With the growing anger of soldiers and sailors and workers toward the royal family, it was decided to dispose of them at once.

The execution is described as follows by W. Duranty: "The Romanoff family were informed that they must move from the upper to the lower floor. All of them, the ex-Czar Nicholas Alexandrovich, his wife Alexandra Fedorovna, his son Alexei, daughters, Family Physician Botkin, the heirs, male nurse and the governess of the princesses went downstairs . . . where they were directed to stand against the wall.

"Then the house commandant, Avdeev . . . read the death sentence, adding that their hopes of liberation were futile; all must die. The unexpected news shocked the doomed ones, and only the ex-Czar spoke, asking: "Then we won't be taken anywhere?" Revolver shots put an end to the doomed ones. Only four persons were present who carried out the execution. About 1 a. m. the bodies were taken out to the forest . . . where they were burned the next day."

M'KELLAR DENOUNCES PRESIDENT

State To Use Shuler Pamphlet In Flint Killing Case

CONTROVERSY RAGES OVER LITTLE BOOK

PLEADS TOMORROW

Funeral Services for Noted Financier Held Today By Los Angeles Masons

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—(UP)—While .Frank .D. .Keaton, middle-aged real estate dealer, sat dully in jail today awaiting the course of justice to bring him to trial for the murder of Motley H. Flint, prominent Southern California banker, a heated controversy waged around one of his possessions, a small pamphlet.

The pamphlet, titled "Julian Thieves in Politics" and written by the dynamic Rev. R. P. "Fighting Bob" Shuler, was found in Keaton's pocket a few minutes after he fired three fatal shots at Flint in a superior courtroom Monday.

The booklet, although it disappeared briefly after it was discovered, was added to the evidence today and will be "used for its entire worth," the district attorney's office said.

It was indicated that the state, through "Julian Thieves in Politics" will attempt to prove that Flint's shooting was premeditated by Keaton.

Raves Wildly

The booklet named Flint with S. C. Lewis, Jacob Berman and other asserted wreckers of the $100,000,000 Julian Petroleum corporation and after he first was taken into custody Keaton, according to police officers, raved wildly about the Julian case.

Authorities subsequently found that while Keaton lost no money in the Julian crash that he blamed Flint for that company's collapse as well as for the $4600 Keaton lost in playing other stocks.

He was a frequent attendant at the various Julian trials which have clogged the courts since May, 1927, when Julian was ruled off the stock exchange.

The Rev. Mr. Shuler, self-styled "Fighting Bob," made a scathing reply to critics who attempted to attach some blame to him for Flint's death.

Broadcasting from the puplit of his Trinity Methodist Episcopal church last night the minister defended "Julian Thieves in Politics' 'and denied that it had incited Flint's slaying.

Shuler Replies

"I am told," the Rev. Mr. Shuler shouted, "that certain persons have attempted to infer that my booklet prompted the murder. I want to say here and now that I am willing to submit that pamphlet to any 12 men in the country for an opinion as to whether it contained any word that would turn a man to murder."

The thing that turned Keaton's mind to murder, the Rev. Mr. Shuler contended, was the fact that men were sent to prison for stealing bottles of milk while bankers and brokers who stole millions from Julian investors went free.

HOOVER LAUDED IN SPEECH AT LIONS PARLEY

Mabel Willebrandt Defends President and Policies In Office

DENVER, Colo., July 16.—(UP)—A militant defense of President Hoover's policies and his 16-month record in office was made today in a speech prepared for delivery before the annual convention of the International Association of Lions clubs by Mabel Walker Willebrandt.

The former assistant U. S. attorney general publicly discussed political issues for the first time since her stormy participation in the national campaign. She dealt with the entire field of subjects, including financial depression and prohibition.

"I know President Hoover," Mrs. Willebrandt declared. "His methods are unspectacular; his purposes are inflexible. As a result he is misunderstood.

"He can't 'perform;' he is too busy. He avoids a fight as long as possible but when it becomes the only alternative he gives 'em hell.

Boos For Hoover

"During the past winter the senate has taken the applause, and the president has had the boos. Yet with a perspective of the year the net gains all go to the president.

"His constructive achievements are bound to increase that confidence which is a big factor back of all business expansion, and exert a favorable influence on the prosperity curve.

"He has either won out or made substantial gains in almost every one of his original recommendations. This from a disorganized, and politically fearful or skeptical congress."

Mrs. Willebrandt listed administration accomplishments as being a $100,000,000 tax reduction, merchant marine expansion, aviation stabilization under the Watres bill, enactment of the tariff law, the unemployment census, acceleration of public buildings, midwest waterway appropriations, creation of the federal farm board, and restriction of "federal expenditures to the same net sum that Mr. Coolidge achieved under his admirable policy of economy."

Dry Reorganization

The crowning achievement, she declared, was the reorganization of prohibition enforcement under the attorney general.

"We have heard much of the argument that prohibition cannot be enforced," she continued. "I never have yielded to that view, although I confess my faith has been stretched thin on some occasions.

"It is enough to say that I believe in the sane leadership of the

Calvin Coolidge Says

By CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 16.—Because the rule of eternal vigilance requires us to strive to make our government better we should not conclude that it is not already good. If anyone will examine the course of federal legislation for the past decade surprisingly little will be found that is distinctly bad and most of this chiefly because of the expense involved. Oftentimes the house or the senate have come to a wrong decision which further deliberation has corrected before final enactment. Sometimes the veto power of the President has saved the situation. On occasion the power to investigate has been criticized. But even these explorations by revealing the truth or falsity of accusations have often been most salutary.

If too little thought has been given to co-operation with the service which those responsible for the conduct of business are trying ot render, scrupulous care has been exercised in efforts to promote the welfare of the great body of the people. The general level of ability and character of the holders of federal office is remarkably high. The people are in control of their own affairs. Self government is a success. The United States is worthy of the best we can give it.

RESIDENT HERE FOR 37 YEARS ANSWERS CALL

Charles H. Stanley Is Called By Death In Home Here This Morning

WELL-KNOWN in Santa Ana, having made his residence here for the past 37 years, Charles H. Stanley, 82, of 1135 West First street, died today from the effects of an illness suffered two weeks ago.

Stanley has been in good health up to the time of the attack which was caused by a blood clot in his foot.

Funeral services will be held later, as the relatives are being notified. The Rev. W. J. Hatter, of the Episcopal church, will be in charge of the funeral at the Winbigler Funeral Home, which will be followed by cremation in Los Angeles.

Stanley, his wife and daughter, Edith, lived on Fairview road south of Santa Ana for seven years and since 1900 have lived at the corner of First and Baker streets. He was retired and was quite active in the Episcopal church. Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Mary E. Stanley; two sons, Henry C., of Oakland, and Ernest J. Stanley, of Mexico; and two daughters, Mrs. Claude Smallwood, of Pleasanton, Calif., and Miss Edith Stanley, of Santa Ana.

Reach Agreement On Film Exchange

BERLIN, July 16.—(UP)—An agreement covering the importation of American films into Germany was announced today. The total of American entertainment films to be imported in 1930 was fixed at 210, of which a third shall be talking pictures. The government may authorize an additional 20 films in event of special circumstances.

The quota on education and cultural films was changed to 2 to 1, instead of the basis of even exchange, which was retained on all other classes of film.

CANDIDATE IS QUESTIONER IN SENATE PROBE

Ruth M'Cormick Seeks to Prove Did Not Solicit Thompson Support

CHICAGO, July 16.—(UP)—Ruth Hanna McCormick took the questioning of witnesses into her own hands at the senate campaign funds inquiry today and sought to prove that she did not solicit the support of Mayor William Hale Thompson when she won the Republican senatorial nomination in Illinois against Sen. Charles S. Deneen last April.

Since her return from Washington Congresswoman McCormick has been busy replying to charges that she won her big vote in Chicago by casting her lot with "Big Bill" Thompson and others of the city hall Republican organization. Some of her opponents even made veiled illusions to an alleged political alliance between Mrs. McCormick and "Scarface" Al Capone, the gang leader.

Today Mrs. McCormick had an opportunity to put her denial of these reports into the record of the senate campaign funds committee. Sen. Gerald P. Nye, conducting the committee's inquiry here, permitted Mrs. McCormick to cross-question B. W. Snow, chairman of the Cook county Republican central committee.

Snow had testified that his committee indorsed Mrs. McCormick's candidacy. To Mrs. McCormick's questions Snow replied:

"I took responsibility for marking the ballots for Mrs. McCormick. I did that not because of any particular interest in her candidacy but because personal contact with the voters and my political workers showed me there was a wave of sentiment running very high in her behalf. I felt we would benefit our local ticket by indorsing her."

Senator Nye read a letter from George Harding, county treasurer, and a power in the city hall organization, in which Harding said Mrs. McCormick had declined to contribute funds to his group saying she would rather lose the election than win and "be ousted as Ware and Frank L. Smith were."

Earlier in the morning session, devoted largely to the questioning of local political leaders, Col. R. R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune and brother of Mrs. McCormick's late husband, submitted $17,000 in cancelled checks representing his contributions to his sister-in-law's campaign. This money had been reported previously by Mrs. McCormick.

Foster Leaves Los Angeles Jail for East

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—(UP)—Frankie Foster, gangster wanted in Chicago under an indictment charging him with the murder of Edward J. Lingle, reporter, was taken from county jail here sometime during the night and presumably was enroute to the Illinois city today.

Authorities said yesterday that the start east probably would not be made until tonight or tomorrow but Foster was not in his cell this morning. Officials said they "suppose" he was on his way to Chicago and refused to tell when he left the jail or how he was being taken back.

The Chicago indictment against Foster was returned after he was captured here and after Chicago police identified him as the former owner of the gun used to murder Lingle in a survey early in June.

TROOPS GUARD STREETS TODAY IN ALEXANDRIA

Eight Europeans Are Killed In Riots Tuesday and Many Are Injured

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 16.—(UP)—British and Egyptian troops, approximately 1000 strong, stood guard in the streets of Alexandria today to preserve the order that was restored only after 14 were killed and 400 injured during riots throughou the city yesterday.

The rioting spread terror among Europeans, who were included among the dead and injured, and left the city to spena the night in darkness since most of .the .street lamps were broken by the mobs.

Apparently pre-conceived and well organized, the rioting broke out in the midst of a two hour period of silence in memory of some seven persons who were killed in comparatively small disorders at Mansurah last week. The Wafdists—Nationalist party—had requested

Expected Governor Young to Hold Hearing As Soon As Man Arrives

BALTIMORE, Md., July 16.—(UP)—John MacDonald will leave today for California on a mission to free Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings whom he implicated in the 1916 San Francisco preparedness parade bombing by testimony he now swears was perjured.

MacDonald expected to depart this evening, accompanied by his two young attorneys, Charles Ruzicka and Hilary Gans, and probably by Edward H. Nockels, veteran secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, who obtained MacDonald's first affidavit in 1921, repudiating the Mooney-Billings testimony.

Arrives Tuesday

His departure today would put MacDonald back upon the scene of the explosion which killed 10 persons and injured 40 others shortly before the 14th anniversary of the disaster, which is Tuesday. He will step aboard the train, a broken man at 58, showing plainly the effects of ill-health and worry.

MacDonald and his lawyers plan to stop in New York for a few hours en route to the coast to confer with Frank P. Walsh, personal attorney for Mooney, who will leave New York by plane for California, going ahead of MacDonald.

The key witness and his lawyers, are expected to leave New York for Chicago at 11:10 tonight.

Wires Governor

"I handled matter with MacDonald's attorneys relative his return to California, and guarantee by you of his transportation. MacDonald will leave today for California. Have notified MacDonald through his attorneys that complete investigation and review of entire cases to be conducted. Am also informed his attorneys accompanying him on trip today."

Ruzicka and Gans received a telegram today from Young saying that before MacDonald left for the coast, some "agreement" should be signed by him and forwarded to the governor. The message was not exactly clear to the lawyers. They expect to reply later today.

BANDIT KILLED IN THRILLING ROBBERY

CANTON, Ohio, July 16.—(UP)—One of a trio of bandits was killed here today and a special police officer of the First National bank was wounded seriously during a street holdup of a bank messenger.

N. R. Riblett, a bank policeman opened fire on the bandits and one dropped dead. He has not been identified. The officer was seriously wounded in the exchange of bullets. The two other bandits escaped with a satchel containing a large sum of money.

Zane Grey Sued For Plagiarism

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—(UP)—Zane Grey, noted author of western stories, was charged with plagiarism in a half million dollar damage suit filed in federal court here today.

The action, brought by Charles A. Maddux, pioneer westerner, contended that Grey's "Thundering Herd" was pirated from the novel "The Border and the Buffalo," written in 1907.

The rights to the "Border and the Buffalo" were assigned to Maddux by the widow of the author, John R. Cook, it was said.

Cook's story detailed the hunting of Buffalo in Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas in the days when those states were only sparsely settled, the complaint stated.

Much of Grey's novel, a best seller in 1925, was lifted from Cook's work, it was charged, although Grey interpolated a love story in "The Thundering Herd."

Lutherans May Exclude Legionnaires

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 16.—(UP)—A proposal to bar American Legion members from the Evangelical Lutheran church will be voted upon by the Wisconsin and Missouri synods of the church September 16, it was announced today.

Lutheran ministers are divided on the question of whether the Legion is an "oath-bound, secret, religious organization," incompatible with the laws of the church. One group headed by the Rev. A. Pieper, of Thiensville, believes it is such an order, and would refuse church membership to Legionnaires.

However, the view of the Rev. Charles Buenger, of Kenosha, and many other ministers, is that the Legion is not military, political or religious, but is a civilian, patriotic group, and therefore acceptable.

BUENOS AIRES PILOTS FORCED TO "BAIL OUT"

Projected Non-stop Flight Comes to Spectacular End In Georgia

BOSTWICK, Ga., July 16.—(UP)—The projected non-stop refueling flight of the Stinson-Detroiter monoplane "K" from New York to Buenos Aires came to a spectacular end here today when its three pilots leaped to safety in parachutes and the plane plunged 600 feet into sage brush.

The pilots, Randy Enslow, James Darringer and Garland P. Reed, were forced by rapidly dwindling fuel supply and inability even to see land because of heavy rain clouds, to leap for their lives after circling over this town for two hours.

G. A. Munn, of Bostwick, who saw the leap, said the three airmen landed in a sage brush field one mile northwest of here. The first to leap, twice was obscured from view by clouds because of the height from which the jump was made.

NAVAL COMMANDER TAKES DENVER POST

DENVER, Colo., July 16.—(UP)—L. E. Bratton, retired United States naval commander with a brilliant naval record, today took over the reins of law enforcement in Denver.

He succeeds Reuben W. Hershey, grand master of the grand lodge of Masons in Colorado, who was discharged as manager of safety and excise for insubordination by Mayor Benjamin F. Stapleton.

Hershey's ouster and Commander Bratton's selection was precipitated by a critical interview regarding the mayor which Hershey gave out during a recent grand jury investigation of vice and gambling conditions in Denver. The ousted official was reported at the time to be planning to run for mayor.

Chance Of Success In Grape Trouble

FRESNO, Calif., July 16.—(UP)—The California grape control board today was preparing its 1930 program, signifying that its members have hopes of contracting the 85 per cent of total acreage necessary for its operation.

William A. Boekel of San Francisco will fix the time and place for a meeting of the control board temporary directorate, where plans will be laid for an immediate start of the program, it was learned.

"If the drive should prove successful, we must be ready to take charge and start operations at once," it was announced at the control board office.

SAYS LONDON TREATY NOT PEACE PACT

NEARLY CAUSED WAR

Washington Arms Conference Also Attacked By Senator From Tennessee

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(UP)—Charges that negotiation of the London naval treaty almost brought on a war between France and Italy were made on the floor of the senate today by Senator McKellar, Dem., Tenn., in a plea for rejection of the pact.

McKellar denounced President Hoover's refusal to disclose all related documents to the senate.

"No public official," McKellar said, "has the right to transact the people's business in secret. That is why the treaty is a sham and why it is not a real peace treaty.

"Why, we almost brought on a war while we were making this treaty in London."

He said the secrecy surrounding the London negotiations had produced "bad blood."

McKellar opened his attack on the treaty with a denunciation of the Washington arms conference, which he emphasized was conducted during the administration of President Harding and under the leadership of Charles Evans Hughes.

Senator Shortridge Republican, California, asked McKellar how he voted on the Washington arms conference treaty. McKellar said he did not vote. Shortridge then read from the record of 1922 to show that McKellar's colleague had announced when the vote was taken that McKellar was unavoidably absent, but, if present, would vote for the treaty.

"My colleague was in error," McKellar replied and insisted he had corrected the record although Shortridge showed that the record still showed McKellar would have voted for the treaty if present.

"Our own delegate at London," McKellar continued, "admitted the Washington conference treaty did not give us parity in capital ships when they asked for permission during the London conference to build one more 35,000 ton battleship.

HEAVY PEACH CROP MAY ROT ON TREES

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—(UP)—During 1930 California will probably witness its annual "price war," so disastrous to the peach industry during recent years.

But it may witness the spectacle of thousands of high grade peaches rotting in the sun and in the shade of overburdened trees.

The peach control agreement which is expected to avert the price slashing of the past was ratified here yesterday and will become effective during the coming season. The agreement has been in the process of negotiation for the past two months and its successful conclusion was announced by Preston McKinley, vice president of the Canners League of California, who as secretary of the committee will administer the curtailment.

Reduce Times Of Two Fast Trains

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—(UP)—Reductions in running time of two leading Southern Pacific trains were announced today.

Beginning July 27, the "Apache" westbound from Chicago to Los Angeles will cut its 63-hour time by 4 hours and 31 minutes. The eastbound "Californian" now running on a 75-hour schedule, will reduce its time to 68 1/2 hours.

The Apache will operate westbound through Phoenix instead of Maricopa and the Californian will make both trips through the Imperial valley of California, it was said.

State Park Appraisal Bodies To Make Report Today

TWO GROUPS IN MEETING ON VALUE OF LAND

With members of the Orange county special appraisal committee, appointed some time ago by the county board of supervisors to set a value on the strip of beach land between Newport Beach and Huntington Beach, in conference at the court house today with a representative of an appraisal company selected by the state park board to set a value on the land, which it is proposed shall be purchased jointly by the state and county as the site of a state park, a report is expected to be made today to members of the board of supervisors, according to members of the appraisal committee.

The matter of a state park on the beach has been agitated for some time and the state park board has approved the land in question as a suitable location. The park board is to purchase the tract jointly with the county, then take it over and operate it and maintain it, according to plans that have been announced.

Members of the committee and D. C. Pixley, F. E. McCarter, W. H. Warner, Donald Jones and Louis Briggs. The representative of the appraisal company is Thomas O. Lindholz, of Los Angeles. The Orange county committee and the appraisal company representatives were reported deadlocked at noon, and could not make any announcement of prices. It was stated that they expected to report to the board of supervisors some time today. The supervisors are in session as the board of equalization.

California Agency Leads In Business

California, again in June, won leadership over all the other agencies of the State Life Insurance company of Indiana, more than $1,500,000 new life business having been written in this state during the month.

As at June 30th, California already had produced a total of $10,400,000 new business for this year.

June made the seventh consecutive month and the thirteenth month out of the last 18 that the California agency, which is under the direction of Arthur J. Hill, California manager, had captured United States leadership.

The California agency is producing at better than a $20,000,000-a-year rate for 1930.

MOTLEY FLINT FUNERAL HELD THIS MORNING

The pastor, center in many a court fight here, also used his talk as an answer to City Prosecutor Lloyd Nix, who, talking over the radio, said the Rev. Mr. Shuler "had made careless, wild and reckless charges although he would not deliberately do harm to a living thing."

While the controversy went on about "Julian thieves in politics," authorities planned to attempt to force a speedy trial in the case.

Indictment Voted

And the indictment was voted within a few minutes after a coroner's jury decided that Keaton shot Flint with homicidal intent.

Keaton was taken before Superior Judge Marshall McComb who ordered him to appear Thursday to plead to the charge.

Keaton's depressed demeanor changed only once yesterday and that when Judge Frank C. Collier testified at the inquest. Judge Collier, in whose courtroom Flint was fatally shot just as he stepped from the witness stand, was describing the scene.

"The shots came apart—first one and then a pause followed by two more," the jurist stated. "Mr. Flint staggered and fell."

Keaton, his eyes dilated and his hands clenched, leaped to his feet. Then he slumped back into his seat, covering his face with his hands. He made no further move and when asked if he wanted to testify replied, "I have nothing to say."

"I feel sure of his success since his appointment of the new director of prohibition, Amos Woodcock is an able lawyer, a distinguished soldier and an idealist. He will do a clean, lawyer-like job and command general respect."

Explains Depression

The financial depression, Mrs. Willebrandt said, resulted from a post-war period of recovery with a sharp upcurve, during which every aim was for "money, prospecity, the acquisition of things, such as motor cars, the evidence of wealth."

"America has been glutted with economic triumph. The higher the wave, the stronger the undertow. The break therefore had inevitably to come. The financial depression is levelling down the extremes of optimism, substituting the daring and recklessness of expansion by more careful and orderly development. This is an economic zero hour.

"At such a period, our country is fortunate indeed to have a president whose experience and type of leadership is steady and constructive.

PROHIBITION ???

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., July 16.—When Mack Strawderman of Mathias arrived in Elkins to answer a Prohibition law charge, he rode on his first train and listened to his first radio program. Then, to top it off, when he got to court and answered his summons, he told the court that he had his first time to ever hear of Prohibition. That didn't help him much, for he was fined $100.

THREE SUITS FILED AFTER CAR CRASHES

Three damage suits were filed in superior court yesterday as the result of automobile accidents, totaling $40,541.25.

W. V. Whitson, et al, were named as defendants in two of the actions which were filed by Gladys Umphfres and Ophelia Hudgens. Each of the two plaintiffs ask $10,000 for personal injuries and asks in addition special damages. In the Umphfres case special damages for medical attention are set at $25, while the other plaintiff asks $50. The accident took place in Santa Ana last month.

J. W. Smith was plaintiff in the other suit. He is suing Victor Whitaker jr., and his parents for a total of $20,466.25. Smith, who is 75 years of age, itemizes his claim as follows: personal injuries, $10,000; loss of wages, $9816.25 (this was based on a table of the expectancy of his life, which was set at a little over six years); expenses caused by accident, $208.75, damages to auto, $301.25; loss of use of his car, $140. The accident occurred last March.

permission for the period of silence, and had promised there would be no trouble.

As everything was going quietly, however, a group of mourners began hurling stones and bottles at the police who were watching them in Mohamed Ali square and the Rue Cherif Pasha. The police, surprised and out-numbered, retreated hastily before the advancing mob, and took refuge in the police station.

Almost simultaneously with that outbreak, which occurred at 11 a. m., Europeans and their shops in all parts of the city were attacked by other mobs, which were steadily increased in numbers.

An Italian boy was reported among the Europeans killed, while Major Fitzpatrick, an English police officer, was injured by a stone. Eight Europeans in all were reported killed.

Premier Sidky Pasha arrived here last night and conferred with the officers in command of Egyptian troops stationed in Mahamed Ali square. Seven hundred other Egyptian troops also were rushed from Cairo to aid in controlling the city.

RABBIT BREEDERS HOLD MEETING HERE

An interesting meeting was held by the Orange County Rabbit Breeders' association last night in the Farm bureau office, North Main street. J. T. Lynch, secretary of the California Marketing association, was the principal speaker. He chose as his subject, "Marketing of the Rabbit." Last night's meeting was presided over by Mrs. C. E. Dowles, the club secretary.

Lynch explained the purpose of his organization and the marked growth it has attained since its inception more than three years ago. The speaker said that he planned to send a buyer to this district every Wednesday and those breeders having rabbits to sell, could make the necessary arrangements by notifying Mrs. Dowless.

Following Lynch's ddress, there was a general business session followed by a luncheon.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

Two impulses you should avoid: doubting the content of other men's beliefs and questioning the validity of your own where it differs from theirs.

It may very well be that other people have experienced a consciousness of the nearness of their dear departed which you have never had. This does not mean, merely because your mind and heart and soul have not known a similar consciousness, that what you believe or have experienced lacks reality and certitude.

Live courageously in the conviction that your dear one is joyously going on into a richer experience which you shall some day share. Indeed, as you strive to do your best, you are in a measure sharing it even now.

MONEY MOTIVE OF MURDER IN DELHI, BELIEF

That money instead of a woman was the motive for the murder at Delhi last Sunday afternoon of Manuel Valenzuella, who was stabbed to death by Pete Gonzales in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning at which time the defendant was held to answer to the superior court on a murder charge, without bail.

Sid Smithwick, assistant chief of police of Santa Ana, who quizzed Gonzales soon after the crime, testified that Gonzales told him that Valenzuella had borrowed money from him and had not paid it back, which led to the breach between the two men.

Gonzales did not take the witness stand. A number of new witnesses were heard but none of them saw the fight which ended in the murder of Valenzuella.

Attorney William Menton represented the district attorney's office in the case and Gonzales is being defended by Attorneys N. D. Meyer and Morris Cain.

Local Briefs

President Henry J. Brubaker, of the Illinoisans of all Southern California, makes this last call to the Suckers to rally for their big summer outing reunion, all day, Saturday, July 19th, in Bixby park, Long Beach.

He will open the county registers and headquarters early and will supply badges and hot coffee for all. The program of music and short addresses will follow the basket dinner hour but will not interfere with sociability. Hon. Frank F. Merriam will deliver the address of welcome. The Utica Jubilee quartet will supply the old southern songs and Negro melodies. Dr. Burton Y. Neal will be among the entertainers.

Mrs. J. Simon (Si) Flour today continued in her speedy recovery from burns suffered when a gas stove exploded Monday afternoon at her home west of Anaheim. The injuries are painful but not of a serious nature.

A meeting of the Inter-County Walnut department will be held in the association house, Friday, at Los Angeles. J. A. Smiley will represent Orange county. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans for the annual walnut institute which will be held sometime in the early fall, it was announced.

ROAD BUILDING AND HARBOR DEVELOPMENT MAJOR TOPICS AT MEETING OF COAST TODAY

The regular monthly meeting of the Orange County Coast association, was held at Traviaglini's cafe at San Clemente last night. President W. D. Miller introduced several candidates as such to the assembly.

Report of committee on dalyight saving by Sumner Crosby, chairman, showed six for and five against its adoption. Edward H. Brown, of the California Daylight Saving league, spoke in favor of the measure.

A comprehensive report from the highways committee, supplemented by a report from the committee on state highways by J. Rumm, of the state highways commission, was received.

Rumm stated that in the next 10 years $325,000,000 will be spent on state roads, for which the money is already in sight.

F. C. Ferry, of the marine committee, reported that the coast guard had received orders from Washington to watch for bilge pumping by boats that would pollute the beaches.

A resolution was presented by Harry Lake on behalf of the county unity committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce relative to the calling of a bond election for the improvement of Newport Harbor for $1,000,000 or $1,500,000, said amount to be made available when it would be matched by the United States government. It also called for the engineer of the project to be selected by the government engineer of this district.

It was moved by S. H. Lucas that the report be received and referred to the committee on harbor development for study with orders to peresent a report at the next meeting. J. P. Greeley moved a substitute motion, that it be passed at the present time. In speaking on behalf of his motion, Lucas said no one was a bigger harbor booster than he, but he doubted the legal possibilities of handling this matter as called for in the resolution, and desired that that phase of the matter at least be given mature consideration before the adoption.

A delegate from Los Alamitos said he was opposed to connecting the harbor and the water conservation programs in a trade of any kind, and believed it would be well to have the additional month made necessary by the by-laws of the association in order that the members might be made more fully acquainted with the purports of the resolution.

Greeley moved the suspension of the rules to permit its immediate adoption, which was carried. The proponents of this resolution declared they wished to get the harbor development and state park measures out of the way before the water conservation program was again submitted to the voters.

H. L. Sherman declared he doubted the possibilities of carrying a bond issue on the ground suggested and that the days of log-rolling by the river and harbors committee in Washington were past. He also said in several instances where Newport harbor already had tried to obtain government aid, it had been found that it would be impossible to get government aid prior to the actual establishment of commercial trade. He also said it would be well for those present to consider this question in all its phases before passing a resolution as it might reflect on the intelligence of those voting for it.

In supporting the measure, it was declared by its proponents that to present it to the voters in this form would make its passage easier. Lew Wallace, in supporting the measure said he did not particularly agree upon that clause making it contingent upon government aid, but he believed it would assist in getting out a favorable vote for the measure. The measure was passed with not more than half of those present voting.

After the report by President Miller of his attendance at a nation-wide convention of representative men interested in the preservation of the beaches of the United States, which is being held at Long Beach, Lucas moved that the president be authorized to name a committee to represent the Orange County Coast association at the convention today, as that feature was one of the most vitally interesting of the various phases of the work of this association.

Lucas named the amount of available beach that is now open to the public in Orange county, and stated among other things that there is three-quarters of mile of public-owned beach at Dana Point to which the public now has no right of access, as the road of 50 years stading leading down to the beach has been fenced off and made accessable only to those who had been given a key to the padlocked gate. E. J. Lyle of the Dana Point organization declared this was a gross misrepresentation of facts, as a stairway had been provided which the public was being granted the privilege of using.

Lucas replied that he could not afford to let that statement stand, and that some two or three weeks ago he had driven to the historic spot where Dana had risked his life to rescue the hides and had found this gate closed and locked. While waiting there enjoying the view with his wife, a man had driven up in a car, opened the gate with his key and driven down to the beach. He further declared that from these facts the inference could be plainly drawn by anyone present.

George Thompson of Laguna said that he believed this question of public beaches should be taken up by the state, surveys made, and the proper amount of beach for public use acquired. That this way, in his opinion, is the only manner in which this question could be handled without infringing on legitimate private rights. Tom Talbert declared he was not in favor of having all the beach in the county open to the public, but that certain sections should be acquired for that purpose, but that he heartily subscribed to Thompson's ideas.

STREET WIDENING SUIT IS LAUNCHED

A condemnation suit was filed today by the city of Santa Ana in which 82 defendants were named. The proceeding is in connection with the proposed widening of West Seventeenth street between Main street and Flower street.

The city is seeking a strip 14 feet wide on the north side of the street and 15 feet wide on the south side of the street. The complaint covers 74 pages, listing the various parcels of land that is sought to be condemned by the city in order to increase the width of the thoroughfare, in addition to a number of exhibits, such as copies of proceedings of the city council in connection with the matter and a map showing the district.

The action was filed through City Attorney Charles Swanner.

Marriage License Notices Reversed

In the publication yesterday of names of those who had filed notices of intention to marry, two sets of names were mixed up, with the result that the wrong parties were linked in the notice as it ran, and two names were left out entirely.

COLLINS TELLS ABOUT CASE OF WILLIAM ROSS

Legal points of the W. W. Ross case were outlined by Sam Collins, candidate for district attorney, speaking before the Placentia Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Collins stated that, for some reason, the Ross case had received considerable attention from the public, but that it had been handled exactly as all other cases of grand theft, and that three cases of similar nature had been handled the same day as the case in question without attracting any undue attention.

Earl Abbey, candidate for county treasurer, also was present and in a few words stated his ambitions.

President A. S. Bradford was absent from the meeting and Secretary T. E. Pickerill acted as chairman.

The resignation of A. B. Miner, automobile dealer who is now located at Fullerton, was read and accepted.

Reports on the so-called "harmony" meeting of northern Orange county chamber of commerce representatives at the Elks club, Anaheim, were given by H. O. Easton, E. M. Everett and T. E. Pickerill, who read the resolution passed at the meeting, favoring a harbor bond issue of $1,500,000, providing the government raises an equal amount.

No action was taken by the local chamber on this resolution, which was laid over until another meeting. Plans for a chamber of commerce picnic also were laid over after discussion.

C. E. Lee reported on the "Ralph McFadden for Sheriff" club started at Anaheim, with James Tuttree as chairman.

CHURCH TO ERECT $20,000 BUILDING

Hurd and Pickering will start work Friday on construction of the $20,000 educational building the First Christian church is to erect on the northeast corner of Sixth and Birch streets, it was announced today by C. B. Hurd, member of the firm of contractors to which the contract has been awarded.

The church building is to have two stories and is to have dimensions of 48 by 66 feet. The upper floor will be devoted to class rooms. The entire lower floor is to be devoted to an auditorium with seating capacity for a large number of persons. A large stage will offer facilities for presentation of plays and other activities of the church in the way of addresses and public gatherings.

Hurd also revealed that his firm has been awarded the contract for the construction of three 6-room residences on Wisteria avenue, for Ray Goodcell. The general contract price for the three dwellings is $12,000, with other items of construction adding to the total cost.

WEBB DECIDES STUDENTS NOT ABSENT VOTERS

Definite and authentic information concerning persons entitled to vote at the approaching primary and regular election next fall were received today by County Clerk J. M. Backs i nthe form of an opinion from Attorney General U. S. Webb.

The ruling which was made to determine the status of students under the law, declares that only three classes of persons are entitled to vote by absent voters' ballots. These are (1) those who are required by reason of their occupation to travel; (2) those who are engaged in the civil, congressional military or naval service of the United States or of the state;; and (3) those who, because of injury or disability, are absent from their precincts. Attorney General Webb interprets this as meaning that students are not qualified to vote under the absent voter law.

Persons who are qualified to vote the absent voter ballots are required to make application for same in the office of the county clerk between August 16 and 21, for the primary election. County Clerk Backs has all special forms for this purpose ready. Only 16 applications for absent voter ballots were filed with Backs at the general election two years ago.

ERNEST H. RURUP CALLED BY DEATH

Ernst H. Rurup, 81, retired rancher and a prominent citizen of Santa Ana, died today at his home, 2730 North Flower street. He had been a resident of this city for the past 27 years. Funeral arrangements have been withheld pending the arrival of two sons, C. L. Rurup, of Utica, Neb., and William Rurup, of Harvard, Neb.

In addition to these children, he is survived by W. F. Rurup, Santa Ana; Mrs. Clara Hoban and H. C. Rurup, both of Orange, the latter being a well known druggist, Mrs. C. W. Courtney and Emma M. Hill, at the home; Ernest G. Rurup, Oakland, and Mrs. Fleta H. Irwin, of Brea.

Funeral arrangements will be under the direction of Smith and Tuthill, Santa Ana.

FIRE IS AVERTED NEAR VILLA PARK

A serious grass fire in the vicinity of North Villa Park was narrowly averted yesterday by the prompt action of passersby. The blaze is thought to have been caused by a lighted cigarette or match thrown from a passing automobile.

Noting the smoldering hillside, a group of men, including Harold Brewer, John Regan, Dave Clough, Willard Smith and Joe Sherman hastened to the scene, and after a few minutes, succeeded in extinguishing the conflagration.

W. M. Cory, acting farm advisor, indicated this morning that extensive efforts would be made to impress upon citizens the need of extreme precaution if similar occurrences, entailing a possible loss of valuable property, were to be avoided.

A newcomer to Santa Ana recently received a six months suspended jail sentence for burning acreage in Orange park without a permit, according to Cary. Ignorance of the state laws in regard to this ordinance was responsible for leniency being shown.

BAND PROGRAM WILL FEATURE ITALIAN MUSIC

The unusually colorful program that is being planned for presentation in Birch park tomorrow night by Santa Ana Municipal band, will be offered in honor of "Italian Night," according to D. C. Cianfoni, director of the popular local organization. In addition to featured appearance on this program of Mme. Maria Caselotti, internationally celebrated coloratura soprano and opera singer of wide experience, who will be heard in the familiar aria, "Ah fors e' Lui" from "Traviata," as well as a varied group of songs in English, Italian and Spanish, numerous well known selections from Italian composers are scheduled to be offered by the band.

Especially will the works of Giuseppe Verdi, often spoken of as the "king of Italian composers" have a prominent place, selections from three of his operas, "Aida," "Traviata" and "Il Trovatore" to be played by the band.

Verdi is noted as the most representative Italian opera composer of his time, having been born in Roncold, Italy, in 1813. He displayed marked musical talent at an early age, being appointed organist in the village church when but 10 years old.

Winning a scholarship, Verdi studied composition a short time at the Conservatory of Milan. He produced his first successful opera, "Nabucco" in 1842. This was the beginning of a popularity which steadily increased throughout the half-century in which he was recognized as master and moulder of Italian musical thought, his influence opening a new era in the history of Italian opera.

In 1844, Verdi produced "Ernani," and upon the performance of his supremely successful "Rigoletto" at Venice in 1851, was acclaimed the greatest operatic composer of his day.

1853 saw production of Verdi's "Il Trovatore" in Rome, and "La Traviata" in Venice, followed by premiere rendition of "Aida" in Cairo, Egypt, in 1871. Though bearing resemblance to the old Italian school, these early works possess more vigor and fertility of melodic invention, together with keener dramatic insight, his creative genius characterized by unparalleled alertness and vitality.

"Falstaff" followed in 1873, noted for freshness, spontaneity, and eloquence of orchestral details.

Employing all resources of modern instrumentation in his orchestral works, Verdi sought for true dramatic expression as none of his predecessors had. Grieg places Verdi on a level with Wagner, calling him "the greatest dratmatist of his century."

Additional selections from other Italian composers will also be offered, including an instrumental sextette, a selection from Donizetti's "Lucia."

CRADLE OF BASEBALL

Holy Cross college in Massachusetts has the distinction of sending more baseball players to the major leagues in the past few years than any other eastern educational institution.

OPERA SINGER

Mme. Maria Caselotti, celebrated coloratura soprano and opera singer, will appear tomorrow night on the program of the Santa Ana Municipal band, which will play in Birch park.

RECEIVE NEWS OF RELATIVE'S DEATH

Coming as a shock to Miss Blanche Cartmill, 644 North Broadway, and Mrs. Van Eakin of Anaheim, was news of the death of their father, G. W. Cartmill, which occurred in West Virginia yesterday morning. The wire announcing Mr. Cartmill's end, came late yesterday, and although it had been preceded by one announcing his illness, it was not expected that death would claim him so soon. Naither of his daughters is planning to attend the funeral, which will take place at Point Pleasant, W. Va., where he is well known, having lived in that vicinity practically all of his life.

He had been living with his sister, Mrs. Frank Childers, at Winfield, W. Va., for several years, and it was there that he passed his last hours. Mr. Cartmill was well known in Santa Ana, as he visited here seven years ago with his daughters and other relatives, remaining for some time. He is survived by Miss Blanche Cartmill and Mrs. Van Eakin, and one other daughter, Mrs. Lewis Carlwell, of W. Va.

Orange County Is Unable To Qualify In Heat Marathon

While thermometers throughout the nation were engaged in a marathon contest for heat endurance records, the high marks ranging from 108 to 114 degrees, instruments in Santa Ana and Orange county displayed a cool indifference to the contest today.

Hill and Son's thermometer in Santa Ana was not even entered in the contest, in which participants must pass the 100 mark to qualify. The heat guage stepped up to 96 degrees at 11 a. m., but at noon again lost interest and was down to 90 degrees, where it hovered for the remainder of the day.

FIRST STREET AIRPORT WORK BEING RUSHED

With one building nearly completed and the spacious field partially levelled, construction work on the new Santa Ana airport, on West First street near Sullivan, is progressing today faster than anticipated. The new project, which is sponsored by the Santa Ana Airways, ltd., will give to this city one of the finest and most up to date ports on the Pacific slope.

The undertaking is under the direction of R. T. Dixon and Art C. Anderson. According to tentative plans, $15,000 to $20,000 will be expended at once, this to cover the cost of a stucco hangar, 60x112 feet; a complete drainage system to keep the field clear of water during the winter months; smaller buildings, planes and general equipment. Later expenditures will be made as new improvements are deemed necessary.

Negotiations are now pending for the delivery of one or two light cabin planes. No official decision has been made, according to Dixon although several conferences have been held with representatives of various leading manufacturers. These planes, in addition to being commercial assets, also will be used for instruction work by the company's flying school, which will be in charge of Anderson.

A feature of the field will be a giant fog light which should prove an invaluable beacon to fliers following night routes. There will be a huge 1700 foot runway, north and south, with the possibility of additional space according to the growth of the airport.

Orange Council May Hear Swing Talk About Dam

ORANGE, July 16.—Members of the Orange city council may attend a meeting sponsored by the city of San Bernardino at which Phil D. Swing will speak on the Boulder dam and the Metropolitan water district and which is to be held at San Bernardino July 28. No definite action in accepting an invitation extended by the Gate City was taken yesterday by the body who is to consider the matter this week.

Visiting councilmen will ride in a monster parade to be staged before the meeting. The city of Orange does not belong to the Metropolitan water district.

Of the 8332 horses which, according to racing statistics, ran on United States tracks last year, 2475 of them never finished in the money.

LOAN FIRM PAYS EXTRA DIVIDEND

A extra dividend of 12 cents a share plus the regular quarterly divident of 32 1-2 cents yesterday was paid preferred shareholders of State Guaranty corporation, sole stock owner of Pacific States Savings and Loan company.

At the same time the shareholders learned that the earnings of Pacific States savings for the six months ended June 30 were the largest for any corresponding period in the institution's history. These six months earnings were $351,661.75 after allowance for federal income tax, according to the quarterly letter which accompanied the dividend checks.

The letter, over the signature of Robert S. Odell, director of finance of State Guaranty corporation and president of Pacific States Savings, also stated that during the six months only $187,344.23 in loan underwriting fees was transferred to earnings while as of June 30 there remained of unallocated fees a balance of $1,600,215.77 available for future distribution.

Announcement of the record earnings follows the news recently that Pacific States Savings had become the largest building and loan association in the United States. The dividend letter further pointed out that the institution is continuing its growth and during the 10-day July reinvestment period opened 3,982 new accounts for savings for a total of $3,351,966 which exceeded the July reinvestment period of 1929, and brings resources up to more than 68 millions.

Report Two Cases Of Infant Malady

Two additional cases of infantile paralysis have been reported in Orange county it was announced this morning by Dr. H. K. Sutherland, county health officer. Audrienne Wright, 9, 432 Monterey street, Laguna Beach, and Walter Bittner, 6, of near Cypress, are the latest victims of the disease. This brings the total number of those afflicted since the epidemic made its appearance here in June, to 29. Of this number, only seven are now under quarantine, the rest having completely recovered. The condition of the others is not regarded as serious, it was indicated.

MEMBERSHIP QUOTA SOUGHT BY LEGION

Special notice has been received by officers of the Santa Ana post of th eAmerican Legion from the California state headquarters of the organization, calling attention to the fact that books are closed 30 days prior to the state convention, which opens at Sacramento on Aug. 18. All committee reports and membership dues must be mailed not later than Friday, July 18, acording to this report.

The Santa Ana post at present is just 25 members under its quota of 625 and special efforts are being made by membership committees to reach the quota before Friday. Committees are requested to turn in dues to Commander Otto Jacobs, Robert Walker or Adjutant Ed Kolbe.

HOLD MEXICAN AFTER ASSAULT IN EL MODENA

Dava Luna, El Modena Mexican, was arrested last night by Sheriff Sam Jernigan and Deputy A. L. Steward and is being held in the county jail on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

He is asserted to have stabbed Ben Abalos, also of El Modena, three times when the two fought at El Modena several nights ago. At the time, Abalos was arrested by sheriff's officers and lodged in the county hospital where he was held on a drunk charge. He was fined $50 on the charge yesterday.

Abolos could not "remember" who stabbed him when he was questioned by officers, but yesterday named his assailant and caused his arrest.

Luna is expected to be arraigned on the charge before Justice Kenneth Morrison this afternoon.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The U. S. has 400,000 colonists scattered throughout the world, according to Charles Hodges, associate professor of politics at New York university, Canada contains the largest number of these U. S. citizens—234,147, and the second largest number is located in Europe, 77,063.

MANY PRESENT AT ASSEMBLY MEETING HERE

Interest is increasing in the Evangelical assembly of Southern California which is being held in the assembly grounds in a grove west of Santa Ana, and a large attendance is marking the various sessions each day.

Services today opened with a morning watch at 6:30 o'clock under the leadership of the Rev. O. Steps, of San Bernardino. During the morning, after a Bible hour directed by Bishop L. H. Seager, of Le Mars, Iowa, class periods and study hours were observed for those interested in the course of religious education that is being offered.

At noon there was an assembly meditation period, directed by the Rev. F. A. Zeller, of Burbank.

The assembly address this afternoon was brought by Dr. H. J. Kiekhoefer, of Altadena. Later there were group conferences for the Women's Missionary society and the council of religious education.

The vesper service at 6:45 p. m. will be under the direction of the Rev. F. Schroeder, of Los Angeles, while Bishop Seager will have charge of the worship at 7:30 p. m.

Morning worship yesterday was based on II Kings, 5:20-27. Later in the morning Bishop Seager gave the first of a series of five talks on the book of Job. He pointed out that this book was classed as poetry, was written 4000 years ago and that the author probably was Moses. The Bishop asserted that the proper consideration of the text is that it is historical with poetical embellishments. The key word is "trials" or "testing" and the key verse is the ninth of the first chapter, "Does Job serve God for naught?" according to Bishop Seager.

The noon-day meditation yesterday was directed by Rev. Zeller, who spoke on the subject "Nobody Knows It All" based on First Corinthians, 13:9. He asserted that no one can know the entire truth and urged that people be charitable toward those who disagree with them, for "you might be the one that is wrong and the other fellow right," he declared.

The Women's Missionary society conference yesterday afternoon was led by Mrs. H. A. Boelter after an assembly address by Mrs. L. H. Seager, who spoke on "Why Should I be Interested in Foreign Missions?" She used two texts, John 10:11-16 and Matthew 28:16-20, and gave three reasons for being interested. First, we are Christians; second, we are women and women were last at the cross and first at the tomb; third, we belong to a missionary church.

The Rev. Mr. Schrader conducted the vesper service last night, while the evening worship period was under the direction of Bishop Seager. The Bishop's subject was "The Challenge of the Best" and he used three scriptural references, I Corinthians, 12:31, Phillipians, 3:13-14, and Matthew, 13:44-46.

BEGIN TRIAL OF SUIT ON CONTRACT

Trial of a suit that was filed originally on December 28, 1927, got under way today before Judge G. K. Scovel. It is the damage action of Kittie Vandemark against the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce.

The plaintiff in her original complaint asked damages totaling $38,741.28 for alleged breach of contract and damage to property that was purchased by the chamber of commerce and later abandoned. The mount of damages was changed in an amended complaint to $15,000.

It is alleged that the deal was made on July 31, 1922, involving a 15 acre tract at a purchase price of $45,000 but that the chamber abandoned the property, an orange grove, on Jan. 9, 1926, and had paid only $5000 on the purchase. It is charged that the defendant permitted the property to depreciate greatly in value during the time it occupied the premises. The action is being tried before a jury.

BURGLARS ENTER BUENA PARK HOME

Burglars stole some $200 worth of valuables from the home of J. W. Atherton, who resides a mile west of Grand avenue at Buena park, yesterday afternoon, according to a report made to the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Sam Jernigan and A. L. Stewart, deputy, made an investigation. The house was entered through the front door after the door had been broken by a man's shoulder, according to Sheriff Jernigan.

A shotgun, a rifle, a pocketbook containing a small amount of change, two tie pins, a flashlight, a suit of clothes, several ash trays, a watch chain and several rings were reported stolen by the thief.

SANTA ANA BOYS BACK FROM CAMP

The Santa Ana delegation of boys from Camp Osceola, the Y. M. C. A. camp located in the San Bernardino mountains near Barton flats, where they have been camping since July 1st, returned home last night, on motor busses. Of the 67 boys who went from Santa Ana, 66 returned, Walter Kring remaining for the next camp period.

The boys were lodged in 10 cabins while at the camp, and with three boys from Anaheim and the leaders, made a total of 80 at the camp. The leaders were Bill Gibbs, Bob Lenhardt, Halstead McCormack, R. H. McArthur, Ivan Scott, John Hay, Ed Riniker, Ed Gaebe, Franklin Burke and Eldon Murray. D. H. Tibbals, boys' work secretary at the Y, was in charge of the group.

The boys report that they had a wonderful time at camp and enjoyed a splendid program of training and recreation.

CANDIDATE FOR STATE POST IS CLUB SPEAKER

Members of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club and their guests were entertained by Frank Merriam, Long Beach, state candidate for lieutenant governor, at the luncheon meeting today at St. Ann's inn. Today's meeting was presided over jointly by Bob Fernandez, acting president, and J. P. Baumgartner, the latter presenting the speaker.

Merriam's address was confined to the state legislature, its part in the enforcement of present day laws, the benefits possible from the amendment of certain laws, concluding with a well stressed resume of the state automobile laws and the urgent need of immediate amendments.

"California, along with Pennsylvania and New York, has compiled, during the past six years, a fatality record that is in itself a blot on our fair state. In that time a total of 6910 deaths have been recorded. If these deaths had been laid to some disease, all the doctors and nurses in the country would be rushed here to stem the tide. Yet nothing is done about the current automobile laws that figure prominently in casting such a blemish on California," Merriam declared.

Preceding the speaking program, there was ensemble singing, featuring popular hits. Robert Brown, baritone, guest singer, also delighted with several selections. Despite the hot weather, a turnout of about 100 was evidenced.

MISSION GOLF LINKS PLANNED IN MINIATURE

Combining a picturesque setting and educational advantages with recreation, Charles Camm, proprietor of the Camm Blanket Manufacturing company on East First street, has secured a copyright on a plan for laying out golf courses that seems destined to be very successful and popular, it was learned today. The plan embraces laying out courses in the spirit of the old padres and early missions of California, providing an historical background that is especially attractive in California golf courses.

The plan provides a regular sightseeing trip along the course, which is to be laid out as a trail of the old Franciscan padres, with a miniature reproduction of a famous old mission at each green. The plan has been enthusiastically received by many of the leading golf clubs of the state, as in addition to the novelty of the idea it provides an excellent media of advertising California to out of the state players. Instead of being numbered, the various holes are to be named after the famous missions.

Another attractive feature of the plan is a special tee at each driving green, made to resemble a mission bell.

Negotiations are being carried on by Camm for installation of the mission feature at some of the leading courses in the state.

Night outdoor track and field meets are being planned by officials of the Southeastern A. A. U. on properly illuminated fields.

A LONG TRAMP

TORONTO, July 16.—Katherine Trevelyan has a long walk ahead of her, but she's going to see a lot of country first-hand. She recently set out on a walking tour of Canada, carrying a folding tent and other supplies on her back. In the first eight days she made 300 miles. She is walking the entire distance.

Pennsylvania Railroad's 1929 net income made a new high record, with $101,360,971, which is $18,943,595 more than 1928.

PRESENT MAP AT ADJOURNED CITY SESSION

ORANGE, July 16.—The four zoning districts which it is proposed shall be established in Orange with the adoption of a uniform building code, were outlined to members of the city council at an adjourned meeting of the body at the city hall yesterday.

A tentative map was presented to the council in which was shown the four districts which are to be established should the building code under consideration be adopted. The plan was not presented formally.

Show Districts

The districts as shown on the map drawn by City Engineer C. C. Bonebrake, call for the erection of class 1 buildings in the plaza. Beginning with the buildings which at present face the plaza square it is proposed to form a district of class 2 structures which would include the business portion of the city. The buildings in this district would be as good as the best buildings now standing in the city, it was said.

Buildings of the second class must be of brick or concrete construction and must be fireproof. The building restrictions would apply both to buildings which are remodeled as well as to new structures.

The business district as proposed, would live between Maple, Almond, Olive and Orange streets, and that portion of the city fronting on Chapman avenue and lying between Lemon and Olive, Orange and Grand streets.

Third District

The residential or third district, will include the rest of the city with the exception of the industrial district which will include the district along the Santa Fe tracks, extending about a block on each side of the railway from Palmyra to about 300 feet north of Walnut street, and two blocks between Maple and Sycamore, lying between Cypress and Lemon.

It is expected that action on the adoption of the building code and the establishments of the districts will be made at the meeting of the city council on August 5, with the first reading of an ordinance being prepared by City Attorney H. L. Dearing.

Fire Districts To Remain

Plans for the adoption of a satisfactory building code have been underway for sometime and were developed from the presentation of recommendations to the council compiled by a committee of Orange contractors. The zones as proposed will not interfere in any way with the present fire districts, it was said.

According to City Engineer Bonebrake no particular code of any one city has been followed in outlining a policy in building, plumbing and wiring requirements for the city, but what are considered the best features of codes considered which seem to fit the needs of Orange, have been selected for incorporation in the proposed code.

Officials of the Pacific Coast Building conference, D. H. Merrill secretary and J. E. Mackie, past secretary, assisted city officials in a survey of the city for the establishment of the districts.

Mayor W. E. Clement said that there was danger in too much restriction.

Permit to Erect Tent Granted by Orange City Body

ORANGE, July 16.—R. C. Brewer of Riverside, applied yesterday for permission to put up a tent and conducting religious services north of the King Wheel works on North Orange street.

The permit was granted. The Rev. Lester Osborn of Riverside is to conduct the services. The Rev. Mr. Osborne is a pastor of the Seventh Day Advent church under the auspices of which the meetings will be conducted.

Only one out of each 100 business enterprises fail each year. This has been the rule in the United States for the past 50 years.

DRAW PLAN FOR NEW CREAMERY NEAR HOSPITAL

ORANGE, July 16.—That an expenditure of $15,000 may be made in building a new creamery in this city, was a possibility revealed by G. O. Berry, Santa Ana real estate man, who appeared before the city council yesterday to see what arrangements could be made for sewer connections from the McDonald property near the county hospital. The property is located on the strip recently annexed to this city and the new concern is considering the establishment of the creamery at this point.

While not revealing the name of the company, Berry stated that the firm is already established in the county and that the creamery would be the distributing points for the cities of Santa Ana, Anaheim and Orange. The creamery is to be erected as a part of an expansion program of the firm

The creamery, if present plans are followed, will be located across the Santa Ana river and members of the council yesterday expressed the opinion that sewer connections might be made through the county farm into the outfall sewer which lies west of the hospital. The city sewer does not extend across the river.

A committee was appointed to investigate the matter and to see what arrangements might be made for sewer connections. The committee includes the street committee, C. E. Watson and Ben Dierker, and the city engineer, C. C. Bonebrake.

Cost About $15,000

The creamery concern is planning to build either a concrete or stucco building at a cost of about $10,000 with landscaped grounds, and to put in equipment which will total about $5000, it was said.

The creamery company expects to install a machine for bottling and processing and the creamery will have a 10,000 quart capacity, it was stated.

The force of men now employed by the company will be supplemented by additional workers, all local men, it is expected.

MESA W. C. T. U. HEARS PRESIDENT

COSTA MESA, July 15.—Mrs. J. H. McClelland, vice president of the Santa Ana W. C. T. U., was the speaker at the July meeting of the local union, which was held in the social hall of the Community church late last week.

The speaker spoke relative to scientific temperance and honored the life work and memory of Mary H. Hunt, deceased, as Friday was a red letter day of the union, honoring Mrs. Hunt.

Mrs. Estelle Harper, county president, was a honored guest and gave a talk of W. C. T. U. work. Wanda Thompson and Helen Davis sang a duet, accompanied by Mrs. P. M. Thompson.

ADVERTISING IS LEGALIZED BY CITY COUNCIL

ORANGE, July 16.—Ordinance No. 316, which was up for second reading, was adopted by a unanimous vote at the meeting of the city council here yesterday. The ordinance is a revision of the license ordinance and is designed as a measure to assist local merchants in the distribution of advertising.

The ordinance was up for final reading at a previous meeting but was tabled pending a conference with merchants as to what was most wanted in the way of revision.

Suggest Permits

A suggestion was made by City Attorney H. L. Dearing that merchants taking advantage of the new provisions, make applications for permits in order to avoid confusion in the minds of residents of the city. No action was taken on the suggestion which was made in an informal discussion.

The ordinance is an amendment to ordinance 193 passed in 1922 which set a license fee of $20 per person per day for distribution of advertising material in the city of Orange. The amendment changed this to $20 per person per week, and added a proviso permitting Orange merchants to do this at $2 per person, with the council.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Ayers, of San Francisco, arrived Saturday to spend a couple of weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Srackengast.

HOLD POST NUPTIAL SHOWER FOR CRAPOS

BUENA PARK, July 16.—A post nuptial shower and housewarming for Mr. and Mrs. Leonard O. Crapo, was one of the most enjoyable social events of the week when 35 friends assembled at the Crapo home on Stanton avenue, Monday evening, with many lovely gifts for the new home. Music was furnished during the evening by Miss Irene Dratt, Wayne Coger and Jimmie Collins, and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Guests were the Misses Estelle Upshaw, Margaret Cole, Helen Croether, Mabelle Dabney, Mildred and Mona Crapo, Markaret Battelle, Jessie and Elsie Ashlock, Irene and Iva Thornton, Mrs. W. B. McIntyre, Mrs. S. Story, Mrs. A. F. Corey, Mrs. Jewell Weedman, Mrs. L. H. Crapo, Mrs. M. D. Coger, Mrs. J. Small, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Story and children Kenneth and Muriel, Jimmie Collins, Wayne Coger and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Crapo of Buena Park, Mr. and Mrs. Brown and children, Leonard, Doris and Maude Louise of Norwalk, Mr. and Mrs. Drought and daughter, Irene of Fullerton.

A 260-foot mast has been erected in India to enable meterologists to study weather conditions for the guidance of pilots of dirigibles that will be operated between England and India.

CULVERT PLANS TO ELIMINATE GLASSELL DIPS

ORANGE, July 16.—Plans for the culvert which is proposed to eliminate the dips along Glassell street was presented to the city council here yesterday by City Engineer C. C. Bonebrake. This plan will be included in the $75,000 storm drain project which is to be submitted to the council of August 5.

The culvert will run from La Veta avenue to Walnut street and the work at each intersection is estimated at about $700. Six intersections will be included in the culvert while Maple and Almond street intersections are not included.

The project of the storm drain which is considered a most important project has been under consideration for sometime and a proposition for a $50,000 drain was submitted to voters last year and was defeated.

FORGETFUL MAYOR

BRIARCLIFF, N. Y., July 16.—A mayor should be aware of all the laws of his city. But 48 hours after the board of trustees directed the police to tighten up on speeders, Mayor Henry Law received a summons for speeding 43 miles an hour. The mayor received a suspended sentence.

Lutheran Council Defer Action On Teacher Election

ORANGE, July 16.—Owing to the fact that a quorum was not present at the meeting of the voting members of the St. John's Lutheran church held at the Walker Memorial hall last night, selection of a new teacher for the parochial school was deferred until next Tuesday evening when members of the congregation will meet at the same time and place.

A number of applications for the position have been received and a selection is to be made from this list. It is planned that a map teacher will be the new member of the staff which is being added as the attendance of the school has been steadily increasing each year.

The new school was dedicated July 14, 1929, about a year ago. William Betterman is principal and occupied this position for the past 25 years. The school was built at a cost of $40,000.

700 MILES IN DORY

NEW YORK, July 16.—Entirely by dead reckoning and in a small dory, Eric Johnson, 21, and Florence Smith, young graduate of the University of Maine, recently arrived here after a 700-mile trip from Bermuda. The boat, a home-built affair, weathered a severe storm two days out of Bermuda. The girl handled the wheel during a spell of sea-sickness Johnson suffered.

HEALTH CENTER NURSE LOCATES IN SANTA ANA

ORANGE, July 16.—Miss Idabel Durgan, who has had charge of the city health center in the city hall, in connection with her duties as county nurse, will be located in Santa Ana in connection with the health office the first of next week.

Miss Durgan's place will be filled until September 1 by various nurses of the county, it was revealed at the health office this morning. Miss Vena Jones who has been with the health department for three years, will be stationed in Orange and will have the work at the city hall as well as in the public schools of the city.

Miss Jones will come to Orange with the opening of the schools of the city.

ALCOHOL RUNS TRAIN

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 16.—The railroad line between Rio and Sao Paulo is successfully using alcohol as a fuel in its railway motor cars. The fuel consists of 43 per cent of alcohol with an addition of 5 per cent of ethylic ether, and one-thousandth of methylene blue as a denaturant. The motor car used on the railway is a special one made in Germany and carries 62 passengers.

ROTARY HEARS TALK ON CHILE BY COL. TUPPER

Chile is the most progressive and is making greater advances than any of the group of countries forming South America, according to Col. W. S. Tupper, lecturer, who spoke yesterday at the meeting of the Rotary club.

The progress being made by that country is due to the fact that the younger generations have been relieved of shackles in the form of Spanish traditions that handicapped their ancestor in progressive development of the nation—traditions, the speaker said, that still are strangling Spain.

Col. Tupper commented on the various products of the country, the habits of the people, the facilities for travel, hotel accommodations and various conditions that form a stable community.

Living costs, he asserted, are cheaper than in any of the South American countries, and are very low as compared with costs in the United States. He explained that this is due to the fact that services involved in the preparations of foods are furnished at a wage that Americans could not consider.

He recited an instance where he had fruit delivered to his room every morning for a period of 10 days, and received a bill for 85 cents.

Pointing out that thousands of old maids are being supported by relatives because they had failed to marry the old custom of parents making selections of husbands, the speaker said that the younger women of today are exerting their independence and are making their own choice. They also are entering business activities, an action that formerly was considered disgraceful.

Commenting on the point that nitrate and copper were the chief of Chile, Col Tupper said that three-fourths of the nitrate used in the world formerly was shipped from that country, but that exportations today were only one-fourth of the consumption, the result of production of artifical nitratesby the various countries.

Thomas Richards, a new Rotarian, presided for the first time over the club program. He introduced Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Edwards, of Hollywood, in a group of songs.

Too many people are shouting hard times, waiting for something to turn up instead of going out and turning something up themselves.

When there is a deeper DEPRESSION in business it's time for the business man to put forth every effort to make a surer IMPRESSION upon the buying public.

One of the best antidotes for the "hard times" epidemic is that well known phrase of the minstrel show interlocutor, "GENTLEMEN, BE SEATED!"

Anyhow, this would be an awful world if it were not for the years ahead to which we can all look for better times.

REBEKAHS AND ODDFELLOWS INSTALL HEADS

ANAHEIM, July 16.—Before an audience of 300 people officers of the Independent Order of the Odd Fellows Lodge No. 199 and of the Rebekah Lodge No. 268 were formally installed at a beautiful and impressive double installation held at the Odd Fellows hall last night.

The installation was put on by the installing team of the Ruby Rebekah lodge of Orange with Mrs. Fannie Barker, district deputy president, and Mrs. Mary Edwards, grand marshal acting jointly with District Deputy Grand Master Clayton L Allen and District Deputy Grand Marshal Charles A. Ahlstrom of Anaheim lodge.

The work was done in a most creditable manner and presented a beautiful picture. Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Barker were beautifully gowned in orchid satin and the team all in green satin with arm bouquets of gay blossoms with the male members of the group dressed in white trousers and dark coats created a lovely ensemble. The incoming officers were gowned in pastel shades and in white trousers and dark coats.

Officers elected were Mrs. Blanche Nelson and Charles Triplett, noble grands; Mrs. Mabel Clark and John O. Clark, vice grands; Mrs. Lola Compton and E. B. Johnson, recording secretaries; Mrs. Elsie Worth and Harold Bircher, financial secretaries, and Mrs. Lizzie Nyler and George Tanner, treasurers.

The two installing teams of Ruby Rebekah Lodge No. 52 of Orange and I. O. O. F. No. 199 of Anaheim are the official installing teams for district No. 50 and have already seated officers in many of the lodges of the district. I. O. O. F. district deputies will install at Orange and on July 28 there will be held a double installation ceremony at Brea.

Refreshments were served to the guests following the ceremonies of last night.

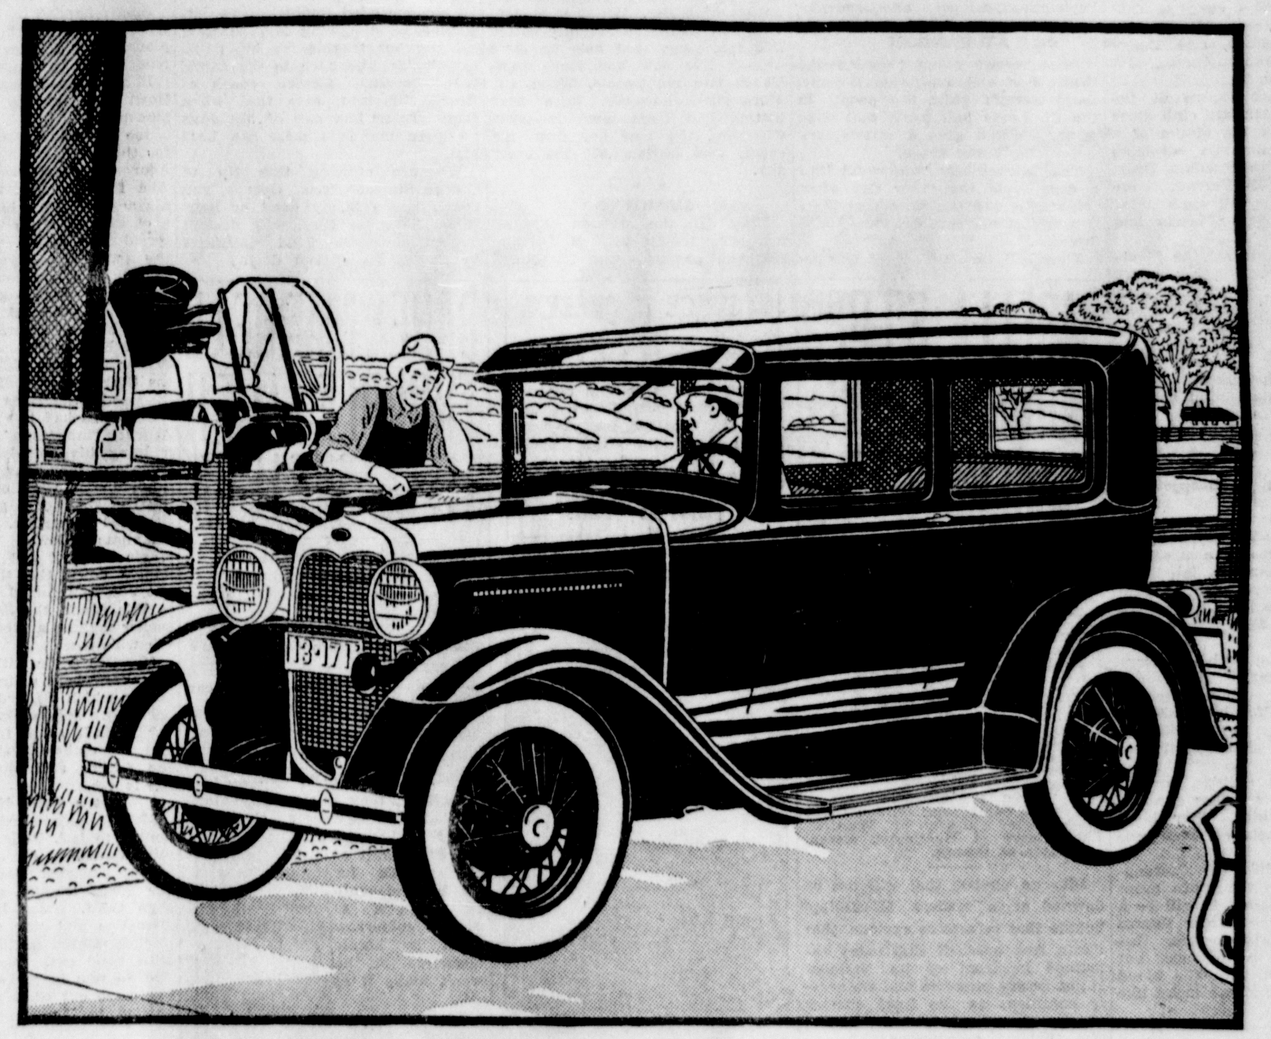
GOOD PERFORMANCE



THE NEW FORD TUDOR SEDAN

YOU are buying proved performance when you buy a Ford. You know it has been built for many thousands of miles of satisfactory, economical service.

Letters from users in every part of the world show the value of its sound design, good materials and accuracy in manufacturing. You sense a feeling of sincere pride in the oft-repeated phrase—"Let me tell you what my new Ford did."

Further tribute to the sturdiness, reliability and general all-round performance of the new Ford is shown in the repeated and growing purchases by government bureaus, by police departments, and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most cases, the new Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests covering speed and power, safety, comfort, ease of control, oil and gas consumption, low yearly depreciation, and low cost of up-keep.

They have found, as you will find, that the Ford embodies every feature you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

STARS TRIM ACORNS, 6-4

Macias, Moreno On Fight Card

OLD FAVORITES HEAD PROGRAM HERE THURSDAY

Tomorrow night is "comeback" night at the Orange County Athletic club.

"Wild Man" Macias, Tony Moreno and Mickey Thomas, all Delhi favorites, return to the fistic swim after varying absences—in Moreno's case six months.

Macias heads the weekly program. He goes against Jack (Kid) Allen of Havana, welterweight champion of Cuba. The distance will be ten rounds, the weights 150 pounds.

Moreno battles Jess Gabucco, one of the few men ever to keep the popular little Placentian in the slag 10 seconds. They will go six rounds.

Here's Rest of Card

The rest of the card is Cliff Burrier vs. Frankie Hirsch, 133 pounds, four rounds, and Denny Stinson vs. "Bud" Austin, 160 pounds, four rounds.

Macias has not shown at the Orange County Athletic club since the night he was the victim of a tremendously unpopular decision after a bout with Frankie Bray. The referee, Bill Ferrier, gave Bray the decision although most of the bugs thought Macias had the edge.

This verdict shattered the Mexican star's brilliant winning streak which saw him knock out such good welters as "Bucky" O'Brien, Art Butler, Young Jack Sharkey, Waler Peterson, Young Joe Walcott (twice), Sid Gregory, Billy Clark and "Boilermaker" Jimmy Jones. During this run of success he lost to Bert Wagner on a foul, to Marty Mack and Joe Contreras on points and to Zenaydo Chavez by a knockout.

Allen Entitled to Respect

Macias may have his record further fractured tomorrow.

Jack Allen's bauble as champion of Cuba may not mean anything here but it is hard to laugh off a competitive record such as Promoter H. T. Foust has produced for the fellow. His past entitles him to respect.

Allen has beaten such American fighters as Leonard Allen and Johnny Spencer (since arriving in Southern California) and Alphonse Gonzales, Joe Schlocker, Tommy White, Clyde Hull and Duke Krammel.

Macias fought Allen in Las Vegas, Nev., a few weeks ago and got a draw with him. They figure to go postward here an even proposition.

Many fans think the Moreno-Gabucco scrap is the main event of the card. Certainly it will be a fight for blood and hardly figures to go the full six rounds. Gabucco stopped Moreno once, but the sturdy Indian with the blond hair and the wop name looks like the better man.

AT RANDOM

In a recent game between the White Sox and St. Louis Browns, there weren't quite 500 people in the St. Louis ball park, and none of them could give a satisfactory reason for being there.

The Chicago man who went into a deep coma the other day after drinking a sleeping potion probably was just another stricken White Sox fan.

They call the method of wagering on horses in Ohio the "contribution system." Well, aren't they all "contribution systems"? Echo ansyers yes, when you bet them on the nose and they run second.

PHILANTHROPISTS?

The Minneapolis bookmakers who gave 7 to 5 on Bobby Jones certainly were one big-hearted bunch of well wishers.

Joe McCarthy refused to discuss the status of Rogers Hornsby the other day in Boston, but it is a pretty safe bet, I understand, that the Rajah will play no more baseball for the Chicago Cubs.

If the Cubs win the National league pennant, they will have a better infield than the American league winner, unless Washington happens to cop. As now composed the infield consists of Grimm, Blair, English and Beck.

While talking about infields, do not overlook the sprightly combination of Sisler, Maguire, Maranville and Chatham. Maguire batted .252 last year, but he's up there around .300 now and looks good. These two old people, Sisler and Maranville, however, have been hitting 'em from town to town. Chatham, the new boy from the coast, was hitting .333 the other day.

* * *

SMART TOO

They call the Boston Braves' manager "Lucky Bill" McKechnie. He won pennants for Pittsburgh and St. Louis. All first division teams in the National league, please take notice. The bean-gargiers are knocking right on the door, and viciously.

Young Stribling is going to have both hands plumb full when he enters the ring against Phalling Phil Scott. And he will not nail him to the canvass with a left hook in round one. Laugh if you care to, Phil Scott knows exactly how to catch a left hook with his elbow, and you can't knock out a man by hitting him on the elbow.

"HIT ME ON THE CHIN"

Wilbert Robinson quit baseball years and years ago and opened up a butcher shop in Baltimore, but John Joseph McGraw lured him back to the game to coach. The pob of managing the Brooklyn ball club was offered to Hughey Jennings in 1919, but Hughey couldn't get away from Detroit so he recommended Robbie. Now Mr. Robinson is giving Mr. McGraw nothing but trouble for his pains in bringing him back to the game.

We are offering this tip to George Simpson free. George, you know, has a bushy head of hair. When he races next, why doesn't he cut down the wind resistance by having its slicked down?

Friday's Schedule

Like an upstart that will not be downed or a modern Mississippi bubble that refuses to explode, that Santa Ana baseball club today remained in front of its National Night league pursuers and eminently confident as the final quarter of the championship race, beginning Friday, approaches

There was nothing surprising about last night's doings about the league wheel, unless you could call La Habra's 11 to 1 triumph over the Garden Grove Peppers an upset.

Certainly a closer and better game was expected from the Peppers who played listless ball afield and failed to disturb the serenity of Chico Sabella, La Habra's crack submariner, who just breezed through to victory after his mates banged out a seven-run lead in the first frame. Sabella fanned 13, hit a homer and a double to aid his own cause.

Robinson, ex-Long Beach relief pitcher, went the route for Garden Grove. He was ineffective.

PRICE IS STEEP

Although he has been in professional baseball less than three months, Harry Rosenberg, hard-hitting outfielder for the Missions, was recently sold to the New York Giants. "Rosy" brought $25,000 and a couple of other players and this before he had played 60 games.

PIPING 'EM OFF

O-o-o-oh! Br-r-r-r! What a ball game And WHAT-A-MAN, that fellow Wayne Nelson.

* * *

There may be another ball game just as tough. Friday night. The Olive Packers come to the Bowl and if you don't think they are tough and troublesome—think back on the Santa Ana-Olive games this term. Two wins for Olive; one, 4-3, pulled out of the fire in the ninth, for Santa Ana.

* * *

Leavitt Daley got credit for a trick assist in the second inning when Bob Dalton poked a "blooper" back of second base. Daley and Nelson both went after it, collided. The ball hit Daley's shoulder but Nelson made the catch—and got the putout on a play that read Daley to Nelson.

BARE MANDELL TROUBLE WITH TITLE WEIGHT

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I.N.S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 16.—Sometimes an innocent set of scales—inanimate and gulleless to the eye, but arrogant in its judgments and, as the death notice, final—can look the part of a gallows. Often the tape measure is a hangman's noose and the glass of water a nectar, brewed by the medici.

Anyhow, they say Sammy Mandell, the lightweight champion, either will make the class limit of 135 pounds for his championship fight with Al Singer tomorrow night by heroic measures or he won't make it at all.

Sammy Mandell

They say the spectre of forfeiture on the scales is mocking his thoughts and deriding his sleep. They say the closest decision ever rendered for or against him will be handed down at the official weighing-in at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Thus, he would seem to be undergoing the grim ordeal that so often has overtaken champions in the past. Gans, for example, left his life on the scales at Goldfield.

Mandell weighed 137½ pounds less than three days ago and this would have been quite as it should be except for one thing. The extra weight, they say, represents the "case" two pounds, meaning that there just isn't any more. After these are chivvied away, it seems, the only thing left for the man to take off will be his shoes before going to bed.

So Singer will probably go in at fairly long odds tomorrow night, it being apparent that New York has finally caught up with Chicago in the supposed developments of its own fight. Chicago, which thinks it knows all about Mandell, is picking Singer. Previously, New York, which knows all there is to know about Singer, had been picking Mandell. That made the one in the middle a sure winner and sustained, in toto, the credo that a prophet is not without hope, except in his own country.

At that, it may be that they got smart just in time to be wrong. This Singer is only a fair fighter, even when good. He isn't the man that Mandell was two years ago, and probably never will be. He hasn't Samuel's ring sense, which is something that can be acquired, and I suspect that he hasn't Samuel's courage, which is something that can't.

But, of course, he still could beat a fighter who can't fight any more and, since this is the guise in which a lot of people now profess to see Mandell, perhaps the matter is ordained.

NELSON BLASTS HOMER, DOUBLE IN HERO ROLE

Sages of the sport say there isn't much to baseball except throwing a ball—and hitting it.

Santa Ana realized today as never before the importance of the hitting half of such philosophy.

"Walloping Wayne" Nelson gave a personally-conducted lesson in the art down in the Bowl last night when he bludgeoned the Stars to a 6 to 4 victory over Long Beach, keeping Santa Ana two games in front of its hottest National league adversaries.

Painting a masterpiece of how—and when—to hit a ball, the silent Swede hit a home run with two aboard in the fourth inning and then doubled with two on in the eighth, scoring later himself.

Field Day For Nelson

Single-handed he defeated a team great enough to win the 1929 championship of the league and be a front flight contender this.

It has been a long time since the Bowl has known such inspired clouting.

Joe Cornelius was on the knoll for the Stars, Bobby Dalton for the Acorns. Herb Salveson, the Santa Ana field general, wanted to save his ace for Olive but couldn't take a chance with the visitors blasting torrid line drives to all parts of the park and always threatening to win. Cornelius allowed only eight hits but has been hit no harder all year. Brilliant support saved him on several occasions, as it did Dalton who also was hit harder than the eight hits granted the Stars might indicate.

Kohler Bags Homer

Maness followed with a sharp single into left and Ballard with a double down the third base line, but Joe Bell fouled out to Hunter in this clinch, the Santa Ana third sacker making a nice catch against the wire fence.

Merrill's triple with two away in the Stars' half, a line drive to left center which Ballard held to three bases by a spectacular stop and underhand flip as he fell, was wasted and the clubs traveled along with the Acorns still ahead, 1-0, until the fourth.

Acorn Rally Nets Run

Maness opened this heat with a double to left. Ballard popped another double to the same field, but Maness, fearing Bell would catch the Texas leaguer, got no farther than third. Joe Bell popped to Cornelius and was safe when the pitcher muffed it, filling the bases with none out. Cornelius looked like he was in for a load of grief but came out of it nicely. Mann hoisted to Daley and Landreth forced Maness at the plate, Hunter to Wilcox, the latter's return to Hunter just missing a double play. Dalton beat out a high hopper to Hill, however, and Ballard scored. Davis popped out.

Enjoying the sensation of their 2-0 advantage over the league-leaders, the Acorns hardly were prepared for what followed with such startling abruptness.

Daley was first up in the last half of the "fatal fourth" and worked Dalton for a walk. Merrill beat out an infield hit to Elliott. Nelson promptly emptied the hassocks with a terrific drive down the right field foul line—a home run in any man's league. Joe Bell, the Acorn patrolman in that sector, chased the well-kissed marble to the very top of the right field bank but didn't have a Chinaman's chance of shutting off the fleet and hard-hitting Swede.

Nelson Breaks Lose Again

It was ding dong baseball from this point until the last of the eighth both pitchers settling down, staying ahead of the hitters.

But fury—and Nelson — broke loose again in the eighth.

GALLANT FOX NOT TO RUN IN ARLINGTON CUP

NEW YORK, July 16.—Gallant Fox, champion three-year-old, will be given a let-up in his strenuous racing campaign and will not start in the Arlington cup at Chicago Saturday, Trainer James Fitzsimmons said today.

Gallant Fox is in first class condition, Fitzsimmons told the United Press, deprecating reports that the horse had grown sulky and was staling off.

"He has had a long campaign," Fitzsimmons explained "and every horse has to have a rest at times. He has been in steady training rince last March.

"We probably will ship him from Chicago to Saratoga Saturday. His first race there probably will be in the Travers, Aug. 16, which will get him a month's let-up."

WESTMINSTER WINS FROM WHITTIER, 5-4

Westminster cleared another large obstacle in its paths toward the Orange County "B" league baseball championship when it nosed out Whittier, 5 to 4, at Whittier last night.

Starkey's single, Penhall's triple and DeBusk's sacrifice in the seventh gave the Aviators their tying and winning tallies. They made their others in the fourth when Bill Gardner hit a homer with Clemmens and Davis on base.

Whittier got a run in the second and three in the fifth.

West minster, tied with Santa Ana for first place in the "B" circuit, plays Olive at Westminster tomorrow night. The score:

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

I am going to give the Orange County Athletic club's promoter and matchmaker, Henry Trignometry Foust, a chance to do some broadcasting today.

Herr Foust is entitled to the space, first, because he is a good guy and, second, because he occupies an important place in the local sports whirl and his words carry weight.

He has lots of things—dope, gossip and facts—to get off his chest. I quote him on salient and important features of his broadcast:

"First I desire to comment on statements that the Orange County Athletic club is to link itself with an American Legion post.

"As far as I know there is nothing to them, and owning the arena I guess I ought to know.

"Nobody has ever approached me relative to such a hook-up.

"I am ready to sell the club whenever financially responsible parties meet my terms.

"Boxing, like business in general, is in a depressed condition but it has held up surprisingly well in Orange county, better comparatively than anywhere else.

"I think the situation will be better in the fall.

"One of the best fights I ever saw in my life was the rematch at San Bernardino last night between Milford Berglund and Johnny DeCorsey, middleweights. Fans here will remember that DeCorsey unexpectedly knocked out Berglund at Delhi a few weeks ago.

"In the rematch the boys slugged toe to toe for eight rounds, Berglund getting the decision. DeCorsey dropped the Swede for a short count in the fourth, however.

"It was terribly hot in San Bernardino yesterday, the thermometer reading 108.

"DeCorsey lost 9½ pounds. He weighed 152 when he got to town the day before the fight, 142½ immediately after the bout.

"Both boys were completely exhausted at the finish.

"I hope I never have to promote another bout in such weather.

"Joe Reese looked like a champion beating Salior Jimmy Roberts in the semi-mindup. It was close, at that, both boys scoring knockdowns.

NELSON BLASTS HOMER, DOUBLE AS STARS WIN

throw hit Merrill in the back. The latter took a base unmolested and scored back of Daley when Nelson doubled past second. "Walloping Wayne" raced to third on Youel's safe bunt and home after Bell's fly to short right, being safe when Maness dropped Davis' throw-in. Youel got to third in the confusion, which grew worse when Bill Hunter poled a long fly to deep left.

Mann's Catch Is Classic

Thinking no earthly mortal had a chance to corral such a drive which was far over Mann's head, Youel started for home. But Mann overhauled the ball, made a spectacular catch—one of the greatest ever seen in the Bowl—and Youel had to scamper back to his retreat. He was called out an instant later for allegedly leaving the base while Dalton had the ball in the pitcher's box.

Just to make the game even more wild-west, the Acorns put on a dying flourish in the ninth. The brief rally was as sudden and unexpected as Santa Ana's in the fourth. With one out, the Stars leading, 6-2, and the fans pouring out of the park, Dalton got a life on Daley's error. He took second on Davis' sacrifice fly to Merrill. Elliott then blasted a long fly which fell just inside the left field line. Randolph Bell made a quick recovery and his relay via Hill retired Elliott, trying for a homer, but Wilcox dropped the ball and Elliott's run counted and made the score, 6-4.

Cornelius then fanned Kohler to end the agony.

* * *

The Acorns are hustling and fighting to win ball games these days. Now it is easy to understand why they have remained in the race despite injuries and other handicaps. Mann and Baliard are flyhawks and Balaird and Maness are two of the best stickers in night baseball. The addition of Davis has pepped up the infield too.

* * *

"Rosy" Merrill continues to get his base knocks. He hit three for four last night—one a triple that would have been a homer but for a spectacular play by Ballard, one a slow infield bouncer, one a bunt.

* * *

John Lutz is back home. The tall first baseman, with Orange earlier in the campaign, has signed a Star contract and will be with the team as general handy-andy the rest of the season. He can play the outfield as well as the first bag—and he can hit. The Stars have been in need of a reserve outfielder since Orv Schuchardt left the ranks.

* * *

Stoner and Watson, graduated from the Orange County "B" league, umpired their first game in the Bowl. They had plenty of tough ones to call but got away nicely, particularly Stoner, who toiled behind the plate.

* * *

One of the largest crowds of the season was in the stands. Long Beach, beginning to follow the Acorns again, sent a small but noisy delegation. The warm weather undoubtedly helped swell the attendance too.

* * *

Odie Maness is just one of those good natural hitters. When they get him out it is worth a celebration in the enemy dugout. Yet he is punishing National league pitching for a season average of only .284, according to Dick Zehms, titian-locked night ball operative for the Long Beach Press-Telegram.

* * *

Poor Bill Hunter didn't even get a sacrifice out of one of the hardest hit balls of the season. Hunter's terrific drive which Mann pulled down over his shoulder at the base of the left field bank in the eighth inning was converted into a "double play" when Youel, who was on third and neglected to score after the catch, was called out for leaving third base too soon.

* * *

* * *

KENNEDY OUTPOINTS BAER; CHAVEZ LOSES

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—The memory of many solid body blows remained today with Max Bear, rising young German heavyweight, who unexpectedly lost a 10-round decision last night to Les Kennedy of Long Beach.

Kennedy, greatly underestimated, took seven rounds in decisive fashion. The second and fourth were called even and the sixth was given to Max.

"I intend to ask for Bob White, Jack McDonald and Steve Nyland here. They have 'gotten over' with our crowds better than the other third men.

"I think the Jack Allen-"Wild Man" Macias bout here tomorrow should be one of the best in our history.

"Allen's pugilistic past was subjected to a searching investigation before we agreed to use him.

"We had so much bad luck with 'big time' headliners for a time that we announced several months ago we would personally scrutinize the record of all new fighters appearing at our arena.

"What was found out about Allen surprised us all that Macias was abue to hold Allen to a draw when they fought at Las Vegas, Nev., a few weeks ago."

CRESS WINS FIFTH VICTORY ON COURTS

Johnny Cress, former city tennis champion, scored his fifth successive victory in the Santa Ana playground round-robin tournament when he took a straight sets match from Eddie West, 614, 6-1, on the high school courts yesterday. Earl Waycott, standing third in the play, won from W. Maxwell Burke, 6-1, 7-5.

Other results:

Class D—Lecil Slaback defeated Harry Motley, 6-3, 6-4; Lecil Slaback defeated John Davis, 6-1, 6-4.

Merle Ewell, tournament director, announced that mixed doubles will start a week from today. He said entries could be made at Hawleys sporting goods store.

ANAHEIM DRUBS FULLERTON NITE HAWKS, 7-2

Fullerton gave Anaheim a ball game for six innings but Del Giorgio weakened in the seventh and the Valencias coasted through to a comparatively easy 7 to 2 win at Anaheim. Anaheim got a three-run lead in the first inning, was never headed. Al Bushman fanned 12. The score:

WHITTIER DEFEATS ORANGE TAILENDERS, 10-6

Although touched up for 11 hits by the tailenders, "String" McDonnell hurled Whittier to a 10-6 victory over Orange at Orange. The Orangemen got four of their runs in the ninth when Valentine was safe on an error, Ed Thiery singled, Woodruff sacrificed, Middlebrook singled and Pea and Leichtfuss doubled. Youel relieved Walker in the last inning. The score:

TENNIS QUEEN DUE AT HOME SATURDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—(INS) — Frederick S. Moody, broker-husband of Helen Wills Moody, world's tennis champion, admitted today he was busy "tidying up" their apartment at 1130 Sacramento street. Queen Helen was to leave New York today and arrive home Saturday or Sunday.

"She's bringing home a lot of furniture and doo-dads from Paris," Moody said, "and I can't let her see the place looking like this. She wouldn't tell me just when she was arriving but I expect her Saturday or Sunday. We had a nice talk over long distance telephone—and I had a wire from her before that. We haven't seen each other for more than three months."

New Book On Orange County History Appears Today

IS TRIUMPH OF CREATIVE WORK AND PRINTING

Representing an artistic achievement, both in respect to printing and content, a new book on Orange county history, containing much hitherto unpublished material, made its appearance in Santa Ana today.

"Caminos Viejos," meaning Old Roads, is the title of the volume written by Postmaster T. E. Stephenson, and published in the Santa Ana High school print shop under the direction of T. E. Williams, head of the printing department of the high school and junior college.

Beautifully bound in leather and containing numerous attractive wood cuts and photographs, the book is a triumph of the printer's art and the author's creative ability, and represents the culmination of a long cherished desire on the part of Stephenson and Williams.

To the public it gives an authentic and interesting account of important events connected with the county's history.

The purpose of the book is explained in forewords by the printer and the writer:

"The printer, for some time, has planned that the printing department of the Santa Ana schools, of which department he is head, should get out an especially fine bit of printing from the publisher's point of view. The writer, for some years, has felt that efforts should be put forth to put into permanent form all available material concerning the history of the county. The desire of the printer and the hope of the writer are jointly responsible for this volume."

Since Stephenson and Williams did not care to make a commercial venture of the project, it was decided to limit the sales edition to 250 copies, with the hope that the proceeds would leave something above actual cost of publication so that the student loan fund of the Santa Ana Junior college might profit thereby.

Stephenson pointed out today that the book is not intended to be a comprehensive history of Orange county. A number of subjects that could well be grouped under the heading, "Caminos Viejos," meaning Old Roads, were selected. Six chapters in all are presented. The first of these is 'On Portola's Trail," and it has to do with the first journey of white men through what is now Orange county. The route followed by the old Spanish explorer, Don Gaspar Portola, through Christianitos canyon, where the first Christian baptisms in California occurred, through El Toro, across the Santa Ana valley and over the hills at Whittier, is traced carefully by Stephenson, following in detail the diaries of Father Crespi, of the engineer, Miguel Costanso, and of Portola.

A second chapter is declared by those interested in the history of the county to be the first attempt, at least for publication, to trace the arrival of the first settlers in Orange county. According to 'Caminos Viejos," the first abode built in Orange county, aside from those under mission control, was built by Don Pablo Grijalva, a famous soldier and explorer of the earliest mission days, on the point of a hill between El Modena and Villa Park. Grijalva was the father-in-law of Don Jose Antonio Forba and the uncle of Don Pablo Peralta, to whom the first land grant in the county was made. The book traces the story of the Forbas down from Don Jose's time to the division of the Rancho San-Jiaho De Santa Ana in the '60s.

"The March to Conquest" is the title of the third chapter. In it full credit, for the first time in written history, is given to the highly valuable service rendered the American army under Commodore Stockton and General Kearney, in 1847, by Don Juan Forster, the first of the well known family of that name to come to this county. Stephenson credits Forster with having saved the Americans from ambush and possible annihilation.

The story of Juan Flores, the bandit, who led a crew of bloodthirsty desperadoes in 1857, is told

ORIGINAL TREE SITTER

Folks, meet the boy who started the tree sitting craze. Ten-year-old Jimmie Clemons, below, who won renown and also $13.67 prize money contributed by friends and neighbors in Racine, Wis., when he stuck it out for 34 hours and 13 minutes in his backyard. The Chicago endurance flyers gave him the idea. Above is Jimmie in his leafy perch and, left, Jimmie's "refueling crew" hoisting soda pop and sandwiches to him by means of the family clothesline, which was borrowed for the purpose.

SCIENTISTS EXPLAINS REASONS FOR TREE SITTING MARATHONS AS CRAZE SWEEPS MIDDLE WEST

CHICAGO, July 16.—(UP)—Why boys—and girls, too—climb trees and just sit there instead of playing baseball or going swimming these summer days was explained today by Prof. H. C. Coffman, psychologist at Northwestern university, as a desire to emulate the famous Hunter brothers and Shipwreck Kelly.

The lure of fame that drove John and Kenneth Hunter to fly their monoplane for 553 hours and Kelly to perch atop flagpoles, also induced scores of boys and girls to leave their swimming holes and dolls to sit for hours and even days in the boughs of midwestern trees for a mythical title that has no national sanction and certainly none in parental circles.

"Three factors," Prof. Coffman said, "are responsible. First intensity, then recency, and third imitation."

"The first is caused by the large number of 'marathons,'" Prof. Coffman said. "The Hunter brothers broke the airplane record. A dance marathon has been going on more than 2000 hours and shows no sign of stopping. Alvin Kelly has been atop an Atlantic City flagpole for 25 days. The interest naturally incites the boys.

"Second, these 'marathons' have come almost at once, which inspires boys to endurance feats, and sitting in trees is about as high in the air as they can get.

It was less than two weeks ago that Jimmy Clemons of Racine, Wis., began the tree sitting craze when he started in fun to sit for a few hours, was encouraged by his playmates and remained up a day and a half to become the origiinl tree sitting champion.

Today the endurance fad had spread from Michigan to Texas. In Chicago, a boy was riding a bicycle round and round a block with the promise he would continue "until the bicycle wears out." Three small children started a swinging contest here but gave it up after a few hours.

The claim of Jack Richards, 14, Kansas City, that he had been tree sitting longer than anybody else was not disputed, but in scores of trees there were boys and girls who were not many hours behind him.

Jack passed the 140 hour mark today and received the world's tribute when news reel cameramen visited him.

At Dallas, Texas, a five-year-old tree sitter, A. Ross "Sonny" Frank jr., climbed today into a three-foot Chinaberry tree, sat awhile, then fell out. His mother said she was sorry he came down, because while he was in the tree she knew where to find him. He was not injured in the forced landing.

David Hogan of Minneapolis, had settled his ground troubles today and withdrew his announcement that he would come down Saturday. Up more than 100 hours, David was told he must come down at the end of a week for a bath. His playmates settled the question with David's mother by sending him a bucket of water and promising to do so regularly.

PLAN WEATHER BUREAU CONFAB IN SANTA ANA

If present indications are interpreted rightly, Santa Ana soon may boast its own authorized weather bureau, providing several details that have blocked the project thus far, are successfully ironed out. This much was assured today by George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, who announced that a meeting of the committee in charge of the enterprise will be held Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

At this session, it was indicated, the need of such a bureau will be stressed and, inasmuch as it previously was announced that students of the Santa Ana Junior college would offer their services in conjunction with the operation of the station, the overhead or cost of maintenance would be reduced to a minimum, it is said.

The only weather bureau now in existence in Orange county is that located at Orange. This station has served more or less as a frost bureau and is not equipped to detect important weather changes. Up until the present time, the various Farm centers have relied chiefly upon the daily reports emitting from the bureau at Los Angeles. Even to the most inexperienced farmer, it is quite evident that this method is unstable and certainly most unsatisfactory, it was pointed out.

The station proposed by the local Chamber of Commerce would be government tested and, due to its location, would be prepared to furnish the farmers with up to the minute weather notices.

SANITARIUM GIVEN PRAISE BY STATE

The county board of supervisors received a letter from the state health department yesterday commending very highly the work of the tuberculosis sanitarium in the county and congratulating the county on the work that is being accomplished at this health center.

The letter called particular attention to some cases that were resulting in the saving of life and to the splendid co-operation of the county hospital. The state department of health urged that the members of the board visit the sanitarium and become better acquainted with the fine work that is being accomplished.

FIND OBSTACLE TO PUBLISHING SCHOOL BUDGET

An obstacle in the path of the resolution ordered at the session of the board of supervisors last week providing for publication of a statement of school expenses and budgets for all school districts in the country, developed at the afternoon session of the board yesterday when a conflict in interpretation of the law was disclosed between county officials. As a result the board will not adopt the resolution naming the newspapers in which the statements are to run until the matter has been settled.

The law which was contained in the new school code adopted by the last legislature, provides that "on or before August 1, each year the governing board of each school district must prepare and keep on file a statement of all receipts and expenditures for the preceding year and an estimate of expenses for the ensuing year. The law also provides that a statement shall be published by the board of supervisors for all districts that have not issued and circulated the statement in pamphlet form.

The conflict of opinion was between County Auditor W. C. Jerome and Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton and concerned the manner of securing the data necessary for the statement and what should be included. Menton took the position that the board could have the county superintendent of schools prepare the statement and Jerome must make the statement in order to comply with the law and that he would refuse to pass the warrants for payment of the publication unless the governing boards made statements. The law was characterized by Jerome as impractical and practically unworkable.

Members of the board of supervisors made several suggestions for reaching a solution of the difficulty, including adoption of the resolution, but making the publication of the statements subject to the approval of the district attorney and the auditor. Another solution suggested was that the board would have no authority in the matter until furnished with the statements by the school district governing bodies, which did not issue the statement in pamphlet form, and that it then would be the duty of the supervisors to order the publication.

Decision on the matter was delayed until next week, an in the meantime additional information is to be secured on the subject from the state superintendent of public instruction and the atorney general.

The matter came up before the board last week on a recommendation from the Orange county association of weekly newspaper publishers, who called attention of the law to the board and requested that steps be taken authorizing the publication of such statements in Orange county. Frank Rospaw, of Placentia, and George Scherck, of San Clemente, appeared before the board at that time in connection with the proposal.

CAN HE GET AWAY WITH IT?

SCIENCE BAFFLED BY EFFECT

She Revamps Mother Goose Into Modern Nonsense

OF HEAT ON REGISTER SCRIBE

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT

Since it is nonsense to admit to feeling warm or all hot and bothered—what better way could one ask of keeping cool than to write nonsense verse?

But how to go about writing nonsense verse when you're hot to begin with and the news room is sizzling with the rush of a busy day?

Huh! That's easy. Just start in with Mother Goose. That's nonsensical enough for anyone. And don't forget that "A little nonsense now and then, is relished by the hottest men."

Let me see. "Old Mother Goose, when she wanted to wander—" Eureka! or words to that effect, I have it!

"Arthur Mometer wanter to wander,
So he started to climb away up yonder.
He climbed to the highest spot in the town
Then Arthur Mometer dropped back down."

Little Jack Horner
Sat in a corner
In the blast from a rotating fan.
He stuck in his thumb
When he heard the thing hum,
And now he is minus a han'.

Then you remember "The man in our town who was so very wise."

Well, there was another who wasn't quite so knowing.

There was a man in our town
(Each city boasts a few)
Who voiced the old greeting
"Is it hot enough for you?"
And when the ambulance was called
To pick up his remains
They couldn't find a trace of him

The mercury ran to the top.
The thermometer stopped
So the mercury dropped,

Crooked men are known to all of us, but probably none is better known than he who "ran a crooked mile." But what would he do in hot weather? Here's the answer. You'll note he is no longer crooked—he's changed.

There was a sunny man
He found a sunny nickel
Against a sunny stile.
He sought the corner drug store
Where the warm sun never shone,
And spent that lonely nickel

Of all our Mother Goose heroines, Little Miss Muffet is the nicest of all. But in hot weather,

Little Miss Muffet
Sat on a tuffet
Eating a pineapple ice.
Because of the heat
She didn't want meat.
But the other, I'm certain, was nice.

And finally, with a regretful glance towards the west, where the evening star will soon be shining, we would suggest—

Trickle, trickle, little sweat,
Dewing forehead, nose and chin.
Holy smoke! The state I'm in!

PATHE SEEKING LOCATION HERE FOR WAR FILM

Another motion picture company soon may utilize the Irvine ranch near Corona Del Mar for a mammoth war production if suitable arrangements can be completed, it was indicated today by Archie Gersdorf, publicity director for Pathe Films, inc. According to tentative plans, the Pathe company will produce a picture comparable to "All Quiet on the Western Front," Universal's greatest achievement, and "Hell's Angel's," Howard Hughes' sterling epic of aerial warfare.

It was indicated that overtures had been made James Irvine jr., but to date no definite information has been vouchsafed by this source. Attempts to secure Irvine's confirmation were to no avail inasmuch as he is out of the city and will not return until early next week, according to attaches at the ranch.

Gersdorf, while not inclined to commit himself directly, hinted that the proposal had been pending for quite some time. He admitted that Pathe had been planning a war drama for many months but, due to the lack of a suitable locale, had foregone arrangements until company scouts had suggested the Irvine ranch.

These same scouts witnessed the actual shots of "All Quiet on the Western Front" and later the finished product on the screen. In view of Universal's outstanding success, it was suggested that no better site within a radius of 300 miles could be obtained. The same trenches, dugouts, stretches of carefully planned wasteland, and other "props," with the aid of a bit of camouflage easily could be reclaimed at very little expense, it was pointed out.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

LA HABRA, July 16.—Complimenting their aunt, Mrs. Katie Freuhling, and Miss Florence Freuhling of Montrose, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. U. R. Phillips entertained a group of friends at dinner Tuesday evening. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul MacLean of Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Strong, Mrs. Freuhling and daughter, Mrs. Ida Austin, and sons, Earl and Roy, of Whittier.

Guests From Denver Are Complimented By Their Hosts

A charming affair of Monday evening was the dinner party given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pique of this city, honoring Mr. Pique's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Sprigg, and family, who have been visiting here for the past few weeks, and returned to their home in Denver, Colo., via San Francisco, yesterday morning.

Only members of the family circle were present to bid adieu to the travelers and the evening hours passed all too quickly, for following the delectable dinner menu, there were many last minute topics to discuss. Mr. and Mrs. Sprigg have been the house guests of another brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Reyer, of North Broadway. During their stay here they have enjoyed various side trips, including picnics at the beach resorts and at Irvine park.

Those present Monday evening other than the honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. Sprigg, Miss Dorothy and Allan, jr., were Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Reyer, and daughter, Betty, Miss Hope McCan, and Mr. and Mrs. Pique and daughters, Olive and Charleen.

Visitors Are Honored At Bridge Club Meeting

When Mrs. E. L. McKamy entertained members of El Marten bridge club in her home, 1312 South Ross street, yesterday, she set one special guest table for bridge, in honor of her sister, Mrs. J. E. Yocam, who with her husband and small son, Joseph Edward Yocum jr., is visiting here from Wink, Texas.

Bridge was preceded by a delightful luncheon served at a long table set with rose glassware. Rose nut cups, tied with fluffy tulle bows in pastel tints, and a profusion of summer flowers in charming variety, completed the appointments, while place cards were tiny baskets of flowers in conventional design.

First prize for bridge was awarded Mrs. John Newhart, while Mrs. Tibbets Hilburn received second. They received the customary prizes which the club offers, while a special guest prize of a fluffy boudoir doll, attired in rainbow colors, was awarded Mrs. H. M. Spears.

Members present in addition to the hostess, Mrs. E. L. McKamy, were Mesdames Blaine Huntoon, C. P. Tompkins, John Newhart, Herman Jobst, and Ben Herr, all of Anaheim; Mrs. Tibbets Hillburn, of Long Beach; Mrs. Reginald Barker of Tustin; and the guests, Mrs. J. E. Yocam, of Wink, Texas; Mrs. Roy Lyons of Panorama Heights; Mrs. E. C. Kendrick of Anaheim, and Mrs. H. M. Spears of Santa Ana.

In these modern times, a silver wedding anniversary is truly an event, but when it is observed with an elaborate surprise party, as was that of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mead, Monday evening, it becomes a most memorable occasion. And the Misses Lolita and Nan Mead, together with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mead jr., who planned the affair, were today rejoicing that their little scheme for the success of the evening was so cleverly worked out.

The fact that Mr. and Mrs. Mead have been vacationing in Laguna Beach for a few days, simplified matters somewhat for the young hosts, and while their parents were away they made elaborate plans for the entertainment. They honored them with a charming family dinner earlier in the evening, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mead jr., in Orange, and then starting out, supposedly for a drive, they stopped at the family home on North Main street, where many friends were waiting to spend a merry evening. During the dinner in Orange, friends of the Misses Nan and Lolita Mead from Los Angeles had taken the opportunity to ply their artistic skill in the Mead home, and had created a most charming effect in silver and green, with a huge silver bell as the central figure. This group included Miss Virginia Cheap, Mrs. Frank Richmond, Gordon Richmond, and Walter McMenamy.

Bridge was played during the evening, and when scores were added it was found that Mrs. Carlson held high score for women, for which she was awarded a lovely hand-painted china bowl, and Miss E. J. Quinn held second, receiving a fancy powder jar. Men's honors were held by Charles V. Davis, who was given a beautiful card case, and second honors were held by Robert Tuthill, who was presented with a deck of cards in modernistic design. However, none of the prize-winners shared as completely in the evenings' prizes as did Mr. and Mrs. Mead themselves, for they were presented with lovely array of gifts for their anniversary.

A delightful feature of the refreshment course was the entrance of Mr. Mead sr., bearing a delicious white wedding cake, appropriately decorated, while Mrs. Albert Cheap played the wedding march. The wedding bell motif was further carried out at this time in the dainty ices, molded in charming fashion, and covered with nuts.

This hour was made especially enjoyable by lovely ballads of long ago which were sung by Mrs. Albert Cheap.

Enjoying the evening with the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Mead, and the hosts, the Misses Nan and Lolita Mead and Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Mead jr., were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tuthill, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Duckett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Metzgar, and Mr. and Mrs. Mac O. Robbins, of this city; and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cheap, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Devin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Siedler, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rodden, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Best, Miss E. J. Quinn, Mrs. Jennie Walters, Gordon Richmond and Walter McMenamy, all of Los Angeles.

Two Brides-elect Are Made Incentive for Enjoyable Party

The charming mid-summer brides-elect, Miss Virginia Lowell, so soon to become Mrs. DeRoy Dickson, and Miss Lorene Porter, who will wed Donald Nash of Hanford in early August, were complimented in happy fashion recently when Miss Veda Mitchell and her house-guest, Mrs. Frances Reid of Burlingame, presided at a little reunion of sorority sisters in Alpha Gamma Delta, of Oregon State university.

Miss Reid, a very attractive girl indeed, is enjoying a visit with Miss Mitchell in her home at 438 South Sycamore street, but no event of her stay has had more enjoyable features than the bridge tea and shower in which she was co-hostess rather than guest.

For the occasion, the Mitchell home was gay with colorful blossome, sheafs of gladioluses, delicate hued mydrangeas and stately dahlias all doing their share towards enhancing the hospitable charm of the home. The two young hostesses, Miss Mitchell in a graceful costume of black lace with all accessories to harmonize, and Miss Reid in airy chiffon in corn-color, were assisted in greeting their guests, by the former's mother, Mrs. Charles F. Mitchell.

Bridge appointments stressed the prevailing pink, bauve, yellow note of the blossoms, and the same color theme was apparent in the tea menu served later at card tables denuded of their useful covers and blossoming out in gay colored linens. Individual ice cream cakes masqueraded as small baskets overflowing with posies, the handle of each tied with a coquettish yellow bow. Nuts and coffee completed the dainty menu served by Miss Eleanor Mitchell and her young cousin, Miss Margaret Turner, assisted by Mrs. Mitchell.

Following this pleasant interlude, the first prize of an amber crystal compote, was presented Miss Jane Harwood, with second prize of a hand-tinted vase awarded Miss Dorothy Ervast; a draw prize of a boudoir clock as a miniature replica of a grandfather clock, going to Miss Mary Peters, and a beaded hot dish mat consoling Miss Pauline Porter.

The climax of the afternoon was reached when the hostesses disappeared for a moment, to return, each bearing a gleaming, new clothes basket, tied with frivolous yellow bows. The baskets were their gifts to the brides-elect, and their contents had been selected by the guests. For Miss Porter, all the packages held kitchen ware in green and ivory, while duplicate pieces in ivory and blue, were showered on Miss Lowell.

Alpha Gamma Delta members and friends reveling in their opportunity to talk over the delights of college companionships, and to compliment two such popular members in advance of their nuptials, were the Misses Charlene Lowell, Pauline Porter, Lois Winslow, Betty Hoy and Helen Westering of this city; Jane Harwood of San Dimas; Katherine and Martha Adams of Anaheim; Mary Peters of Oakland; Jeanne Malmin of Huntington Park; Cecelia Kreite of Alhambra; Dorothy Ervast of San Diego; Mrs. Norol Evans of Orange; Mrs. Russell Wilson, Mrs. James Dickson, Mrs. Nelle D. Winslow, Mrs. Charles F. Mitchell and Mrs. Joe Lowell, mother of Miss Virginia Lowell, all of this city, and Mrs. F. T. Porter, mother of Miss Lorene Porter, of Los Angeles, but still claimed by Santa Ana, her home for so many years.

Indeed when the wedding of Miss Porter and Mr. Nash takes place on August 9, it will be in the Santa Ana Christian church where the bride's father, the Rev. F. T. Porter was pastor for so many years.

Miss Lowell's wedding to Mr. Dickson will be an event of the coming Saturday, and will be a garden ceremony at the beautiful home of her parents on Lowell street.

Attendance at Wedding Has Sequel of Gay Birthday Party

Returning to their home on Newhope Road after having attended an important wedding in Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hein learned that the former's birthday anniversary of recent date, was being celebrated in unexpected fashion by a little group of close friends.

The guests had assembled in their absence, and when Mr. Hein unlocked the door and entered his home, it was to be surprised with merry birthday greetings. An enjoyable evening followed, for the thoughtful group had arranged for a program of cards. The refreshment hour brought another surprise for Mrs. Margaret Eliott had baked a beautiful birthday cake iced in pink and bearing an appropriate greeting. It was served with almond and fruit jello prepared by Miss Dollie Johnson.

The host was presented with a handsome sweater selected by the guests who included Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Elliott, Miss Magdalina Wells, Miss Dollie Johnson and Messrs. Edwin Schleuter, Harold Bircher and Clarence Rains, all of Anaheim.

The wedding which Mr. and Mrs. Hein had previously attended was that of Miss Ruth Steele of Garden Grove, and Charles Cavanaugh of Long Beach, which was solemnized in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Glendale. Mrs. Hein, who has a very sweet soprano voice, had been soloist at the nuptials.

Relatives Gather at Irvine Park

Many were the pleasures which Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Coon planned for their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Merl Coon and son Clifford, who spent all of last week with them in their home at 807 Orange avenue., but none was more enjoyable than that of Friday, when a number of relatives gathered for a picnic luncheon at Irvine park.

The delectable menu was spread on the tables beneath the oak trees, whose shade provided a grateful retreat from the heat so noticeable elsewhere.

Those present other than the house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Merl Coon, and son Clifford were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kutch and son Robert, of Salem, Ore., Mrs. Helen Kutch and Mr. and Mrs. Rolph Kutch and daughter Honore, of Huntington Park, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Paphol and children Wilma and Wilbur, of Portland, Oregon, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Coon, and daughter Maurine.

You and your Friends

Willis Kirkpatrick of 709 South Main street, who is in Monterey attending the Citizens' Military Training camp in progress there, has just been appointed publicity agent for Company E at Camp John B. Pryor, according to word received by his friends in this city.

The Misses Alberta and Elna Steiner of Albuquerque, N. M., are house-guests of their aunt, Mrs. Thomas R. Overton, 616 West Third street. They were to be joined today by their mother, Mrs. E. E. Eteiner, a sister of Mrs. Overton, who will be accompanied by her three young sons, Junior, Lynch and Jerry, and will remain with Mrs. Overton during Mr. Overton's absence in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Griggs and family, 421 South Flower street, have returned from a three weeks' trip through northern California and in Oregon. While in the neighbor state they had the pleasure of visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Johnson who formerly made their home at 1208 South Ross street, this city. The Johnsons are now owners and proprietors of the "Sunset on the Rogue" automobile camp and store near Medford, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Mercereau and daughters, the Misses Elena and Margaret Mercereau, 1506 West Fifth street, were Southern Pacific passengers today for Seattle. From that point they will sail on the Aleutian for Seward and a vacation outing in Alaska, arranged by the Westgate Steamship office.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Selvidge and their little grandson, of this city, left recently for Montana, where they will visit with their daughter. They plan to be gone for over a month, and will also visit, among other interesting points, the Grand Canyon.

Miss Wilma Brannon, 216 East Twelfth street, has returned from a week's vacation spent in Hollywood and Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cardeo, 721 South Ross street, aid their children, Dorothy Alice, Lester jr., and Billie, are spending the week in their cottage at Forest Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Chaney, of 1003 Orange avenue, will leave Wilmington Friday, on the S. S. Alexander, for Alaska. They will be accompanied as far as San Francisco by their little son, Homer jr., who will be met there by his aunt, Mrs. Russell Hill, and will remain with her in her home at San Jose while his parents continue their journey. They plan to be gone for about three weeks, and are anticipating a most interesting visit in Seattle, when Mr. Chaney will attend a bankers' convention.

The Misses Nan and Lolita Mead, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Mead of North Main street, will leave by boat the 27th of this month for Seattle, Wash. They plan to remain there for about a month, visiting with their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Mead.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cherry, 419 West Walnut street, have as house guests, Mr. and Mrs. James Damran of Huntington Park.

Mrs. W. A. Eaden of Bellingham, Wash., is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Kearns, 1208 Orange avenue.

Mrs. Kenneth Stowe, 916 West First street, is reported as being slightly improved, following an illness of a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. August Blecker, 1055 West Chestnut avenue, spent yesterday in Balboa Island with relatives.

Miss Blanche Cartmill, 644 North Broadway, is spending the week in Los Angeles, where she is attending the 42nd annual convention of Christian churches of Southern California. Meetings are held at the Wilshire Boulevard Christian church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Taylor jr., and son, Billie, 2323 Bush street, are expected to return from Big Bear today, where they have been spending the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alexander of 1414 1-/2 North Main street, have as a most interesting house guest, Mr. Alexander's father, Dr. James Alexander of Boston, Mass. He has just recently returned from a trip to Yokohama and several social affairs are being planned in his honor.

Mrs. Florence Watson, 1707 West First street, had as a house guest the past week, Mrs. L. M. Derby of San Francisco.

S. C. Cherrys Were Hosts to 500 Club

Members of that merry little group, the Colorado-Nebraska club, were happily entertainned last night, when they met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cherry, 419 West Walnut street, for an evening of 500. In harmony with the summer weather, were the brilliant red African daisies which the hostess had arranged artistically throughout the rooms.

When the card games were over and the business of checking the tallies had been completed, prizes were awarded to Mrs. G. N. Coon, holder of women's high score, and to Jasper Kearns, winning honors for the men. A most delectable refreshments course was served at a late hour.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Damran of Huntington Park, who are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cherry, and Mrs. W. A. Eaden, of Washington, who is a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Kearns.

Members present were Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Coons, and Miss Maurine Coons, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Kearns, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cowles, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Watkins, Miss Hazel Anderson, the Misses Blanche and Helen Westering, William Mitchell, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cherry.

in detail. Flores murdered Sheriff Barton and all but one of his posse. The attack took place at Barton Mound, near the turn of the highway west of Irvine. Pictures of this mound and also of Flores Peak in Santiago canyon, where Flores and his gang were captured by General Andres Pico, are shown.

"Stage Coach Days" and "Buried Treasure" are the concluding chapters in the book. The story of staging through this county in early days is brought to an end by a graphic description of a hold-up in which Judge Egan, of San Juan Capistrano, was the principal figure.

The book is illustrated with photographs, with maps and with woodcuts, the latter by Miss Jean Goodwin, well known Santa Ana artist, and Arthur Ames. Perhaps the most interesting of the three maps, at least from a historical standpoint, is designated by Stephenson as the Grijalva map. It was drawn in 1801, and shows the portion of which Grijalva sought a grant. The second map was of this same section in 1839-1840, and the third is a map of the San Joaquin ranch. The latter was drawn in 1841, and, in crude form, presents the location of houses, corrals, a lime kiln and two roads on the ranch.

Automobile Travelers Return From Tour Of North

Eighteen days of care-free "gypsying" were terminated for four prominent Santa Ana women when they returned Monday from an automobile tour which took them into Victoria, B. C. The four were Mrs. Irwin F. Landis, 613 West First street, and Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, 2219 North Broadway, who alternated at the driver's wheel of their big car; Mrs. James E. Leibig, 820 Spurgeon street, and Mrs. Roy Hall, 420 South Birch street, who declared that they occupied the lowly positions of "scullery maids."

For the travelers disdained hotels on their route, seeking instead the most picturesque automobile camps they could find, and all returned singing the praises of the modern camp, declaring it to be superior in their estimation to the average city hotel.

On their journey northward, the travelers visited the Big Basin, and enjoyed the famous Sky Line drive to San Francisco, taking practically every important side tour that offered. They found the Mount Hood loop of special interest and charm, and after reaching the Columbia river district, enjoyed particularly the return down the opposite side of the river from that on which they sped northward. Toll bridges were their delight, especially the new Long View bridge.

Summer Guests Enjoy Park Party

A happy event was spent last night when an intimate group of friends met at Irvine park, to join in a steak bake. Following the delicious supper, the group enjoyed dancing in the newly completed pavilion.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McKamy and daughter, Jean; and their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Yocam and son Joseph Edward jr., of Wink, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Houston Kier and sons, Houston jr and Ervin, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Huntoon, Dr. and Mrs. C. P. Tompkins and children, Norma Jean and Bernice, and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wilson and their house-guests, all of Anaheim.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Hermosa Chapter, O.E.S., will not meet in the Oddfellows hall on Tuesday, July 22, as previously announced, but will meet once more in the Masonic temple on Monday, July 21. The change in plans is necessitated by confusion arising from the change in meeting nights from Mondays to Tuesdays, and the chapter will not meet on the new schedule until the first Tuesday in August. There will be initiation and special guests and all members are urged to attend.

The Daughters of Union Veterans will hold a social Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the home of Miss Minnie Cowan, 214 South Sycamore street. All members are cordially invited to attend.

The Thistle Club of the Native Daughters of the Golden West will have an all-day meeting tomorrow in the home of Mrs. Raymond Ross, 2421 Oakmont avenue, with a pot-luck luncheon served at noon. Members are planning to finish the quilt they have been working on for the past few months.

Public installation of new officers of the Native Daughters of the Golden West will be held Monday, July 28, in the Knights of Columbus hall at 8:30 p. m. Native Daughters and Sons will join in a barbeque at Hewes Park, Sunday, July 27. Details will be given out later.

Orange Rind Pectin

Here is a recipe for making pectin to use in quantities demanded through the canning season—no small item of expense if you buy the commercial pectin.

ORANGE RIND PECTIN

With a sharp knife remove every particle of the yellow part of the orange rind, use only the white inner part. After peeling the rind off the oranges and thus preparing it, run it through the food chopper, press firmly into a cup to measure, and to each cupful add the juice of one lemon and let stand one hour.

Add 2 cups of water for each cup of peel, bring to the boiling point and boil exactly five minutes. Let stand over night and again add water—this time 4 cups of water for each cup of peel.

Bring to the boiling point and boil ten minutes, strain through a jelly bag, reheat to sterilize, and bottle. Use it in the proportions you would use of unsweetened apple juice—from one-fourth to one-third of the total amount of juice used in making the jelly.

It is easily made and very inexpensive. Grapefruit and lemon peel can be used if you are not using many oranges. Prepare as directed for the orange peel and proceed with the recipe as directed.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Deviled Crab

2 cups fresh or canned crab meat
1 teaspoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup top milk
Seasonings of cayenne, paprika, salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 egg yolks
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons cooking sherry
2-3 cup buttered crumbs
6 slices lemon for garnish

Scallop shells are ideal for baking this dish. They can be bought in the dish department of any good store. If a large single dish is used it must be on the order of a glass pie plate to cook the mixture quickly and have an expanse of brown crumb top as well.

• • •

Blend together butter and flour with the dry seasonings, and the rich top milk and cook to a smooth sauce, then add the worcestershire sauce, lemon juice, sherry (optional), slightly beaten egg yolks and flaked crab.

Cook gently three minutes, place in the shells or dish, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven ten minutes to brown nicely. Scallop the edges of the lemon slices, dust thickly with paprika and a dusting of minced parsley and serve one slice for each portion. There are six of them.

The calories total 1250 and are rather husky ones for all the low calorie value of crab meat. This, with a nice salad, provides an ideal supper menu.

Harpster, president of the Anaheim Ebell club, Mrs. Harpster is touring Europe. Mrs. H. H. Benjamin, who is also a district chairman, is in the east at this time and will not be able to attend. All club women are welcome to the conference which will convene at the Hotel San Clemente. Of outstanding interest will be addresses given by Miss Josephine Seaman of La Jolla, vice president of the California Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. H. E. DeNyse of Riverside, past president of Southern district. Mrs. Harry Stroh, state program chairman, will also tell of plans for the coming season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rymer and daughter Ruth have returned to their home at 307 East Alberta street after two weeks spent at Newport.

W. K. Suiter, who has been associated with the Anaheim Laundry for the past 13 years, has retired from that position to devote his entire attention to his ranch. Carl Ingraham is also severing his connecion with the laundry to accept a position as distributor for a large coffee house in San Bernardino.

Friends of the two gentlemen arranged a farewell party for them which was a pleasant social event held at the home of the parents of Oliver Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Carel Morecraft at 314 North Janss street. The evening was spent in cards. Mr. Suiter was presented with a wrist watch and Mr. Ingraham with a fountain pen. Both were given flowers.

FILM DENUDES WAR OF SUPPOSED GLORY

Declared to be more sensational than "The Birth of a Nation," it is the kind of picture that will disgust you with war. Its plot is terrible, but in its clever way it depicts war as it really is and the flying of flags, the honor and glory of war, which always are brought out so forcibly in pictures, is markedly absent from this film.

When Enrich Maria Remarque wrote the story, 10 years after the war, the sting of war was all gone, yet critics immediately declared that it was the best book on the war. The sales in this country were unusually heavy. When picture companies bid for the story, it was declared that the film could not be made.

Others said that the horror of the book could not be placed on the screen, but Universal has done it and in such a manner that some of the scenes will live forever in the memories of those who see the show.

"All Quiet on the Western Front" will rock the audience as no picture ever has. It will thrill and at the same time it will make you realize that the war was not what you thought it was. The German side of the picture is shown.

TELEPHONE TYPIST

LONDON, July 16.—Post office authorities are considering a contrivance to be attached to a telephone which will enable a caller, if unable to get his party, to type a message which will be reproduced on the phone at the other end. It is called a "teleprinter," and is a machine not unlike a miniature typewriter. Words typed by the calling party will be printed at the other end automatically.

The story of a great singer, to whom love comes late, and her gallant fight to overcome it, the story is based on the great stage play of years ago that Doris Keane made famous. With Garbo in the chief role, the picture is irresistible.

The plot concerns Cavallini, famous Italian opera singer, and a woman with a past who falls in love with a young clergyman. He immediately falls in love with her and asks her to be his wife. Then she tells him of her past.

The picture is romance from start to finish. It shows Garbo in an entirely different role than she has ever played before. Instead of the sophisticated woman of "Flesh and the Devil" and other pictures, she is the woman battling for the only love that has ever come to her and realizing at the same time, that it has come too late.

The picture is well done and will make Garbo even better liked than her former pictures have. The film is showing in Santa Ana even before Los Angeles theaters play it.

PALACE FOR MINER

LONDON, July 16.—James Brown feels more at home in a mine than he does in a palace, but he must keep up the Holyrood palace because he has been made Lord High Commissioner of Scotland by King George. Brown is a humble miner, and has worked all his life at mining coal. He still makes his home in the house where he lived when he went down into the mines every morning.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

The Tinymites all felt real proud and thankful that they were allowed to sleep within the Persian home. 'Twas quite a treat, they thought. Said Coppy, "We will sleep real sound until the morning comes around. I'm going to close my eyes and by the sandman I'll be caught."

The Travel Man then shouted, "Oh, there's one thing you don't seem to know. Before you enter Persian homes, you should take off your shoes. That you forgot will start no row because you all can do it now." Then Scouty said "We didn't know about it. That is news."

Off came their shoes, and then to bed went every little sleepy head. The Travel Man sat up a while and then he turned in, too. The night slipped by. At break of day the bunch were up and on their way. "We'll eat some breakfast," Clowny said. "And then, what will we do?"

"Ah! I have a surprise in store," the Travel Man said. "What is more, I'm going to get some donkeys and we'll take a nice long ride. Before this cheerful day is done I know you'll have a heap of fun. And then they found a restaurant where Persian food was tried.

Right after breakfast they went out and found some donkeys. Mid a shout of merriment they hopped aboard and rode right out of town. "We'll find another place nearby," the Travel Man exclaimed, "and I feel sure you'll all be tickled when you start to look around."

They traveled on two hours or so and then the Travel Man said, "What! Now look ahead. What do you see?" "A big wall," someone cried. Then he explained just what it was and all the bunch were thrilled because they suddenly found out a great big city was inside.

RULES:

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the eltters cannot be changed.

PULL to HARD—It may be necessary for you to PULL HARD in order to come through with a par four on this hole.

SIGN FRONTAGE FOR WIDENING OF N. SPADRA

FULLERTON, July 16.—First action toward the widening of North Spadra road, between Chapman avenue and the Pacific Electric bridge was taken last night by the Fullerton city council at its regular meeting in the city hall, following the presentation of a petition by Robert Seamans with a majority of the frontage signed up in favor of the widening.

C. M. Thorpe, city engineer, was authorized to meet with Supervisor William Schumacher and County Highway Engineer Nat Neff relative to securing state aid in widening the state highway.

Share Expenses

With the majority of frontage in favor of the move, one quarter of the expense will be handled by the property owners, the remainder must be provided by the city, county and state.

Total frontage along the street approximates 3,165.5 feet and 1852.79 feet have been signed for the project, or 62 per cent.

If outside aid can be secured, the city council will proceed at once with the forming of an assessment district and start work on the project, it was declared, culminating several years of effort in widening the "bottleneck" to the 56 feet to conform with the remainder of the state highway outside the city limits and in the business district.

May Widen More

Additional widening of the highway from the Pacific Electric bridge north to the city limits, a distance of one and one-half miles, is contemplated if state aid is available, the council declared, and urged City Engineer Thorpe to confer with Schumacher and Neff on the proposition.

Considerable discussion was had by the council relative to the the granting of a permit to the United Cleaners and Dyers to remodel their dry cleaning establishment in accordance with a new state law. Property owners adjoining the plant, headed by S. E. Reed, declared the place a public nuisance and are petitioning the council to have the establishment removed to an industrial section of the town. The council will study the request further with City Attorney Albert Launer before making a decision on the permit.

Invited to Meeting

The council was invited to attend the regular meeting of the Metropolitan Water District association which is to be held at Riverside July 24 at 8 p. m., at the American Legion hall. Several council men plan to attend the event.

Councilmen also signified their intention of attending a celebration meeting at San Bernardino July 28 when Phil D. Swing will talk on the actual starting of the Boulder dam construction.

Granting of two permits for service stations ended the action of the evening by the council.

Toastmasters Give Entertainment For Anaheim Kiwanis

ANAHEIM, July 16. — Three members of the Toastmasters' club presented the program at the Kiwanis club when they met for their weekly luncheon-meeting at the Elks' clubhouse yesterday. George Howard, former member of the group, introduced the speakers who were William Payne, George Hedstrom and Dr. John Waters.

"The Air Transport" was discussed by Mr. Payne, Mr. Hedstrom, president of the club, spoke on "The Atom," tracing the development of knowledge of this unit to the invention of the radio, the X-ray and other modern devices. "The Radio Aamateur" was the subject chosen by Dr. Waters for discussion.

The Kiwanis club will hold a steak bake for members and their families at Irvine park on the evening of July 29.

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES FOR CHARLES WEIDE

LA HABRA, July 16.—Funeral services were held Monday morning at the Methodist church for Charles T. Weide, 70, who passed away Friday afternoon following injuries sustained in a fall down 20 flights of stairs at the Lincoln school Friday morning.

The exact cause of the accident which caused death to the aged caretaker at the school is unknown but it is believed that he tripped and fell in such a manner as to cause skull injuries from which he never gained consciousness until the time of his death several hours later.

Workmen at the school were attracted to the limp body at the foot of the stairs by his moans and the blood stained stairway showed mute evidence of the tragedy.

The deceased was one of the most esteemed men of the community and an active worker in the Methodist church at La Habra. His survivors are his wife and seven children, I. E. and Rolland of La Habra, Mrs. Charles Opperman of Kansas, O. S. Weide of Glendale, Mrs. John Heath of Santa Ana, and Maxon Weide of Santa Barbara. The latter is confneid to the Fullerton hospital following a serious operation.

The Rev. Sheridan Phillips, former pastor of the Methodist church, conducted the services with the assistance of the Rev. Hilgenfeld of Anaheim.

PARK CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BACKS HARBOR

BUENA PARK, July 16.—The Buena Park Chamber of Commerce last night endorsed the resolution adopted at the "Good Will Dinner" in Anaheim July 11, favoring the promotion of unity of purpose and co-operation between the various elements within Orange county in reference to the development of Newport harbor as the most important factor in the prosperity of the county, second only to flood control and water conservation.

This resolution was submitted to the Associated Chambers of Commerce, county press, and other interested agencies to assist in bringing the project to an issue at the earliest possible time, and the Buena Park Chamber of Commerce is one of the first organizations to endorse the project.

Make Resolution

The resolution suggests that a harbor commission be appointed as required by law, and employ an engineer, recommended by the federal government, who shall make the necessary surveys and estimates to bring the plans for this project up to date. Upon the submission of the report of this harbor commission, one-half of the required amount should be provided by a county bond issue, with the distinct understanding that said bonds should not be sold until a like amount for the same purpose has been appropriated by the federal government; the whole amount to be expended under the direction and control of government engineers, the county co-operating, as may be necessary, to comply with legal requirements.

Jack Golden gave a report on the meeting held in Anaheim, and the endorsement of the resolution was unanimously made by the local organization, following discussion.

Raymer Talks

George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, announced that a tentative date of July 16 had been set for the organization meeting of the Orange County Branch of the Greater Manchester Avenue association but this has been postponed indefinitely. This meeting will be held in the Buena Park Chamber of Commerce headquarters in the new civic building on West Ninth street, and will be attended by representatives from the Los Angeles association, and all of the interested cities and communities in Orange county. Nat Neff, county highway engineer, will also be present with a map showing the proposed right-of-way.

Stress Manchester Road

Manchester Avenue has been recognized by the entire county as the most important road development, and as Buena Park is the key to the program, this community was selected for the organization meeting.

Jack Golden announced that the signature of A. Lucas has been secured for the right-of-way for Scales avenue, and as only one more signature is necessary to secure the opening of the road from Orangethorpe avenue south to the present street, and this property owner is now willing to sign, the road is practically assured for this year.

Santo Domingo, capital of the Dominican Republic, is the oldest city in the New World settled by Europeans. Panama City, founded by the Spanish in 1519, is the oldest white settlement on the mainland of the Americas.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 16.—A story which dates back to the dons in this locality has just come to light. Mrs. Valdanera Aguilar, now in her seventy-eighth year, has just had made a dress, the material for which was given to her fifty-seven years ago, by Senora Avila, wife of Don Juan Avila, "El Rice" of Capistrano.

The goods, which had laid in a camphor chest for more than a half century, were purchased by Senora Avila from a drifting peddler-merchant, who had a small store in San Juan Capistrano. The gift was made to Mrs. Aguilar, then a young woman, in appreciation of her kindness in providing hot soup at noon for one of the Avila children, while the child was attending the Mission school.

Active Old Lady

Mrs. Aguilar, a spry old lady with sparkling black eyes and a ready smile, lives in the home which has belonged to her family since the days when the mission was being built. According to her story it was one of two adobe buildings occupied by Indians when the work of building the mission was begun, and was given to one of her ancestors to live in. The house is near the east boundary of the mission property, is of adobe, long and low in its lines, with walls four feet in thickness, and tiny slit-like windows, hung with heavy wooden shutters. Its mistress relates that many times she and members of her family have barred the heavy door and closed the shutters, and hidden themselves beneath the bedding, sacks or clothing, in terror of the bandit band that periodically raided the town.

Mrs. Aguilar is the mother of three sons, Don Juan, famous guide in the mission, Frank, who is associated with the adobe plant in San Juan, and Blas, foreman of the Las Flores ranch. One daughter died years ago, and she has raised her nephew, Emilo Ruiz, who makes his home in the Aguilar household.

Friends of Mrs. Mary Widick, daughter of J. C. Hamilton, will be interested in the announcement of her marriage to Oscar L. Mossberg of Hollywood. The wedding took place Monday evening at the home of the Rev. John McFarland at Whittier, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church there.

Mrs. Mossberg for a number of years has been associated with her father in the operation of a grocery store on Central avenue. Her husband is a well known former La Habra business man and was former proprietor of the La Habra Market. He is now in business in Hollywood and they will make their home there.

Midget To Preach At Mesa Meeting

COSTA MESA, Juy 16.—Nan Beal, midget, student of the Angeles Temple Bible school, of Los Angeles, will be the speaker at the Costa Mesa Foursquare church Thursday evening, as announced by the Rev. D. W. Beverly, pastor.

The building used by the Foursquare church has had a 12x28 foot addition put on the rear which will provide extra space for Sunday school class rooms, also a prayer room. The interior of the church room has been remodeled, the past week.

GEORGE RAYMER SPEAKS BEFORE KIWANIS GROUP

Facts and figures presented by George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, before the Buena Park Kiwanis club, Tuesday evening, revealed the vast amount of money being spent on Southern California projects, and the wonderful development in Orange county, and the Southland.

Raymer quoted California products shipped east amounted to $800,000,000; Boulder dam, $10,000,000; government harbor, $8,000,000; Long Beach harbor, $8,000,000; Los Angeles water program, $38,000,000; state roads, $4,000,000, and Santa Ana industrial development, $5,500,000. The building and loan associations are loaning $500,000,000 on buildings in Southern California, and Orange county banks are prosperous.

Raymer spoke of the Manchester avenue development as the biggest thing for Orange county, and stated that this boulevard when completed would be the widest and longest piece of pavement in the world.

He also announced the opening of the first Santa Ana unit on July 26, with impressive ceremonies. This unit extends from Main street in Santa Ana to the state highway ta the Orange County hospital.

The Kiwanis meeting was scheduled for Irvine park, but conflicting dates interfered and the meeting was held in the Buena Park Woman's clubhouse.

CITY COUNCIL INVESTIGATES BUILDING FEES

LA HABRA, July 16.—Investigation in the matter of charging for building permits for buildings at the local schools will be made by members of the city council in session last night, who insisted that the buildings be given proper inspection in regard to building codes following inquiries by John Sanks, city engineer, as to whether the school building fees can be rightly charged.

Sanks stated that work on both the Washington and Lincoln schools had been started without his knowledge or inspection with the architect acting as sole inspector.

The matter of settling a fixed amount for contractors of the city was expected to have been arranged last night but on suggestion of the contractors who desired more time to get together on the matter no fixed rate was set but a license fee of $25 per year was generally decided upon.

ROBERT DANDY DIES FROM LONG ILLNESS

ANAHEIM, July 16.—Robert M. Dandy, 56, a resident of Anaheim for the past eight years, died yesterday morning at the family home, 758 North Claudina street, following a long illness.

Mr. Dandy, who was a retired farmer, was a native of Oxford, Ontario, Canada, came to California over 12 years ago after many years spent as an agriculturist in Manitoba, Canada. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Anaheim and of the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Emma Dandy; two daughters, Kathleen and Myrtle; one son, Donald; three brothers, Samuel, William and Edwin of Pierson, Manitoba and three sisters, Miss Mary Dandy and Mrs. Louisa Basted, both of Pierson, and Mrs. Angelina Bromley of St. Catherines, Ontario.

The body is in the care of the Backs, Terry and Campbell mortuary pending completion of funeral arrangements upon receipt of word from northern relatives.

Rev. L. T. Barkman Resigns Pastorate At Baptist Church

ANAHEIM, July 16.—The Rev. L. T. Barkman has severed his connection with the Calvary Baptist church here after having served as pastor of the congregation for the past two years. He plans to enter into evangelistic work.

Rev. Barkman's resignation is to take effect the first of August but with his annual month's vacation coming at this time he has already moved from Anaheim, establishing a home at 728 Lime street, Long Beach.

It is expected that action towards securing a new pastor will be postponed until after the vacation season. In the meantime supply pastors will fill the pulpit. The visiting pastor last Sunday was the Rev. Gish of San Diego.

Rev. Barkman came to Calvary Baptist church from the First Baptist church at Hermosa Beach where he served for nearly three years. He served three months as supply pastor of the local church before being extended a permanent call in January, 1929.

MIDGET GOLF COURSE OPENS AT CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE, July 16.—Miniature golf enthusiasts of the Spanish village and the south coast will start putting over the San Clemente eighteen hole course on Sunday, according to Ralph Young, who will be in charge of the model links here. Electric lights for evening play will be strung tomorrow. Nine holes are almost ready for play now, says Young and he hopes to have the 10 ready for San Clemente players and Spanish Village visitors on Sunday.

The course was erected by village workmen and was designed by Hal Warner. The holes embody the principal features of the most interesting holes in Southern California courses and many links were studied before the San Clemente course was outlined, planned and then built.

The course is located on El Camino Real to the south of Fred Amundson's drug store. It is so located that any highway tourist can stop and get in a round when on his way to San Diego or Los Angeles.

Young plans to stage a south coast tourney among the cities of Oceanside, San Juan Capistrano, Laguna Beach and Newport-Balboa.

FIVE COUNTIES REPRESENTED IN BEACH MEET

SAN CLEMENTE, July 16.—More than 200 members of the Southern District of the California Federation of Women's Clubs opened a two-day convention in San Clemente this morning at the social club when a business meeting was held at 10:30 o'clock. Women from Riverside, Orange, San Diego, Imperial and San Bernardino counties were in attendance.

A business session was to be held each morning and afternoon of the two day session. Tonight an informal dinner will be held at A. Travaglini's Cafe in San Clemente after which a social meeting will be held at the club. After tomorrow's afternoon meeting the convention will break up.

Assists Each Club

The purpose of the summer session, according to Miss Benita G. Eadie, coresponding secretary, is to assist each club in outlining its program for the year. Round table discussions will be held and assistance given all clubs which need or ask for help in compiling their year book.

The following officers were present, all members of the Southern District Executive Board: Mrs. Marcus W. Robbins, president, Highland; Mrs. George W. Beattie, vice-president, San Diego; recording secretary, Mrs. George O. Roberts, San Diego; corresponding secretary, Miss Benita G. Eadie, San Diego; treasurer, Mrs. Elmo Hough, Corona; auditor, Mrs. Albert Launer, Fullerton; parliamentarian, Miss Katherine J. Smith, La Jolla; historian, Mrs. Lillian Pray Palmer, San Diego; trustee, Mrs. H. E. De Nyse, Riverside; county federation president, Mrs. D. A. Ansvlyn, Brawley; Mrs. Ross P. Garbutt, Orange; Mrs. Edward C. Talbot, Perris; Mrs. Ada Hildreth, Julian.

The women have headquarters at Hotel San Clemente. Many plan to stay over on Wednesday night to enjoy golf, swimming and riding on Thursday.

A UNION JUNIOR COLLEGE

Plans for a county Junior College are once again beginning to look hopeful. The Fullerton school board will meet with the Santa Ana school board next Tuesday to discuss the matter. There is nothing to be gained from accentuating differences. There is a real possibility of accomplishing a great deal through cooperation. Several other communities have not looked with favor upon Fullerton's project and there are only two lines to be taken in the matter: either to forego a union Junior College with the shame upon the heads of some people who would in such a case have permitted community jealousy to dominate, or to cooperate in the project.

It has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that transporting children to a central school is more beneficial to their education than the former small schools where one teacher, because she had to be versed in so many studies, was not the master of one or two that the teacher is who can devote herself to the one or two subjects.

It follows, too, that a county Junior College which commands all the resources available in the county and from the state for such an institution is going to have a faculty and equipment finer than would two colleges which were forced to divide the resources. The state money provided for the college is based upon the attendance, hence the larger the attendance the larger the fund.

The distance of travel for Junior College people would not be a serious matter were the college located at a central point. Of course, no one would consider it fair to locate the college at the southern tip of the county, for example. A centrally located institution, with bus or electric service to the various communities, could be made into an institution of which every community could be proud for everyone would have a share in it and it would be the finest demonstration of cooperation imaginable. There are times when the county needs just such a monument to cooperation and the recognition of mutual welfare.

Few realize the number of people who are attracted to the county at the present time because of the opportunity to give their children at least two years of college study at the least possible cost. A bigger and better county Junior College would not only present an opportunity for two years of college training, but it would, in only a short time present a rare opportunity which would be compared favorably with many of the colleges of the country.

There is another important angle to the Junior College which is coming to be considered more seriously. Many boys and girls are finishing their high school courses at a very early age—too early, many parents consider, to be sent away from home to a college or university. Here the Junior College solves the problem. They can be kept at home for another year or two while they "get their bearings." To this increasingly large group of people the Junior College is growing in importance. They want it to be as extensive in the courses it offers and as valuable in the members of the faculty and useful in its equipment as is possible. And a great deal is possible, with all pulling together in a county of the size, and with the wealth of Orange county.

It is only fair to warn orators who plan to regale Admiral Byrd with warm toasts of welcome in the future that he has just been presented with a sword by the state of Virginia.

GOVERNMENT EXPENSES STILL GOING UP

The cost of government continues to go up. The recent report of the United States treasury department reveals some interesting statistics. The total receipts of the national government for the fiscal year ending June 30 were $4,178,000,000. All this, with the exception of $184,000,000 was spent. Among the largest items were, for the Veterans' Bureau, $558,000,000; the war department, $454,000,000, and the navy department, $374,000,000. Next came the treasury department with an expenditure of $193,000,000, and the department of agriculture, with $178,000,000. The state department, which has to do with all international relations spent the small sum of $14,000,000, and the department of commerce which has to do with the promotion of international and domestic trade and industry spent $60,000,000. This latter includes the taking of the census.

If we add to the cost of the Veterans Bureau and the upkeep of the army and navy the sum of $1,405,000,000 for interest and reduction of the public debt, most of which was incurred during the war, we can see the enormous cost of maintaining our national defense. It seems absurd that in a world where every one wants peace, the cost of national defense should run into such enormous figures; while the necessary expenses for the normal times of peace should be so comparatively small.

What comforts, what large opportunities might be given our people, were a small proportion of this money spent for past wars and for present defense turned into the building of roads, the higher education, and better than all, the reduction of taxes. Will the leaders of government ever be able to lead the people of their respective states, or agree among themselves, to make unnecessary these vast expenditures for national defense? That is the statesman's task today. Would that a school of statesmen might arise to change the whole attitude of nations toward each other.

THE NEED OF WELL-BORN CHILDREN

The executive secretary of the American Eugenic Society recently said that his organization is not interested in birth control as such. It is more interested in well-born children. He wants ministers and college professors to have more children, and the poor and the defective to have less.

This is a hopeless expectation. Since Adam Smith, the first political economist, pointed out that the birth rate of the poor and the ignorant always goes up, and the birth rate of the prosperous and the cultured always goes down, it has been noted that this has been an all but unchangeable law. It is only the poor and the ignorant who will have large families, because the matter of their support and training never enters into the calculation of these classes. On the other hand, the cultured and the prosperous are much more concerned for their children. They deliberately refuse to multiply children to whom they cannot give the advantages they themselves enjoy.

To have well-born children, children who will be able to master the forces of society and who possess creative ability, is very desirable. No doubt ministers' children and professors' children are very apt to be such. But in view of the fact that these classes are not apt to increase the population abnormally, because they are not willing to assume the risks and the grave responsibilities, it is the duty of society to restrict by all legitimate means the propagation of children who will not only be a burden to themselves, but also liabilities to society. We fear that the executive secretary of the American Eugenics Society has the wrong end of the proposition. Ministers and professors will look after themselves. The poor and the ignorant need light and leading.

AFGHANISTAN'S NEW FLAG

Afghanistan has adopted a new flag. King Nadir Shah has designed it. The former flag which was black was decided to be incongruous with the gayety of the people.

The new flag has three perpendicular stripes of black, red and white, with the crescent of a mosque in the center. The black stripe is retained as a symbol of the ages in which Afghanistan was held in the grip of darkness. The bright red band denotes the revolution into which the country was plunged after having emerged from the darkness and the white stands for peace and prosperity. The design in the center is intended to announce to the world that Afghanistan has achieved its present peace through the grace of God and will remain under the shadow of Islam forever. Thus the flag is symbolic of the whole history of the country.

This step which has been taken in Afghanistan and which doesn't mean much to us here, probably represents a contest over there between the conservatives who undoubtedly wanted to retain the old flag, even if it was black, and the progressives, or radicals, as some of the natives probably called them, who wanted a new flag. We are glad the progressives won because the black flag, being suggestive of the flag of pirates was inclined to prejudice one against Afghanistan from the start, providing the difficult spelling of the name of the little country hadn't already done so.

He Told Exact Truth So None Believed Him

San Francisco Chronicle

General Von Bernhardi, who has just died in Berlin, proved that John Hay, America's great Secretary of State, was right when he said that telling the truth was a statesman's best smoke screen, because nobody would believe him.

General von Bernhardi published in 1912 his books, "The Next War" and "How Germany Makes War." In these he predicted the World war and said that unless Germany took Paris in the first thirty days she would lose the war. He gave 1916 as the year the war would start, a miscalculation of two years, due to unforeseen circumstances that hastened the conflict.

In these books General von Bernhardi discussed in detail the strategy to be followed, the passing through Belgium to strike at France, holding Russia back on the Eastern front and the contingency of England entering the war. It was an amazingly frank discussion from a practical military viewpoint. And the fact that a chief of staff could publish such disclosures without any official reproof was generally taken as indication that the purpose of the disclosures was to mislead.

Events proved the accuracy of the General's predictions. The German campaign followed his plan with fidelity until the unexpected resistance upset it. And the world learned that if it had believed General von Bernhardi it could have had a more accurate knowledge of German strategy than the intelligence services obtained at great cost and danger. It was because he told the truth so frankly that people doubted him.

The Mail and Roads

Oakland Tribune

Motorists who go into the back country may thank the postoffice department for the fact many roads are improved. Directly or indirectly the mails keep those routes in good condition, for communities know that so soon as the roads are neglected the rural delivery system will be withdrawn.

There was a time when carriers on rural routes drove or rode horses and averaged 26.26 miles a day. Now they are chauffeurs and average 30.43 miles a day. Today more than 43,000 of these carriers travel an aggregate of 1,300,000 miles a day to bring the letters and papers to the men and women of the farms.

Because of this service the postoffice department exerts a continuing influence for good roads and the result has been better rural delivery at a lower cost to the mile.

The State's Gain

No wonder California's population gains impress the nation. Leading all states and with a percentage of increase more than twice that of the second, California chalks up a figure of 64.6 per cent against 31.3 per cent of Michigan. We now have a lead of more than a million over Massachusetts, which used to outrank us and there is an 800,000 margin in our favor over Michigan. An increase of 64.6 per cent in ten years, while it causes wondering exclamations from other commonwealths, offers fool for local thought. The state must be prepared for another such gain in the present decade.

Woodman, Spare That Tree!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

TRAVEL

I've seen ten thousand battleships
Manoeuver on the main,
A million motors making trips
Across the western plains
And Jimmie Walker shake the hands—
Apparelled in a smile—
But mostly Erin's Isle.

Vast herds of buffaloes I've seen
Upon Montana's hills;
But though they beautify the scene
They bring me few fresh thrills.
Mount Everest, which skyward climbs,
Is much to be admired;
But yet, when viewed five hundred times
It makes one rather tired.

Though fond of seeing daring men,
My gaze grows fixed and stony
Each time that I regard again
The map of Al Capone.
And though that Vassar daisy chain
Is quite a pretty notion,
I find it leaves my weary brain
Without the least emotion.

I've seen a hundred kings and queens,
And presidents with gavels.
I've visited a thousand scenes
In movie news reel travels.
And now no longer I shall roam;
Of every thrill divested,
I mean henceforth to stay at home
Until completely rested.

FORCE OF HABIT

When all the Ford plant employes return from that vacation they have taken together they probably will find that the machinery has been turning out just as many cars as ever.

JUST A BIT UNFAIR

While the Lindbergh baby was getting all those columns of publicity a hundred thousand other babies had to be content with mere birth notices.

"The Economics of Original Sin"

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Many men look upon business depression as a disease which must run its course. Such men hold that nothing can be done to prevent slumps, or to speed recovery, or—quoting Mr. Hoover—"to relieve the hardship which wreaks itself especially upon workers, farmers, and smaller business people."

Addicts of this doctrine, says the BUSINESS WEEK, hold that business depressions are inevitable and salutary. They look upon such afflictions much as certain sects in the Far East look upon the eye diseases of children. All such calamities come from on high. Any attempt of man to interfere with divine law is perilous and immoral.

This is the view taken by those Doctors of Despair—now at large in this country—whom the BUSINESS WEEK calls Statistical Sadists. These queer fellows gloat over sad statistics. They chant their eternal song, "Wait and See." They worship "the twin saints Action and Reaction—the Amos and Andy of Economic Law." And their favorite exercise is the Long Run.

Let it run. The longer the better.

If any one suggests to these Doctors of Despair that the run might be shortened—that increased capital expenditures, public and private, under the aggressive leadership of tne Federal Government, might create jobs and cut short the sentence of suffering—they throw up their hands in horror. "They point to the tables of the Economic Law and the moral lessons to be drawn from the investigations of Adam (Smith) in the Economic Eden of eighteenth century England."

A business depression, in their view, is the punishment for original sin. To try to escape the prolonged process of penance, is to try to cheat the Gods. It is an attempt to defy natural laws by a kind of bootstrap levitation.

After listening to such preaching, it was cheering to everyone except the Statistical Sadists to hear President Hoover say to the United States Chamber of Commerce: "I do not accept that fatalistic view." Indeed, if he HAD accepted it, tens of thousands of men who are now at work would be looking for jobs.

In the Long Ago

From the Register Files 14 Years Ago Today

JULY 16, 1916

With a seven-foot six-inch tide running last night, Newport Beach escaped without any serious damage, although one or two machines got stuck in attempting to cross some of the roads.

Santa Ana Lodge of Elks is planning to make improvements in its fine building on Sycamore street, and to complete the unfinished portion of the large basement, the total cost of which will be between $2500 and $3000.

Work of repairing the fire damage at the Lyric Theater will begin Monday and will be rushed to completion as quickly as possible.

Signers of an article urging "Decline to State what party" voters to change their party affiliations now were J. P. Baumgartner, R. A. Cushman, M. D., J. C. Metzgar, L. A. West, W. H. Thomas, A. J. Visel, C. D. Ball, M. D., and Wm .C. Jerome.

Mrs. Olive Lopez entertained in her home recently with a birthday party honoring Mrs. George W. Young.

Attorney S. M. Reinhaus is circulating a petition for the nomination of R. Y. Williams, Walter Eden, T. E. Stephenson, J. E. Liebig, Dr. R. A. Cushman, and Cecil Dubois as Republican county central committeemen.

Thoughts On Modern Life

TOWARD STOPPING UNEMPLOYMENT

For the last two days I have been pleading that we recognize the complexity of the problem of unemployment and begin attacking it, not by general political pronunciamentos, but by detailed dealing with the varied sources of unemployment.

From time to time during the next few weeks, I want to bring to the readers of this newspaper interpretations of the best thinking that has been done by responsible students of the problems of employment management and unemployment prevention.

Today I want to summarize the suggestions made by Stuart Chase in the article in the July Harper's to which I referred yesterday. He suggests six steps towards reducing unemployment which deserve national consideration.

1. The mobilization of public opinion for a nation-wide attack on the existing unemployment, a vast advertising campaign, reminiscent of Liberty Loan drives, using billboard posters, full page spreads, four-minute speakers, radio talks, news reels, editorials, and the whole round of the techniques of mass appeal that we Americans know so well how to use.

2. The shortening of working hours to offset the unemployment caused by the installation of machines that do the work it has taken several men to do before. Instead of having fewer men working the former number of hours, we might have the former number of men working fewer hours. And this would stimulate rather than sap the income of industry, for it would keep several million workers as part of the buying public and would give them leisure in which to develop tastes they would satisfy by purchases.

3. The regularization of industry, by which is meant the determination by industry, wherever possible, of the annual production of distribution that is practicable, and its intelligent scheduling for each of the twelve months, or, in general, such advance planning that the work-program of the nation will not be caught napping or face periods of virtual suspension.

4. The long-time planning of private and public construction programs. When things are booming, every construction project that can be postponed should be saved for slack seasons and slow periods. And we might take advantage of the dull times to put through extensive public projects that we shall have to execute sooner or later anyway.

5. The better collection and control of unemployment and labor-need statistics by a nation-wide chain of publicity administered labor exchanges. Until we know accurately, on a nation-wide scale, just how many and where the workers are who need jobs, and just how many and where the jobs are that need workers, our thinking will be muddy and our workers will be misled.

6. The raising of the age-limit at which we now permit children to enter industry. A change of a year or two would mean bread and life and hope to multiplied thousands of jobless adults.

In this formal list Mr. Chase did not include the dismissal wage or unemployment compensation or insurance, although he makes reference to them elsewhere, but these will become less and less necessary as we bring genuine statesmanship to bear upon such suggestions as are in the formal list.

OUR CHILDREN

A DRINK OF WATER

In the warm days children need more water. They drink a lot of it in all weather but they must have more in summer time. Try to see that they get plenty. Especially the baby. Don't be afraid to give him some cool water in his bottle between times. If he is fretful remove all clothing possible, keep him from a direct breeze, and let him have another drink of water.

The children like fruit drinks. Water gets rather uninteresting when you drink glassful after glassful. Lemonade and Orangeade made with cold water that makes frost gather on the pitcher delights the thirsty crowd. And it is good for them.

When the children have picnics they like to take bottled drinks with them. There is charm in drinking from a bottle and lots of fun. Why not? Put in a lot of good pop and make a party of a party when the occasion comes. Only make certain that it is good. Study the label on the bottle. It is not wise to permit children to take drinks at open stands but good bottled beverages are fine on high occasions like birthday treats and picnics.

Teach children with all the emphasis possible that they must never drink from wayside springs. Teach them the danger that lies in drinking water from a source that is impure. They will tell you how clean and sparkling and cool the water is but you will have to tell them that unless they have been assured by some person in whom father and mother have confidence that the water is really pure, they must not drink it.

When children go on a hike or to a woods for lunch, give them water in thermos bottles. Or let them have bottled water. Sweet drinks will not serve the purpose so no matter how much of it they carry along make certain that they carry pure water also. If they get thirsty by the way nobody can keep them from taking a drink of water. This responsibility must be borne by the adults in charge of the children for the danger is too great for any child to face alone. Children do not understand the gravity of the matter. We do.

When arranging to water the thirsty remember the dog and the cat and the bird and every animal within your gates. Summer time is thirsty time for man and beast. Set out pans of clean cool water for all animals that pass your way. Wash the dish and refill it every time the dishes are washed. That makes a routined time and saves forgetting. Animals are so grateful for a cool drink.

Water, much water is needed in the warm weather. If a baby is fretful try a sip of cool water; try sponging him off and powdering him. If a little boy or girl is cross offer him a drink. Take him to the wash basin and cool him in the water. Water, you know, is the essence of life. And it is free.

RAMANOFF EXECUTIONS

On July 16, 1918, the Czar of Russia and his family and their attendants were officially murdered in a house at Ekaterinburg, where they were held prisoners following the Revolution.

The first thought of executing the Romanoffs came when it was rumored that the monarchist groups were plotting to release them. With the growing anger of soldiers and sailors and workers toward the royal family, it was decided to dispose of them at once.

The execution is described as follows by W. Duranty: "The Romanoff family were informed that they must move from the upper to the lower floor. All of them, the ex-Czar Nicholas Alexandrovich, his wife Alexandra Fedorovna, his son Alexei, daughters, Family Physician Botkin, the heirs, male nurse and the governess of the princesses went downstairs . . . where they were directed to stand against the wall.

"Then the house commandant, Avdeev . . . read the death sentence, adding that their hopes of liberation were futile; all must die. The unexpected news shocked the doomed ones, and only the ex-Czar spoke, asking: "Then we won't be taken anywhere?" Revolver shots put an end to the doomed ones. Only four persons were present who carried out the execution. About 1 a. m. the bodies were taken out to the forest . . . where they were burned the next day."
